G.O.P. LEADERS' HOPES REVIVE AS TIDE TURNS

Call Congress Revolt Good Sign.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., April 8.—[Special.]—The Republican party is beginning to show signs of life. With Republican leaders challenging Roosevelt policies and moving for reorganization of their party, the G. O. P. appears to be coming out of that comatose condition to which it was reduced by its disastrous defeat in 1932 and the overshadowing popularity of President Roosevelt in the first year of his administration.

The waning of the President's political honeymoon has brought the Republicans a promise of better days for the opposition party. The public excitement engendered by Dr. Wirt's charges that the Roosevelt brain trust is plotting a communistic revolution gives evidence of a widespread questioning of the more radical aspects of the Roosevelt program.

Congress Reassumes Power.

Congress has ceased to be a Roosevelt rubber stamp. It rejected the St. Lawrence seaway treaty, which the President did his utmost to put across, and it overrode the President's veto of the restoration of veterans' compensation and government pay. It is refusing to accept without material change the stock exchange regulation bill, the reciprocal tariff bill, the sugar quota bill and other measures sent to Capitol Hill by the White House and shows signs of repenting of passage of such bills as the securities act without scrutiny in the panicky days a year ago.

It has found unacceptable more than one administration draft of legislation for returning the carriage of the air mail to commercial aviation concerns and is now maturing a plan of its own. It has manifested such a critical attitude toward the NRA that Gen. Hugh Johnson will advise the President not to seek a renewal of the licensing power which expires in June. The general perceives that it would be dangerous to ask such action and thereby open up the whole NIRA amendment, involving possible repeal of the provision suspending the anti-trust laws.

G. O. P. Voices Growing Stronger.

With such incidents suggesting that the tide is turning, Republican leaders are recovering their powers of speech to a remarkable degree. Those who are speaking out against administration policies testify that they are receiving overwhelming commendation from their constituents. One Republican senator told me today that a few months ago his mail was filled with denunciations of his critical attitude toward the administration, but that he has not received a single "brickbat" for the last month.

There is, to be sure, a good deal of dissatisfaction with the Republican leadership in the house and senate. It is criticised for lack of courage and vigor, and for failure to embrace the economy issue presented by the veto message.

The Republicans voted to override the veto and thereby sacrificed their chance to convict the Democrats of bucking the economy program. Both Republican Leader Charles L. McNary [Ore.] in the senate and Republican Leader B. H. Snell [N. Y.] in the house voted to override the veto. Both McNary and Snell are under suspicion of dealing tenderly with the administration, the former because of the treasury handouts for the Columbia river and the latter because of the St. Lawrence seaway.

Col. Roosevelt Sees Leaders.

Col. Theodore Roosevelt, eldest son of T. R., has been here over the week-end conferring with Republican leaders on plans for party rehabilitation in which he seeks a prominent role. He is believed to have his eye on the chairmanship of the Republican national committee, which Everett Sanders is not unlikely to relinquish in the near future because of ill health. Mr. Sanders is now in a hospital at Pittsburgh.

A good many Republicans are eying Col. Roosevelt's maneuvers a bit warily. Some suspect that he is Mr. Hoover's latest candidate for the chairmanship. They are convinced that Mr. Hoover is trying to get rid of Mr. Sanders. There was evidence that Mr. Hoover looked with favor on the recent unsuccessful effort of former Ambassador Walter Edge to slip into Mr. Sanders' shoes.

If the choice of Col. Roosevelt for the chairmanship were to mean a promotion of Mr. Hoover for a comeback in 1936 the anti-Hooverites would be dead against him.

Mr. Hoover's recent peregrination across half the continent seemed to many Republicans here to have a distinctly political flavor.

Rioters Use Paving Blocks as Weapons.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, April 8.—The growing political tension in France today exploded into violent street fighting both in the capital and at Thionville on the German frontier.

The scene of the fray in Paris was the fashionable Place de Letoile, filled as always towards the end of a Sunday afternoon with peaceful bourgeois taking the air with their families on the tree lined boulevards. Youths belonging to the Fascist organization, French Solidarity, acting as bodyguards for comrades who were selling a propaganda sheet, clashed with a group of young communists hawking one of their newspapers.

Use Stones, Knives and Clubs.

Paving blocks and stones from a street under repair supplied the belligerents with ammunition, although knives and clubs also were brought into play.

Elegantly dressed women dragging children by the hands scurried for shelter as brickbats whistled through the air. They clustered on corners just out of range to watch the battle and in some cases plunged into the fray on one side or the other.

Police reserves quelled the disturbance. Although there were only about 100 active belligerents, the violence of the battle is illustrated by the casualty list—20 youths hurt, 10 seriously.

1,000 Reds Invade Town.

The Thionville affair was on a much bigger scale. Over 1,000 communists marched into the little town from the neighboring iron mining communities for a demonstration against Fascism and the government's deflation program.

After several charges by police and mounted guards mobile, the mob stormed the police station, attempting to free comrades who had been arrested. The outnumbered police inside the station were nearly overwhelmed and only halted the mob by firing several volleys overhead. Then cavalry broke up the crowd with a series of swift charges.

200 Reds Arrested.

Two hundred communists were arrested. Scores were injured.

Yesterday a lively but bloodless clash took place in Place de Clichy between communists and Young Patriots. Communist peasants at Rochefort rioted today.

Meanwhile civil servants who yesterday reacted violently to the government salary slashing decrees still were threatening all sorts of dire things. Nevertheless it is not believed there is any real danger of a general strike, at least until May 1, when communists hope to lead all French proletarians into a revolutionary strike.

The communist daily newspaper Humanite in its Monday morning edition is sounding a call to a violent demonstration in front of the city hall April 20 as a protest against Premier Gaston Doumergue's decrees for balancing the budget. The newspaper calls them "famine decrees."

Called "Revolutionary Movement."

The Humanite appeal, couched in violent terms, has a sinister significance in the midst of public tension and fear of revolution. In Cherbourg and other towns the April 20 meeting is spoken of as a "revolutionary movement." Communists and Socialists will send delegations to the demonstration.

At Lyons 30 rifles and 30 revolvers were mysteriously removed from an arms store today. The burglary was assumed to be the work of the militant party in preparation for trouble.

Pensioned war veterans, who are potentially more dangerous than the communists, will be asked by Premier Doumergue tomorrow to bear their share of the sacrifice involved in balancing the budget and it is believed they will accept.

The hardships imposed by the deflation program has generated considerable sentiment for inflation among all classes of workers, including civil servants. This is clearly shown by the resolution adopted yesterday by the National Congress of Trade Unions, which advocated a program of planned economy similar to President Roosevelt's.

Island Feels Earth Shocks Almost Daily for 3 Months

PLYMOUTH, Montserrat, British West Indies, April 8.—(AP)—Anxiety was growing here at the increasing severity of earth tremors which have shaken this little Caribbean island during the last three months. SLIDE OF ROCKS AT WEST POINT KILLS 2, HURTS 4

West Point, N. Y., April 8.—(AP)—Roaring down the face of Storm King mountain, an avalanche of suddenly loosed rocks smashed three automobiles today, killing two persons and injuring four others.

A huge bowlder struck the car driven by Otto Seilheimer of East Paterson, N. J., killing his wife and son, Otto Jr., 8. Seilheimer and his daughter, 18 months, were taken to Cornwall hospital. They were suffering from minor injuries.

From the wreckage of another car were dragged Mr. and Mrs. Lambert Shacknis of Brooklyn. They were taken to the Cadet hospital at West Point. There Shacknis was found to have suffered a fractured skull. His wife was less seriously hurt.

Another bowlder crashed into the rear seat of a third car, narrowly missing Dr. F. E. Lehman and Miss Agnes Wolf, both of Long Island. A wrecking crew worked hours to dislodge the 500 pound rock.

Fred W. Olthoff of Newark, N. J., a passenger in the Shacknis car, escaped injury.

Search for Match Causes Blast; Woman Is Injured

Mrs. Marie Hoering, 70 years old, 6250 Warwick avenue, was knocked insensible last night by an explosion of gas which accumulated in the kitchen of her home when she turned an oven jet on and then delayed lighting it while she searched for a match. A fire department inhalator squad revived her.

2 U.S. Women Quarrel; Stir London Society

BY JOHN STEELE.

LONDON, April 8.—London's "upper ten" is intrigued about a story of alleged "affront" involving two American born women prominent in English society.

According to this morning's Daily Sketch, Mrs. A. Woolley Hart, who, before marrying the British industrial magnate, was the wife of Count Christian Gunther von Bernstorff, son of the former German ambassador to Washington, is taking legal advice regarding an incident at a recent gathering at a country estate. The other party to the incident is the Baroness Emil de Cartier de Marchienne, wife of the Belgian ambassador to London.

Once Envoy to U. S.

The baroness formerly was Mrs. Hamilton Wilkes Cary of New York. The baron at one time was the Belgian ambassador to Washington.

The party at which the alleged affront occurred was held a few weeks ago. Both Mrs. Hart and the baroness were guests. A mutual friend, also an American by birth, wished to introduce them.

It is understood that what occurred then and the fact that there was a distinguished company present induced Mrs. Hart to consult her attorneys. The likelihood of the matter going further, however, is conditional, among other things, on the question of diplomatic immunity.

Recalls Affront in U. S.

The present difference between Mrs. Hart and the baroness, it is said, is somewhat similar to one which occurred in 1923 while the baron was ambassador to the United States. Then there was much talk that the baroness had affronted Dr. Otto Wiedfeldt, the ambassador of the German republic, at a dinner given by President and Mrs. Coolidge.

The order of diplomatic precedence would have sent them in to dinner together. The baroness objected and asked that some other partner be chosen to escort her into the dining room. After the baroness' objection, Dr. Wiedfeldt escorted the wife of the Japanese ambassador to the table.

HOOVER WEDDING GUEST.

Mrs. Hamilton Wilkes Cary and Baron Emil de Cartier de Marchienne were married July 16, 1919, in Paris. Herbert Hoover and Hugh C. Wallace, American ambassador, were among the guests.

Mrs. A. Wolley Hart was 32 and had been twice divorced in 1917 when she married Count von Bernstorff. Her first husband was James H. Birch Jr., of Burlington, N. J., and her second, Count Walter von Roedick of Berlin. She was the adopted daughter of Edward A. Thompson, one time treasurer of the Philadelphia Fire Insurance company.

FIND DILLINGER CAR IN GARAGE IN MANKATO, MINN.

St. Paul, Minn., April 8.—(AP)—The green automobile in which John Dillinger, outlaw, fled from St. Paul March 31 with another man and a woman, has been found in a garage at Mankato, Minn., it became known here tonight.

The car, it was learned, was brought to the garage by a man said by authorities to have been Tommy Carroll, pal of Dillinger. It had been left with instructions for repainting the wheels, changing hub caps, the name of the car filed off, and the body refinished.

The federal government got a trace of the automobile last week, and since Friday had maintained a guard at the building. The guard was reported to have been withdrawn tonight.

Dillinger and his companions escaped from a St. Paul apartment after a machine gun fight with federal agents. Dillinger was reported to have been wounded in the leg.

Authorities learned Carroll had purchased a light car from a dealer at Mankato. He is believed to have escaped in the new machine.

GIRL, 3, MISSING; COAXED FROM HOME BY YOUTH

Shakespeare avenue police were searching last night for a youth about 18 years old who was reported to have kidnaped Dorwin Zietlow, 3 years old, yesterday afternoon from a yard in which she was playing with an older sister in front of the home of their grandmother, Mrs. Dora Witte, 1972 North Central Park avenue.

The child's sister, Lois, 12 years old, said that the youth seized Dorwin's hand and ordered her to come with him. When the child held back and began to cry the young man coaxed her to accompany him by promising her that he "would find her a nickel," Lois said.

BOY, 4, CHOKES TO DEATH FROM GRAINS OF SAND

Jarus Graham, 4 years old, 1639 Chaucer street, Westchester, choked to death yesterday from grains of sand which lodged in his throat. The boy, a son of Attorney Richard G. Graham, was playing in a sandy lot near his home with two smaller children. All were throwing sand. Suddenly Jarus collapsed. Harold G. Seanes, 10569 Chaucer street, a neighbor, picked up Jarus and took him to his home. A doctor who was summoned removed the youngster to the Zeeland clinic in Maywood. Efforts to remove the gagging particles failed and the boy died soon afterward.

Seven men were injured so seriously they were taken to hospitals and many other men and women were struck by clubs and missils yesterday afternoon when two Armenian factions clashed in the street in front of the West End Women's club at 37 South Ashland avenue.

Fifty policemen were rushed to the scene in response to a riot call. With swinging clubs they leaped among the combatants and thumped a number of heads before the fighters would disperse. Four women and three men were arrested and those injured were taken to the county, the Bridewell, and the Mary Thompson hospitals.

Clash Follows Parade.

The outbreak occurred during a meeting in the auditorium of the West End Women's club of about 1,000 members of the Armenian National club, a religious and political group. They are proponents of a movement to free their native land from the control of soviet Russia, under which it is now a republic, and make it an independent state.

The meeting was interrupted by the arrival of about 200 parading Armenian communists, bitter opponents of the nationalist group. They are stanch adherents of their country's present form of government as a member of the soviet union.

The meeting was quickly adjourned when those in the clubrooms were warned that their opponents were approaching. They hurriedly evacuated the building and as they met their political enemies in the street the fighting started.

Women Join in Fighting.

Stones and bricks which had been left in the streets by city workmen were hurled by both factions. Women were felled as well as men, hair was pulled and fists battered down dozens of assailants. Considerable blood was shed before the two policemen who had been detailed to preserve order at the meeting were reinforced by their comrades.

The two factions of Armenians in this country have been quarreling and engaging in frequent outbursts over a period of more than a year. An outgrowth of their political dispute led to the fatal stabbing of Archbishop Leon Tourian, head of the Armenian church in this country, who was killed in New York on Dec. 15, 1933, as he led a procession up the aisle of his church.

The archbishop was opposed to revolutionary activities against the established soviet government of Armenia. He precipitated a near riot last summer on Armenian day at the World's Fair when he demanded that the old Armenian flag be hauled down and the soviet banner put in its place.

One Skull Fractured.

Of those injured, Robert Maytorie, 28, of 3754 South Ashland avenue, was the most seriously hurt. He was taken to the county hospital suffering from a skull fracture. Moorad Asdourian, 41, of 1856 Wabansia avenue, incurred a possible skull fracture and was taken to the Bridewell hospital. Vahan Nalkrahian, 30, of 1856 Wabansia avenue, was taken to the Bridewell hospital for treatment of lacerations and was then placed in a cell at the Des Plaines street police station.

Four other men were treated at the Mary Thompson hospital and were locked up later at the police station to be held for questioning. They are Gragos Margosian, 31, of 813 North Clark street; Charles J. Kiligian, 34, of 1723 West North avenue; Asad Tarsalian, 39, of Deerfield, and Sam Srabian, 35, of 342 West Chicago avenue.

Dr. A. S. Killian, secretary of the Armenian National club, who presided at the meeting, placed the blame for the fracas on the parading communists, who, he asserted, were the aggressors in the fight. He said the meeting had been called to discuss the political situation in Armenia.

Armenians Riot in Boston.

Boston, Mass., April 8.—(AP)—Rival factions of the Armenian church, each accusing the other of the murder in New York last December of Archbishop Leon Tourian, fought with knives, ice picks, and other weapons on the streets of Boston today. Nine cut and bruised combatants were arrested.

More than 150 police, armed with riot guns and gas bombs, attacked the rioters and thousands of spectators were attracted to the streets surrounding Boston common.

One policeman suffered a badly torn left ear.

The two factions had occupied Boston halls within a stone's throw of each other for simultaneous meetings.

Joker Lights Toy Balloons; Five New Yorkers Injured

New York, April 8.—(AP)—Two dozen balloons exploded in an East Side crowd today, seriously burning three men, Morris Bernheim, 24, a balloon vender, and injuring four other persons. Police said a practical joker probably had touched a lighted cigaret to the balloons.

1,900,000 VOTE IS FORECAST IN STATE PRIMARY

Interest Stirred by New Deal Issue.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Heavy voting in the political primaries tomorrow is predicted by both Democratic and Republican forecasters and by election officials. The average of all the predictions is that in the state 1,900,000 voters will go to the polls, that total being divided about equally between Cook county and downstate.

Persistent cropping up of national questions such as various phases of the New Deal is said to have stirred unusual interest even in the intra-party battles which, except for the election of party committeemen, concern only nominations for the big interparty battle in November.

G. O. P. Strengthens Lines.

The Republicans are tightening up their lines everywhere preparatory to their effort to regain in the fall election some of the ground they lost in 1930 and 1932. They are trying to win back to the fold those members of the party who turned hostile in the primaries and elections of those two years.

In order to do so they have talked quietly but persistently against radicalism and for a return to a closer following of the constitution. Their platforms and their keynoters have spoken quietly of things going on at Washington, but their workers have not hesitated to talk to their neighbors about what they call a turn in the tide of public sentiment.

In this way, to some extent at least, the Democrats have been put on the defensive when it comes to house to house work. There has been, according to reports from several sections, a distinct tendency to lessen the force applied earlier in pleas to uphold Washington in all that it is doing and may do in the future.

Become "Government Conscious."

Last minute reports from throughout the state indicate that the national administration at least is making the average citizen "government conscious." The average man has begun to choose the side on which he will line up in November.

Much more extensive switching of parties is predicted than if the two year rule against it were to be followed universally. Even in Cook county, where the judges and clerks of all 3,655 precincts have been told that the law is in force, there will be much changing from one party to the other.

It is admitted by the authorities that if a voter asks for a specific party ballot by declaring himself a member of that party he will be given the ballot for which he asks unless a challenge is interposed. And even then he may have the desired ballot if he and another householder sign affidavits that he did not vote in the primary of another party within two years, meaning in the primary of April 12, 1932.

The Situation Downstate.

Apparently downstate the barriers against party changes are down nearly everywhere. For example, State's Attorney Edward A. Jones of Lee county gave a formal opinion that changing is permissible. And County Judge William Leech of the same county went the whole distance for liberty of choice.

"As a constitutional right," Judge Leech said, "people can change their party affiliations at any time, irrespective of any law to the contrary. A man or voter has the inherent right to change his politics the same as he has his religion."

In many counties there have been no ruling whatever, but decisions like this and a similar opinion by Attorney General Kerner are expected to have widespread effect among precinct judges and clerks who have no specific instructions on the subject.

Two Democratic leaders have urged downstate counties to follow the Kerner opinion, which is that the two year rule is aimed at primary years and not calendar years and that the 1932 primary voters may change to the other party this year. One of these leaders is Sam Wolfe of Mattoon, who suggested similar action for Coles county and is now prosecutor for the state treasurer's office.

Warns Election Boards.

The other, Jacob M. Alschuler, chairman of the Kane county Democratic central committee, sent letters to all the precinct election boards in the county warning them that "any election officer who refuses a ballot to a qualified voter is subject to a fine of $1,000 even if a change of party is involved."

Estimates of the size of the vote tomorrow vary with the sources from being inclined to lay advanced claim to a large majority of all the electors in the state, but consultation of the records shows that a total vote of 1,900,000 need not be a surprise.

The total vote in the state in the 1928 primaries was 1,715,428. In 1930, an "off year" like the present, it climbed to 1,737,650. In the most recent presidential year, 1932, it jumped to 2,182,018 on the governorship, the presidential race not being involved.

This was not only the peak for the state, but it was the banner year for the Democrats. On the governorship, with a three man contest stirring things, they polled a total vote of 816,773 to the 1,315,248 cast by the Republicans. The Democratic vote was divided between Cook county and downstate by the ratio of 506,817 to 310,743. The corresponding sectional votes in the Republican primary were 584,131 to 788,094.

Two Years Intervene.

There were two full years between the primaries of April 8, 1930, and those of April 12, 1932. The law concerning the changing of parties did not apply and the voters, as demonstrated by the election of Nov. 8, 1932, were opposed to the national administration.

Never before had the Democrats approached such primary figures. In 1930, in the primaries in which James Hamilton Lewis was nominated for United States senator, they polled only 194,346 in Cook county and only 129,966 downstate, giving them a state total of 327,312 compared to a Republican primary total of 1,410,538, of which 772,631 came from Cook county and 637,507 from downstate.

The year 1930 compares more closely with this year than either of the recent presidential years, but in 1930 there were battles for senatorial nominations that do not come this year. However, it has been pointed out that the voting in the primaries of 1928 showed a similar advantage for the Republican party. In that year the Republican state total was 1,467,253 and the Democratic was 245,175. The Republicans cast 793,063 to the Democrats' 138,677 in Cook county. Downstate the Republican figure was 870,256 to the 105,432 recorded for the Democrats.

No Contests in Two Years.

Democratic leaders point out that they had almost no contests in their primaries of 1928 and 1930; but it is pointed out that the same thing is true this year, particularly in reference to state offices and to local offices in Cook county. The Democratic answer is that this year there are county fights in many places downstate and that there are fights almost everywhere over county committee control.

In Cook county there are 1,532,987 registered voters, 1,396,181 in Chicago and 286,816 in the country towns. In the suburbs outside the jurisdiction of the election commissioners unregistered electors are permitted to vote by affidavit and it is predicted that as many as 100,000 may vote that way.

On that basis an estimate of 950,000, or even 1,000,000 for the county, is conservative, according to the experts. The high mark was the total of 1,065,138 cast two years ago.

RE-ELECT PEACE, LOESCH PLEA TO 42D WARD G. O. P.

Frank J. Loesch, president of the Chicago Crime commission, yesterday urged the Republican voters in the 42d ward to reelect Charles E. Peace as Republican ward committeeman at the primary tomorrow. Peace, who has been the committeeman since 1920, has only one opponent, Marvin J. Bas.

"Mr. Peace is well qualified to represent the Republican party in our ward," said Mr. Loesch, "because of his excellent character, his experience as a lawyer and his knowledge of politics, as well as his genuine interest in the people of the ward. I am glad to recommend him as a public spirited citizen worthy of support."

Bas, a young lawyer, has the support of John A. Sbarbaro, former Municipal court judge, and State Representative Joseph E. Farina, who is running for reelection. Bas carried on a "write-in" campaign in the aldermanic election last year against Ald. Dorsey R. Crowe, but received only 337 votes.

BOY, 3, DIES OF BURNS.

Two Venezuelans Duel in Crowded Havana Street

HAVANA, April 8.—(AP)—Two Venezuelans were wounded here tonight in a two man pistol fight in the center of the city. The fight caused a panic among large crowds of theatergoers. Gen. Rafael Simon Urbina was gravely wounded and his opponent, Carlos Aponte, was hurt, but less seriously. Aponte said the shooting was the result of an old political trouble.

GROVE, FROM JAIL CELL, WINS SEAT IN CHILE'S SENATE

SANTIAGO, Chile, April 8.—(AP)—Col. Marmaduke Grove, who has his senatorial election campaign from a jail cell, was indicated tonight as practically assured of victory over his cabinet opposition opponent.

The ministry of the interior announced that all nine districts gave several rural districts had given 26,429 votes to Grove and 21,158 to his opponent. Grove is a Socialist candidate.

Col. Grove was released from jail yesterday on bail. His incarceration was upon charges of a recent conspiracy against the government of which he had been virtually exonerated.

BEGIN DISTRIBUTION OF ELECTION BALLOTS AT 5 THIS MORNING

Last minute preparations were made at the election commissioners' office in the city hall yesterday to distribute 4,151,600 ballots for tomorrow's primary election in Chicago and surrounding towns. Fifty-two motor trucks will line up at 5 o'clock this morning to transport them under guard.

The crew of each truck will include a uniformed policeman, two employes of the election board, a chauffeur, and his helper to prevent any mishap to the cargo.

SHOOTS BOOMER IN QUARREL.

Joseph Wonsovwich, 55 years old, 3122 South Union avenue, was shot four times yesterday by Casimir Lapovics, a roomer in his home, after a quarrel. Wonsovwich was taken to the county hospital where physicians said he had little chance of recovering. Lapovics was held by the Deering street police.

DANDRUFF

A Sure Way to End It.

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once and that is to dissolve it. Then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get some plain, ordinary liquid Arvon from any drug store. It won't cost you more than thirty-five cents (35c). Apply it at night when retiring, using enough to moisten the scalp and rubbing it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

ELECTION JUDGES TO BE FURNISHED CHALLENGE LISTS

Unqualified Voters Will Be Named.

Clerks in the offices of the election board yesterday were preparing lists of voters who do not live at the addresses given in the registration books that will be used at tomorrow's primary election. Their names will be given to the judges of election in the precincts in which they are registered with instructions to challenge their right to vote should they appear at the polling places.

The lists were being prepared as the board continued to investigate 19,605 mailing list checking cards that had been turned over to it by the citizens' committee for honest elections. These cards, according to J. W. Badenoch, committee chairman, had been mailed to registered voters, but had been returned marked "not found," "not there," or "moved to another address."

Say Few Are Misregistered.

Election officials said last night that only a small percentage of the 19,605 cards showed actual misregistration. Most of those named on the cards, they said, either were not registered or their names already had been erased from the poll books.

To substantiate their prediction the officials produced the records of what their investigation showed of cards relating to voters in three precincts. In the 47th precinct of the 13th ward they showed that out of 47 cards submitted only 10 of them bore names of persons who do not live at the addresses given in the poll books. Cards had been sent, they said, to 54 persons, whose names had been previously erased, to one person not registered, and on two of the cards either the names or addresses were wrong.

Out of 87 cards submitted for the 25th precinct of the 20th ward only 17 bore the names of voters who will be challenged. Seven carried wrong names or addresses, three had been mailed to persons not registered, and 50 had been sent to persons whose names had been erased by the board.

Called a "Smoke Screen."

The 78 cards for the 2d precinct of the 1st ward furnished the names of 23 persons who will be challenged. Thirty-six had been mailed to persons whose names had been erased by the board and seven to persons not registered, while seven cards bore wrong names or addresses.

This activity and its results were characterized by Max Murdock, chairman of the public affairs committee of the Union League club, which has cooperated with the Badenoch committee, as a "smoke screen."

"There is no question here whether we are right or wrong," said Mr. Murdock. "All we did was to mail cards to 500,000 persons, whose names and addresses we took from the election board's own printed copies of the registration lists. It is just a smoke screen for them to say that many of the names already had been erased."

John S. Rusch, chief clerk of the election board, said the clerks would be kept working all night so that County Judge Jarecki, head of the election machinery, can have a report some time today on the board's investigation of the cards.

WIRT LEAVES FOR WASHINGTON QUIZ ON "BRAIN TRUST"

Dr. William A. Wirt, Gary educator, left yesterday on the Capitol Limited for Washington, D. C., where he is to appear before a special house investigating committee to explain his recent charges that the "brain trust" is fomenting a revolution in America.

With Dr. Wirt was his wife. A small group of friends saw them off. However, the educator's departure was kept more or less secret. It had been indicated he would not depart before today.

Dr. Wirt's charges were first aired in Washington in a letter read to a house group. In that letter Dr. Wirt asserted that he had been informed that certain of the "brain trusters" were subtly striving for a revolution, of which President Roosevelt thus far was "only the Kerensky." He has amplified his allegations since then. It is expected that Dr. Wirt will be asked by the house committee to give names of those who informed him of the alleged revolutionary intentions of the "brain trust."

Polish Crosses Awarded to Jarecki and Ringley

County Judge Jarecki and James P. Ringley, candidate for the Republican nomination for sheriff, were decorated last night with the Haller Cross Order by Gen. Joseph Haller, former commander-in-chief of the Polish armies. The decorations were presented at a benefit ball in the 132d Infantry armory in recognition of services in behalf of Polish-American veterans of the world war. The proceeds of the ball are to be turned over to Gen. Haller to be used in providing aid for needy veterans who served under him.

LOESCH FAVORS PARK MERGER AS ECONOMY STEP

Urges Citizens to Vote "Yes" Tomorrow.

In the windup of the campaign for consolidation of Chicago's park systems, Frank J. Loesch, veteran civic leader and president of the crime commission, yesterday urged citizens to vote "yes" at the referendum tomorrow on the Chicago Park District act. Loesch declared that the merger would be a step toward economy and better government.

Park consolidation has also been indorsed by Gov. Horner, Mayor Kelly, and numerous civic organizations. Both Democrat and Republican leaders are supporting the plan, which would empower the mayor to appoint five commissioners for the administration of the present 22 separated park districts.

In Interests of Economy.

"The merger is in the interest of public economy, of lessening taxes, of greater efficiency by one governing body, and better control of that one body by the people through keeping informed of its doings," asserted Mr. Loesch.

He declared that any one could see that it is easier to know what is going on in one body than in 22. Mr. Loesch said that one of the outstanding civic problems was the consolidation of Cook county governments.

"The first real progress was made in that direction," Mr. Loesch said, "when the legislature passed a referendum law under which the voters at tomorrow's primary election can vote for the consolidation of all the park boards within the city limits of Chicago.

Greater Home Rule.

"Adoption of the pending act will mean greater home rule for Chicago as the governor now appoints the members of the Lincoln and West Park boards and the judges of the circuit court appoint the South park commissioners, although few of these judges reside in the south park district. Through consolidation the judges will be relieved of that duty and the intriguing politics involved in performing it."

John C. Bowers, chairman of the park consolidation campaign committee, pointed out that the five park commissioners will take the place of 114 now running the systems. He said that out of the 5,382 acres of parks in the city, 602 are divided between 10 park systems supervised by 95 commissioners.

Ward and precinct workers have been urged to tell the voters the advantages of the unification plan.

INDORSEMENTS LISTED BY EDENS IN PRIMARY RACE

William G. Edens, candidate for nomination on the Republican ticket for congressman-at-large, made public last night a long list of personal, group, and organization indorsements.

Former governors, former congressmen, judges, social leaders, railroad union executives and organizations are included in the list.

Among those announced by Mr. Edens as subscribing to his support are former Gov. Frank Lowden, former Gov. Richard Yates, former Gov. Joseph W. Fifer, and former Gov. Louis L. Emmerson, Alexander Whitney, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen; Mrs. Ruth Hanna Sims, former Congressman William E. Hull, former United States Senators Lawrence Y. Sherman and Otis F. Glenn, Justice Frederic R. De Young, the Rev. John Thompson, and Mrs. Bertha Baur.

IDENTIFY BODY TAKEN FROM LAKE.

The body of a man taken from the lake at Center street Friday was identified at the county morgue yesterday as that of Axel Johnson, 55 years old, a laborer, whose address is not known. Johnson had been living in a South State street hotel. He had been missing three weeks.

DEPOSITOR TRAPS BANKER SOUGHT 11 YEARS BY POLICE

New York, April 8.—(Special.)—Eleven years ago Joseph Tarantino lost his savings in the 2 million dollar crash of Tisbo Brothers' private bank, and Vincenzo Tisbo, one of the firm, vanished. Police searched the world to arrest him for grand larceny.

A friend recently gave Tarantino the telephone number of a wine merchant. Today Tarantino called the number—and gasped. That voice nearly floored him, but he managed to order two gallons.

In person Vincenzo Tisbo delivered the order. He paled when he saw his customer, but Tarantino acted the stranger. The smiling victim showed the now calm fugitive his home, his garden, and finally his wine cellar.

Once upstairs, Tarantino yanked up the ladder, clapped down the trapdoor, set two barrels on the door, and telephoned the police.

SENATOR REED MAKES ATTACK ON BRAIN TRUST

Congressional Inquiry to Begin Tomorrow.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., April 8.—[Special.]—One of the leading Republican voices of the senate spoke out today in a devastating blast against the Roosevelt brain trust.

It was the voice of David A. Reed, senator from Pennsylvania, and his indictment charged that "a little band of men in Washington are seeking covertly to change our course as a nation." The senator found the United States headed toward Fascism or communism.

The course of the Roosevelt administration, declared Mr. Reed, is one mortgaging the future of youth and wasting wildly the earnings and the savings of the people. He demanded a return to "common sense and the proven principles of government such as the Republican party has consistently advocated."

Attack Sounds Keynote.

Senator Reed's attack, sounding the keynote of his campaign for reëlection to the senate, and setting the mark, perhaps, for other Republican congressional campaigns, came on the eve of an investigation of the Roosevelt brain trust to be opened Tuesday morning by a select committee of the house of representatives. Sensational charges were made this afternoon by a Republican member of that committee, Representative Harold McGugin [Rep., Kas.], who protested against the plan of his Democratic colleagues to gag their first witness, Dr. William A. Wirt of Gary, Ind.

Mr. McGugin, however, has plans to protest every inch of the way if the Democratic members of the committee invoke their gag rule, and prospects are bright for the staging of one of the most dramatic hearings ever conducted by a congressional committee.

It is known that the administration leaders fear the effects of casting the light of publicity on the brain trust, and it is also freely bandied about Washington that certain leading members of the professoriat are most apprehensive about the inquiry.

Some Express Scorn.

Some of the professors have snorted scornfully over the Wirt charge that they are conspiring toward a communistic revolution in the United States, and they have predicted at capital dinner tables that the Gary schoolmaster will be laughed out of Washington.

Representative McGugin said today that he held no particular brief for Dr. Wirt; that he had never seen the educator and had no idea what his testimony would be. But the Kansan, new leader of the attack on the brain trust and its radicalism, reaffirmed his intention to propose before the committee that such administration stalwarts as Interior Secretary Ickes, NRA Counsel Richberg, Prof. Rexford Guy Tugwell of the department of agriculture, and Prof. Arthur Morgan of the Tennessee Valley authority be summoned to explain, if they can, their utterances and actions which Mr. McGugin has found of radical purport.

Sees Crisis for United States.

Senator Reed, in announcing the policies upon which he is seeking reelection to the senate, declared that seldom in the history of the nation has it been confronted by a crisis so serious.

"It is my duty," Mr. Reed declared, "to continue with all the force at my command to resist those experiments of the present Washington government, which I regard as futile and fantastic.

"In the name of national recovery, the present administration has launched the country on a course which, unless soon checked, may well carry us over that brink of inflation to complete chaos, and which even now mortgages the future of our youth and wastes wildly the slowly accumulated savings and present earnings of all the people.

Accuses "Little Band."

"A little band of men in Washington are seeking covertly to change our course as a nation, to increase the power of the central government, and to substitute for individual initiative a governmental control of all agricultural production and of all business activity. I am against that and I can never support policies which to me seem likely to lead us in that direction.

"There is nothing knew in the present experiments. There have been dragged out, dressed in modern garb and paraded before the people, the skeletons of most of the fallacies and failures of governments of the past. Deluded by promises of magic cures for ancient ills, America is being fed poisons from which it will take decades to recover. The plain people of the nation, the mothers and the children, the farmers and the workers of the towns, will be the chief sufferers from these mistakes.

"In announcing my candidacy for reelection, I call upon the people of Pennsylvania to join me in a stern and sincere protest against the wasteful policies which, carried into effect with no warning, without submission to the people, threaten their happiness and security, and invite disaster for the nation.

"If elected, I will continue, as heretofore, to support the President when I believe him to be right, and to oppose him when I believe him to be wrong. My loyalty and my obligation are to my country and my state, and not to any man or any group. I have sworn to uphold the constitution, not to uphold policies which in my judgment violate the constitution.

"My fight is for the liberties, the justice, the domestic tranquility, the common defense and the general welfare which the constitution guarantees to all Americans."

Opposes Spending Program.

Then enunciating his extraordinary creed for the future, Senator Reed declared:

"I do not believe that we can spend our way to prosperity.

"I am unwilling to see destroyed in four years a civilization which has been centuries in building.

"I am opposed to Fascism as strongly as to communism.

"I believe, that, given liberty of expression and action, and a chance to vote freely and honestly the people can be depended on to find a solution for all of their problems. At all costs they must be told the truth.

"I believe that governments and men who cannot stand criticism are those who need it most.

"I believe that only through deliberate discussion can we come to sound, constructive conclusions."

Points to Nazi Quiz Fund.

Congressman McGugin, in leveling his charge that the Democratic controled house had attempted deliberately to stifle the Wirt charges, pointed out that the house had provided $10,000 for an investigation of Nazi propaganda in the United States, "but only $500 for an inquiry into what is taking place in our own government."

The Kansan criticized the action of the majority of the committee in adopting a resolution last Thursday to limit the scope of Dr. Wirt's examination to his giving the names of government officials with whom he conversed, and the details of the conversations.

"This rule of procedure," declared Mr. McGugin, "denies to Dr. Wirt the courtesy and privilege of making an opening statement. This is denying to him the rights and courtesies which have been granted to every other witness who has ever appeared before a congressional committee.

"A committee really seeking information would permit Dr. Wirt, or any other witness appearing before it to tell what men are doing as well as what they may have told him."

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, April 8.—The United States flag was torn and stamped on in a demonstration in Central park yesterday afternoon by a group of young men led by Nicaraguans because of a report that at the funeral services for Gen. Augusto Sandino American marines insulted the flags of Nicaragua and other Latin-American countries.

Col. Gerardo Guillen Largaespada, Juan Jesus Meza, a student; Rodolfo Leal, Jose Leon Cajina, an Alfredo Fernandez Cuellar, the Nicaraguan leaders, were said to have been taken to Puntarenas today for deportation.

President Ricardo Jimenez, referring to the offense, said Costa Rica had always been ready to show hospitality to all foreigners, but that international conventions compel respect to those nations maintaining friendly relations with Costa Rica. The German consul protested today against the exhibition in show windows of a San Jose store of a caricature of Chancellor Hitler with a defamatory caption.

BLOODY 20TH WARD POLITICAL WORKER SLAIN

Joseph Tierno, 31 years old, 704 South Racine avenue, a 20th ward political worker, was found shot to death early yesterday in the street in the 4800 block of Fifth avenue. There were two bullets in his back and one in his head. The police at first believed the slaying was due to a political feud. Later, however, they found evidence that rivalry over a woman might have been the motive.

Shortly before he was slain, Tierno had been at the Roman café, 612 South Western avenue. He left there with a girl he had met in the place, whose name had not been learned by last night. Apparently he was walking on the sidewalk when shot from behind. He fell into the street.

Worker for Daniel Pintozzi.

In his clothing police found a registration canvass book of the 16th precinct of the 20th ward and indications that Tierno was working for Daniel Pintozzi, Democratic candidate for nomination for state representative from the 17th district.

Pintozzi, a brother of Representative Anthony Pintozzi, who died a year ago, is opposed by Representative Charles Coia and A. J. Prignano, Democratic committeeman of the 20th ward and former alderman. Coia and Prignano are organization candidates while Pintozzi is an independent.

Pintozzi told police there had been trouble over his candidacy, but he denied that he had been threatened with death if he did not withdraw. He said neither he nor any of his workers had received any threats. Tierno had formerly been affiliated with the regular organization, but joined with Pintozzi, the latter said, when the regulars refused to name him as their candidate.

Hotbed of Violence.

The 20th ward, it was recalled, has long been a hotbed of violence in political contests. In 1921, when it was the 19th ward, a contest between the then alderman, John Powers, and Anthony D'Andrea was marked by several murders following the shooting of Paul Labriola, a Powers worker. Later D'Andrea was shot to death.

The rise to political power of Al Capone made this ward a battlefield again a few years later and it came to be known as the "Bloody Twentieth" after Octavius Granady, colored, a Republican candidate for ward committeeman, was shot to death as he was touring the precincts on primary day.

The legislative contest is the only cause of strife there in the present campaign, police said. Ald. William V. Pacelli has no opposition for reelection as Republican ward committeeman and Prignano is unopposed for Democratic committeeman.

Look Elsewhere for Clews.

"Tierno was a laundry wagon driver until recently," said Lieut. Louis Klatzco of the Fillmore street station, who directed the investigation. "He had not been working recently, however, and he attached himself to Pintozzi's campaign. It appears that he was not important politically and for that reason we are looking elsewhere for the solution of the murder."

Tierno was married and the father of two children. His widow said he left home early Saturday evening to go to a store at 628 South Racine avenue, and she knew nothing more of his movements that night. Tony Mingarelli, owner of the Roman café, said Tierno came to his place alone about midnight. A girl came in alone and soon he saw Tierno dancing with her. They left together about 2 o'clock Sunday morning, Mingarelli said. Tierno's body was found several hours later.

Another angle suggested for investigation was based on the fact that about three weeks ago Tierno testified for the state in the cleaning racket case now on trial before Chief Justice Finnegan.

Robert Engle, Republican Candidate, Beaten, Robbed

Robert Engle, 43 years old, 6028 Ellis avenue, a teacher at the Lewis institute and the regular Republican candidate for the nomination for state senator in the 5th senatorial district, was beaten and choked last night by two Negro strong-arm men at South Park way and 58th street. They took several dollars from him. Engle was passing out campaign handbills at the time. He told the police the attack might have been political.

EX-WIFE HELD AS SLAYER OF FORMER MATE

Doubt Woman's Story of Fatal Auto Crash.

Mrs. Ida Michaels, 52 years old, was held without bail on a charge of murder last night in the Du Page county jail at Wheaton. The woman had brought the body of her former husband, Jesse Michaels, 47 years old, a railroad employé of Bensenville, to the Elmhurst hospital Saturday night, saying he had been injured in an automobile accident, but medical examination disclosed that he had been shot in the back.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Arthur A. Bennett of Du Page county took Mrs. Michaels into custody immediately. He and State's Attorney Chauncey Reed questioned the white haired woman for hours, but she protested her innocence.

Owns Small Hotel.

Mrs. Michaels, who also lives in Bensenville and is the proprietor of a small hotel and eating house there, told the authorities that Michaels went for a ride Saturday night in her car. In York road, two miles north of Elmhurst, Mrs. Michaels said, the car skidded on the wet pavement and plunged into a ditch. The door popped open and Michaels was pitched out, according to her story.

Two men came along, according to the woman's story, and helped lift the man into the car and set the machine back on the road. Deputy Bennett, however, obtained evidence that caused him to doubt the woman's story.

Michaels, who had been divorced two years ago, received notice Saturday that he was to appear in the Du Page county Circuit court at Wheaton next Friday on an alimony hearing. He told friends before his fateful ride that he was going to show his former wife some letters.

Reconstructs the Crime.

In reconstructing the crime Deputy Bennett discovered in Mrs. Michaels' car a .32 caliber pistol from which one shot had been fired. Bennett declared that it would have been almost impossible for Michaels to have shot himself, because of the position of the wound. The bullet had penetrated his back on the left side. The chief deputy said, however, that a person driving a car would be able to steer with the left hand and fire a pistol with the right so as to wound a person in the same seat.

The chief deputy and Allan Myers, chief investigator for the Du Page county state's attorney's office, visited the scene of the accident. They said the pavement was dry and that tracks of auto tires led straight into the ditch, without any signs of skidding.

Mrs. Michaels will be arraigned on the murder charge April 17.

M'ELROYS GET NEW THREATS

H. F. McElroy, city manager of Kansas City, and his daughter, Mary, who was kidnaped last year and ransomed for $30,000. Saturday night a bullet was fired into the home, and last night Miss McElroy received a telephone call and the guttural threat, "We never miss the second time."

$39,000 BRINKS CO. THIEF BELIEVED SEIZED IN EAST

A man believed to be Allen R. Hammel, a Brinks Express company guard, who last Dec. 15 walked away with $39,000 from an armored truck which he was supposed to be guarding, was arrested in Philadelphia yesterday.

The suspect gave his name as Bert Armstrong, and denied he was Hammel. He was arrested by Detectives Chambers and McCam while sitting in an expensive automobile at 16th and Market streets. At the time he was wearing thick tortoise shell glasses, which made recognition difficult. He also was carrying $900 in his pockets.

Questioned at the Pine street police station, Armstrong, or Hammel, was evasive in his answers. He said "any hotel" was his address and that he represented a furnishing house. When asked what furnishing house he replied "any furnishing house."

Chicago police were notified of the arrest, and will send detectives to Philadelphia immediately. Hammel, 37 years old, and formerly living at 1242 Hood avenue, was a part time employé of the Brinks company. The theft with which Hammel is charged occurred at Clark and Quincy streets. Hammel is the father of five children.

FARMER KILLED IN AUTO.

Dubuque, Ia., April 8.—[Special.]—James Till, 53 years old, a farmer of Bellevue, was killed Saturday night when his car plunged down a 75 foot embankment near Asbury.

Fire Into Home

Kansas City, Mo., April 8.—(AP)—City Manager H. F. McElroy, into whose home a bullet was fired last night, was warned today "We never miss the second time."

His daughter, Miss Mary McElroy, who was kidnaped last year and held until her father ransomed her for $30,000, heard the threat voiced over the telephone and reported it to McElroy.

"Are you Mary McElroy?" a man asked when she answered the telephone. Given an affirmative answer, the man sternly voiced his threat, then hung up.

Police guarded the McElroy residence in West 57th street until daylight following last night's incident. While McElroy and his daughter were conversing in a sunparlor, a bullet entered through the window of the living room, struck a table in the dining room, and fell to the floor.

ISIDORE KUSEL, INDUSTRIALIST, ENDS OWN LIFE

Official of Forwarding Company Found Dead.

Isidore Julius Kusel, 69 years old, manufacturer and organizer of a number of large commercial enterprises, shot and killed himself with a revolver yesterday in the bedroom of his apartment at 7457 Greenview avenue. His wife, Cora, was in an adjacent bathroom at the time.

Mrs. Kusel told police her husband was despondent over heavy losses incurred in real estate investments. He had been depressed and melancholy for two years, she said, as his fortune dwindled.

Begins Career as Salesman.

Mr. Kusel was born in Chicago and was educated in the public schools here. He began his business career as a traveling salesman for G. H. Thomas & Co., New York, a cotton goods concern. He later organized the Missouri Telephone Manufacturing company and after disposing of his interest in that concern founded the Eureka Electric company, with offices and factory at Genoa, Ill.

In 1906 he organized the American Car Equipment company with headquarters in Chicago and was president and general manager of that firm until 1909. In the spring of that year he founded the General Railway Equipment company.

Organizes Traction Company.

He was also the organizer of Woodstock and Sycamore Traction company and was the president of the Strongheart company. He was last associated with the S. K. Smith company, art lether goods. He obtained many patents on electrical and mechanical devices.

Mr. Kusel was formerly a captain in the Illinois National Guard. He was a member of the Illinois Athletic club. Besides his widow, he is survived by two brothers, Harry Kusel, 1845 Kincaid avenue, and Abe. A son, Sylvan, died in 1916 as the result of injuries incurred in an automobile accident.

Dies from Auto Fumes.

William F. Ulrich, 67 years old, vice president of the International Forwarding company, 431 South Dearborn street, a customs brokerage house, was found dead this morning of carbon monoxide poisoning in the garage in the rear of his home at 4943 North Leavitt street.

When Mr. Ulrich's wife, Amanda, and other members of his family retired at 11:30 last night he still remained up, reading papers. About an hour later a neighbor, noticing a light in the Ulrich garage, telephoned Mrs. Ulrich. When she discovered her husband was not in the house she went out to the garage and found him dead.

He was sitting in the back seat of his car, the motor of which was running and throwing off noxious fumes through the exhaust. Fire department inhalator squad 4 worked two hours to revive the broker, but could not. Police said that Mr. Ulrich had left a farewell note and that he had been in ill health recently.

HINSDALE CHILDREN MOURNING FOR DOGS TAKEN BY THIEVES

Spurred on by tear stained children, Hinsdale police last night were seeking to solve a series of mysterious thefts of valuable dogs in suburban communities in Du Page county west of Western Springs.

In the last two days the gang of dog thieves, increased in boldness, Friday night children in four homes within an area of three blocks were plunged into grief by the theft of their pets. Saturday night the thieves visited three more homes in another part of the suburb.

The dogs stolen on Friday and Saturday are valued at a total of $700. All are pedigreed Scotch terriers, wire haired terriers, and spaniels. In the previous raids the thieves favored dogs of these breeds but occasionally took animals of other strains.

In the Friday night raids the thieves took a cocker spaniel from the home of Drew Ten-Broeck, manager of the Chicago Guernsey farm, of 837 South Lincoln street; a scottie from W. O. Taylor, 32 Washington circle; a terrier from E. P. Everhard, Chicago engineer, 736 South Washington street, and a spaniel from Nelson J. Sanford, 836 South Washington street.

Saturday a scottie was taken from the home of A. P. Lytle, 320 North Washington street, chairman of the Hinsdale police committee. A dog of the same breed was stolen from E. W. Childs, 628 West Maple street, president of S. B. Childs company, Chicago stationers, and a terrier from the childless home of Walter H. Eckert, senior partner of the Chicago law firm of Eckert & Peterson.

DILLINGER JURY FACES CONTEMPT CITATION TODAY

State's Attorney Robert G. Estill of Lake county, Ind., who was preparing to prosecute John Dillinger for murder when the desperado escaped from the Crown Point jail, said yesterday he was undecided what stand he would take in the proceedings today when six grand jurors are to appear to face a citation for contempt of court.

Prosecution of the contempt charge comes under the statutory duties of his office, Mr. Estill explained, but he added that he could delegate an assistant to appear for him inasmuch as he was one of the Lake county officials whose conduct in the Dillinger case was investigated by the jury.

Objects to Language.

The jurors were cited by Circuit Judge William J. Murray because of "scandalous and contemptuous" language in the report they made on Dillinger's jail break. The court took exception to the part of the report which criticized him for not having ordered the transfer of Dillinger to the state penitentiary at Michigan City. Judge Murray holds that the transfer could not legally have been made unless Dillinger's life was in danger.

It was reported in Indiana yesterday that the judge believes the jurors were "unduly influenced." He will seek to determine, it was said, what means were taken to influence them. The jury report declared that State's Attorney Estill was in no way to blame for the escape.

Creatures of the Court.

It was explained that under the Indiana law the grand jurors are "creatures of the court" and answerable to the judge for all their actions and the language of their report. Although grand jury reports have been frequent in Indiana, it was said there is no precedent for citing an entire jury for contempt.

Philip Luts Jr., attorney general of Indiana, has ruled that the jurors were within their rights in making any findings they saw fit. His deputy, Edward J. Lance, is expected to appear today to defend the jurors.

PATERNAL RULE MEANS TYRANNY, JIM REED SAYS

Striking out at paternalism in government, which he termed "despotic," former Senator James A. Reed of Missouri yesterday fired what observers believed was a double barreled attack on Hitlerism and some aspects of the New Deal.

Hitlerism was named specifically. When it was mentioned to Mr. Reed at the conclusion of his address that his remarks also seemed to be a criticism of administration policies, the silver haired "Fighting Jim" said: "Those are my principles. I won't comment on them."

1,000 Delegates Attend.

Former Senator Reed's address drew round after round of applause before the midwestern conference of the Chicago committee for the defense of human rights against Nazism. The meeting was attended by more than 1,000 delegates from 25 middle western cities.

"The most foolish of all animals is the man who because of temporary adversity would tear down the temple of liberty, and out of its ruins erect a citadel of tyranny, in the hope he may therein find refuge," Mr. Reed declared. "Certain it is," he added, "that the citadel will soon become a prison where he will languish in chains."

In ringing tones he reminded the large audience that despotism always paves its way with promises and bounties.

When Liberty Ends.

"There never has been a benevolent despotism," he said. "When liberty ends, slavery begins. No man is free, upon whose brain government can place a shackle. No man is free upon whose tongue government can place a bridle. No man is free who is restrained by government in the choice of his vocation.

"With equal force, let it be said, no man is free who is obliged to rely on government for guidance. And no man is free who is dependent on government for bounty.

"Paternalism in government is only possible when liberty of the individual is limited or annihilated. Paternalism is, of necessity, favoritism, and favoritism to one class can only be accomplished by despoliation of other classes."

Although he drove home the points against Nazi Germany, the former senator drew a larger lesson from the situation which has led to a boycott by the committee and affiliated organizations.

All Despotisms Similar.

"All despotisms have certain attributes in common," he declared. "They rise in a time of adversity. They pretend to have a complete cure for existing evils and misfortunes. The leaders assert their love for the people and their purpose to rescue them from peril. They declare they are moved by the loftiest motives and inspired by the holiest purposes.

"But," said Figting Jim, raising his voice, "they always declare that the ordinary machinery of government is inefficient or corrupt, and that the people are incapable of remedying the wrongs.

"Back of that lies the philosophy that man is incapable of governing himself, or regulating his own conduct, hence that he must be the ward of the government, that he must be protected, cared for, and assisted.

"Such is paternalism, and paternalism, itself despotic, soon discards its amiable pretenses. It becomes a tyranny of cruelty, of plunder, of corruption, and of brutality.

"It matters not," the veteran statesman added, "what names this species of oppression is known by, or the particular mask it wears. Whenever any government goes beyond the protection of fundamental rights and undertakes to control or interfere with the liberties of citizens, it is a government of tyranny. Names count for nothing. The sole question is: Has the hand of power been laid upon the throat of liberty?"

Hears the Goose Step.

Master-in-Chancery Max Korshak, chairman at the morning session, said that today the tramp of the Hitler goose step may be heard in many cities of the United States. This movement seeks to destroy the constitution and to this end is carrying on propaganda of race hatred, he declared.

"The big thing is not Hitlerism in Germany—it is Hitlerism here," was the statement of Dr. Charles Copeland Smith, clergyman and head of the Copeland Smith league. "I think Jews are living in a fool's paradise if they don't know of organizations like the fanatic Silver Shirts."

Dr. Smith listed as most important two points of defense against Nazism. First, he said, Nazi propaganda should be fought with counter-propaganda, including newspapers, pamphlets, and radio broadcasts. Next, he declared, not only Jews, but all persons interested in the preservation of human rights, should be enrolled in support of the boycott of German goods until oppressive Nazi measures are withdrawn.

Other speakers included Congressman Edward A. Kenney of New Jersey, Miss Harriet Vittum, resident head of the Northwestern university settlement and chairman of the women's committee of the anti-Nazi organization, and L. P. Straube, editor of the Federation News. James W. Gerard, former ambassador to Germany, who was also scheduled to speak, was unable to be present.

NAZI CHILDREN STAGE BABY BUGGY PARADE IN STREETS OF BERLIN

BERLIN, April 8.—(AP)—Hundreds of baby carriages, coaster wagons, and other varieties of juvenile rolling stock wheeled through Berlin's thoroughfares today in the first of a series of unique monthly demonstrations honoring the work of the "mother and and child" organization.

Trucks carrying banners bore additional loads of gayly shouting youngsters, recruits of the Nazi cause. It was announced the children of Germany had collected 75,000 marks [approximately $30,000] toward the winter relief fund.

OUSTED PASTOR DEFIES HITLER'S BISHOP IN BERLIN

Germans Pack Church to Hear His Sermon.

DAHLEM, Germany, April 8.—(AP)—Dahlem's Lutheran congregation worshiped quietly today with no sign of the anticipated climax of a dispute over possession of the pulpit in Germany's Protestant church "war."

The Rev. Mr. Scharsenderg, appointed by Reichsbishop Ludwig Mueller to fill the pulpit he had declared vacant, did not appear to claim it.

In defiance of Mueller's order the Rev. Martin Niemoeller, foe of the reichsbishop's program for unifying the German church, preached the sermon. Elders of the church had refused to accept the Rev. Mr. Scharsenderg as pastor when Mueller removed Niemoeller.

Aisles Are Jammed.

That trouble was anticipated was indicated by the early rush for seats in the church, which has a capacity of 1,300. Pews, aisles and stairways were jammed. Two women fainted in the crush. The only sign of Nazi attendance was one uniformed youth.

The text of the sermon was, "For whatsoever is born of God overcometh the world: and this is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith," from the fifth chapter of the first epistle of John.

"People should not speak of Christ as a Jew," he said. "To Christians Christ had no nationality."

Catholic Youths Stage Parade.

SIEMENSSTADT-BERLIN, Germany, April 8.—(AP)—Baldur von Schirach, reich youth leader, along with a number of Catholic youth organizations, bitter enemies of the Nazi youths, marched today in a parade in the interests of the church.

It was considered a gesture of defiance. The procession was escorting the Rev. Nicholas Bares, bishop of Berlin, to corner stone dedication ceremonies for a new Catholic church.

Bishop Bares in his sermon declared the new cornerstone was one of "confidence that God will provide for his flock."

Nazi Minister of Interior Quits Jerusalem for Berlin

JERUSALEM, April 8.—(AP)—Dr. Wilhelm Frick, Nazi minister of the interior for Germany, left for Berlin today after a two day visit to Palestine, the nature of which was not explained. During his stay here Dr. Frick was guarded by specially assigned members of the Palestine police.

AUSTRIA OUTLAWS SOCIALIST UNION OF CHIMNEY SWEEPERS

VIENNA, April 8.—(AP)—The government's new campaign against Socialists was raised to the rooftops in Vienna today when a decree was published outlawing a chimney sweeps' union as a subversive organization.

Police meanwhile were reaching into kitchens and arresting housewives. Three women were jailed in Upper Austria, including the wife of a warder who helped Socialists and Nazis to escape from a jail at Linz. They also arrested the daughter of one Socialist who escaped.

On mail boxes in various sections of the city letters appeared reading: "Workers and comrades, remain united, keep quiet, and be careful. The day of revenge is coming." They were signed "A Fighter."

MAN AND WOMAN ROB GROCER.

Shortly before he closed his store Saturday night, Sam Danca, manager of the Economy grocery at 2745 East 79th street, was confronted by two bandits, a man and a woman, who forced him to surrender $211.

Asks Delay in Barring Workers Crossing Border

FORT ERIE, Ont., April 8.—(AP)—Mayor William J. Hawley sent an official telegram to President Roosevelt today asking him to defer action on the proposal to bar persons commuting from Canada to jobs across the United States border. It was asserted that immigration figures show many Americans would be affected.

INSULL IS DUE TO BEGIN HIS TRIP BACK HOME SOON

U. S. Envoy in Istanbul to Prepare Departure.

BY EUGENE SPECK.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ISTANBUL, April 8.—The long and seemingly endless fight which Samuel Insull, fugitive Chicago utilities magnate, has doggedly fought against standing trial in Chicago on criminal charges has reached its apparent end. Tonight his return to the United States is imminent.

When he is going cannot be learned. But it is soon. Perhaps he will leave tomorrow or Tuesday, according to indications tonight.

The American government has not made up its mind as to which is the best route to take Insull back. Robert P. Skinner, American ambassador, arrived here this morning on a train from Ankara, the capital. He pointed out that between ships and trains, there are a half dozen methods of transporting the fugitive to America, none of which has been definitely picked.

May Take Train to Paris.

The method chosen will determine the time of departure. Insull could be put aboard an American ship in a very short time. He also can be rushed to Paris aboard the Simplon-Orient express tomorrow night and arrive there on Thursday in time to catch a boat train for Cherbourg to board the steamer Manhattan.

Or else, he could be stowed into the little American export line freighter, Executive, which is passing through the straits from the Black sea on Tuesday. This would eliminate any border formalities, but the difficulty is that the Executive is not planning to tie up at Istanbul since there is no cargo here.

However, Ambassador Skinner flatly refused to rule out either of these possibilities. He said that Insull's departure tomorrow is unlikely, but would not say it is impossible. He admitted that the steamer Executive is being considered to carry Insull back to the United States.

Convinced He Must Leave.

Of one thing, however, Ambassador Skinner is outspokenly convinced. That is that Insull will return to the ruins of his former empire.

"I firmly believe that the action of the Turkish government is final," Skinner said. "That attitude of the Turkish government throughout has been one of helpful understanding. I believe the order will stand. I do not think Insull has a chance, no matter what appeal he makes."

Only the mechanics of Insull's transportation, therefore, seem to remain. Ambassador Skinner hedged when he was asked to confirm the appointment of Burton Y. Berry, third secretary of the embassy, as the agent designated to take the former utilities king into American custody.

Insull's attorneys still believe they will win Insull's liberation.

"We haven't played our last trump yet," Attorney Essat Bey declared today. "This isn't going to finish as smoothly as it appears. There is plenty we can do yet."

Essat revealed that an appeal against the third correctional court's decision a week ago that Insull is extraditable has been filed with a higher tribunal. He refused to reveal the grounds, but declared that the appeal is made up of eleven closely written pages.

Meanwhile, Insull's optimism survives. He struck up a friendship with his valet, a fellow prisoner by the name of Hassan Effendi, with whom he converses by gestures. Tarzan Bey, another prisoner who acts as his interpreter, reads every newspaper thoroughly. When he comes to what Insull believes to be an exaggeration or an untruth the fugitive throws up his hands and cries: "Allah, Allah."

AWAIT INSULL'S ARRIVAL BEFORE NAMING LAWYER

Attorney Floyd E. Thompson, attorney for Samuel Insull Jr., said last night that no action had been taken here toward selecting counsel to defend Samuel Insull Sr., when he is extradited from Turkey for trial here. Mr. Thompson said that probably no attorneys would be chosen until the arrival of Insull in Chicago.

Insull Jr. has discussed the subject with him, Mr. Thompson said, and the attorney explained that he thought the son ought to have a defense separate from the father. Insull Jr., is indicted in the federal court on the same charge as his father, using the mail to defraud.

120 ARE KILLED IN REVOLT OF BOLIVIAN CADETS

Leaders of Rebellion Face Firing Squads.

LIMA, Peru, April 8.—(AP)—A dispatch today to the newspaper El Comercio from Puno, Peruvian port on Lake Titicaca, near the Bolivian boundary, said 120 persons were killed and several hundred wounded in a revolt of military cadets at La Paz, capital of Bolivia, last Thursday.

[Dispatches from La Paz last week said two women, caught in cross-fire on a street, were the only victims of the disorder.]

The revolt was suppressed, El Comercio's article said court martials speedily condemned several leaders of the rebellion and they were executed a few hours later.

"Confirming the Bolivian revolt," the Puno correspondent said, "it was learned here, despite strict censorship, that at dawn Thursday military school cadets attacked and seized police barracks, also the army's headquarters, helped by recruits.

"The actual fight started at 11 a. m. Thursday when carabineers attacked the rebels, resulting in 120 killed and several hundred wounded. Gen. Lanza intervened and the rebels surrendered at noon.

"Revolt leaders were court martialed immediately, were sentenced to capital punishment and were executed by firing squads at 2 p. m.

"It was learned that popular discontent on account of the failure of the Chaco campaign [war with Paraguay], quarrels among political parties and deportations, as well as commercial and economic pauperism, originated the revolt.

"It was also reported that the government ordered several revolutionaries into exile and the death penalty for others."

MARY GARDEN CALLS INSULL A "DESTROYER"

PARIS, April 8.—(AP)—Mary Garden today called Samuel Insull a "destroyer" and charged him with wrecking the Chicago Civic Opera.

"I am afraid he abhorred my work," the singer said, "because it is too modern. He hated anything modern."

Miss Garden said the Chicago Civic Opera was "not only the finest in America, but the finest in the world" when Insull took it over, but he "knew nothing about music."

"He was a great destroyer," she continued. "He wrecked the Chicago opera. I know many that people lost all or most of their money through him."

Inventor Is Found Shot to Death in Hotel Room

Bryan Dewes Pinkney, 50 years old, 3629 Southport avenue, a mechanical engineer and inventor, was found dead, a bullet wound in his temple, in his room on the seventh floor of the Atlantic hotel last night. A revolver lay at his feet, and police believe that he committed suicide. Pinkney had registered Saturday under his real name, but gave his address as Smithfield, N. J. Relatives said he had been employed recently in Cincinnati.

ONLY $18,000 TAX COLLECTIONS ON BALMY SUNDAY

Approximately $18,000 was collected in taxes yesterday at the county treasurer's office, which was open from 8 a. m. to 4 p. m. About 350 taxpayers availed themselves of the Sunday hours. County Treasurer McDonough attributed the meager crowd to the balmy weather, remarking that "people just don't care to think about public affairs on a bright spring Sunday." He said his office would remain open all day tomorrow, primary election day.

CHAOS IN MILK INDUSTRY LAID TO NEW DEALERS

Roy M. Pike Assails Group of Experimentalists.

A charge that the "new dealers" in Washington are more interested in overturning the social and industrial structure of the nation than in national recovery was made here last night by Roy M. Pike, chairman of the cooperative dairy defense committee.

After delivering an attack against "the brain trusters who want to Russianize us" Pike boarded the Overland Limited last night for his El Solyo ranch near Oakland, Cal. He concluded two days of conferences with dairymen in Chicago on national aspects of the milk situation. Pike said he would return to Washington in ten days to resume the struggle to keep the professors from running the milk industry.

Blames Wallace's Advisers.

"In general the theory of the agricultural adjustment act is sound," said Pike, "but it is being maladministered by a small group which surrounds Secretary of Agriculture Wallace and insulates him from actualities. Impractical experimentalists are matching their judgment against all the men trained in business."

Turning to the mixup between the AAA and the dairy business, Pike declared the original milk marketing agreement would have worked but for the "pusillanimous nonenforcement apparently sponsored by the brain trusters."

The marketing agreement, he recalled, fixed the prices paid to the producer and also the resale prices of milk. Pike blamed Jerome Frank, general counsel for the AAA, for not taking the issue to the courts. He said it was the dairymen themselves who pushed the case until finally on March 5 of this year the United States Supreme court upheld the principle of fixing resale prices.

"Sound" Agreement Abrogated.

"Frank and his aids, who know nothing about agriculture or the milk business," asserted Pike, "are continuing to deceive Wallace and the President in the further administration of the AAA. They abrogated the sound milk marketing agreement which could have been enforced and put into effect licenses which were presumed to help the producer, but which will ultimately destroy every sound, efficient small distributor of fluid milk."

The milk industry in the Chicago area, said Pike, accepted the milk license in desperation and is learning what havoc it creates.

Fears for Profit System.

The license provides for a set price to producers, but fixes no price on the retail sale of milk, a direct cause of the milk price war on in Chicago.

Under the original milk marketing agreement, Pike declared, policies were to be determined locally to meet local conditions and the federal government stepped in only for enforcement when infractions were reported to it.

What the brain trusters will bring about if allowed to go unhampered, Pike said, will be the elimination of the profit system, which, he said, Frank had flippantly dismissed as one of "our current folk-ways."

Found Dead in Alley; Identified by Lawyer

Frank Stein, 55 years old, said by police to be a casual, was found dead early yesterday in an alley behind 230 North Franklin street. Attorney Milton Shapiro, 105 West Madison street, whose business card was found in Stein's pocket, identified the man. He said Stein had engaged him to sue Max Popiel, 1851 North Ogden avenue, whose trunk allegedly struck his client about two months ago. Attorney Shapiro and the police began a search for Stein's relatives.

MILLION SAVED ON 8 SANITARY DISTRICT JOBS

All Contracts Are Under PWA Estimates.

The sanitary district has effected savings of approximately $1,100,000 under government estimates on the first eight contracts awarded on public works administration construction projects, according to an announcement yesterday by H. P. Ramey, district assistant engineer.

Whether the savings will reduce the total of loans from the government or will be applied to additional construction work will not be known until all pending contracts are let. The district engineers anticipate further important savings when twenty-four contracts remaining in a program drafted on a $40,000,000 federal loan are awarded.

$4,200 Get Jobs.

More than 4,200 men have been given work directly or indirectly by seven PWA projects now under way, Mr. Ramey said. Of this number 2,100 are directly employed. The district board is attempting to speed up the letting of contracts as rapidly as possible in order to provide work for 16,000 men contemplated under the federal grant, the engineer explained.

The beginning of work on west side sewer, section 6, a $1,125,000 project providing jobs for 600 men, was delayed when Nash Brothers withdrew their low bid after Secretary of the Interior Ickes frowned on letting jobs to firms with which politicians are associated. Patrick Nash, Democratic national committeeman, is a member of Nash Brothers company.

Rapid Progress Being Made.

However, Mr. Ramey pointed out, a decision of the sanitary board at a special meeting to readvertise for bids means that the job will get under way quickly. It is expected that new bids will be close to the Nash figures, meaning another $150,000 saving under the government estimates.

Rapid progress is being made on construction started at the first of the year, Mr. Ramey said. Work on the pump and blower house in the Calumet area, division C, is well under way, but nine more months will be required for completion.

NOSEGAY HOLDER OF 1865 SCORES AT GARDEN SHOW

Heirloom Wins Second Place in Display.

Back in 1865 a belle of Pike county, Ill., flourished the dainty nosegay holder which won second place yesterday in the personal adornment group at the eighth annual spring garden and flower show of the Garden club of Illinois at Navy Pier.

The heirloom is the property of Mrs. Arthur J. Lindsay of the Kenilworth Home and Garden club. Attached to the metal nosegay holder is a silver ring and chain which was used while dancing.

Fashions in flowers have been attracting a majority of feminine visitors to the personal adornment display since the show opened Saturday. Of chief interest was the lei of yellow roses and wreath for the hair of the same flowers, which won first prize for the Home and Garden club of Edison Park. A large spread fan of baby's breath arranged by the Joliet Floral and Garden club was awarded third place.

Shadow Box Winners.

Shading in tints from orchid to deep violet were the contents of the shadow box winning first place for the Kenilworth Garden club. The Riverside Garden club's box won second, and third place was awarded the contribution of the Elmhurst Garden club. In the plant stand division second prize, the only one awarded, went to the La Grange Garden club. Prizes in the potted plant division were given to the Garden club of Evanston, first; the Lincolnwood Garden club of Evanston second, and the Glencoe Garden club, Skokie chapter, third.

The Riverside Garden club took first place in window arrangements, the Lake Bluff Garden club second, and the Freeport Garden club third.

An object of much attention was the white rough plaster house with a flagstone dotted yard of the Flossmoor Garden club, which won first place in the small house division. Second place was won by the Thimbles and Thumbs Garden club, and third by the Hinsdale Garden club.

Dinner Table Exhibit.

A triumph in shining cutlery and tasteful arrangement, the dinner table exhibited by the Waukegan Garden club, Douglas chapter, took first place in that class. Second went to the Park Ridge Garden club, and third to the North Shore Garden club. The Decatur Garden club's crystal wedding table was first in its class, and the garden department of the Beverly Hills Woman's club second.

ACT TO RESTORE AIR MAIL UNTIL FRAUD BE PROVED

Washington, D. C., April 8.—[Special.]—An amendment to the air mail act, compelling the restoration of the canceled contracts to private operators until fraud, if any, be proved, will be introduced in the senate tomorrow jointly by Senators Warran R. Austin [Rep., Vt.], James J. Davis [Rep., Pa.], and W. Warren Barbour [Rep., N. J.].

The amendment also fixes future compensation for the carrying of the mails at two mills per pound mile plus a subsidy frankly provided for the purpose of creating financial inducement and incentive to private operators to develop aeronautical industry through competition, according to an announcement by the three senators.

"The amendment attempts to assure the future status of the air mail operators and remove uncertainty and insecurity in order to encourage long time planning," a statement read. "It is beyond question that commercial aviation is vital to our national security and already has become an essential service for the business of our country."

The air mail industry is in danger, Senator Austin declared, of being set back to the chaotic conditions of five years ago unless the amendment is adopted.

Greek Orthodox Churches Celebrate Their Easter

Greek orthodox churches in Chicago and throughout the world celebrated their Easter yesterday. Solemn rites and feasting culminated a seven day fast. Traditionally, in many communities whole lambs were roasted over beds of charcoal. Bread baked in the shape of acorns, small loaves shaped like lambs, and scarlet hard eggs were other fete day foods consumed.

THREATENS 10 IN RESTAURANT.

Police yesterday were searching for two gunmen who invaded the Steinway delicatessen store, 2035 Irving Park boulevard, Saturday night and escaped with $161 which they took from two cash drawers after threatening ten customers and several clerks.

"—A MOTORIST NEEDS TO WATCH HIS NERVES, TOO, MR. TILDEN"

W. E. Richards, Jr. of Lansford, Pa., who rode nearly 20,000 miles in his car last year, says:

"I'm a real tennis fan, Mr. Tilden, and I know it takes healthy nerves to play championship tennis year after year. But don't forget, it takes healthy nerves to drive a car, too. Trying to see your way in blinding fog or rain . . . skids . . . other drivers taking quick, unexpected turns—all are enough to give any man 'traffic jitters'! And yet driving never bothers me a bit. Smoke? I'll say I do. Morning, noon, and night. But I stick to Camels because then I know I can forget all about nerves. And Camels sure taste great!"

William T. Tilden, II, seven times world tennis champion and winner of countless other titles, says:

"Tournament play in tennis imposes a terrific strain upon the nervous system. Healthy nerves are essential if a player is going to be successful in maintaining his speed, endurance, and the psychology of victory. As a steady smoker, I find that cigarettes vary a lot in their effect upon the nerves. I have tried all the other popular brands, but for years I have smoked Camels. Because of their extraordinary mildness I know that I can smoke Camels as freely as I wish and still have healthy nerves."

How Are YOUR Nerves?

Jittery nerves are everywhere in modern life. You know them by such signs as these—foot-tapping, key-rattling, nail-biting—frowning and worrying.

If your nerves are not all they should be, study your habits that might affect them—your eating, your sleeping, your recreations. And get a fresh slant on your smoking by starting on Camels.

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS than any other popular brand.

Camels never get on your nerves. You can smoke one after another . . . with increasing enjoyment. Camels are so mild, so delicate—packed with the pleasure of finer, costlier tobaccos! The more you smoke them the more you'll like them.

ATTORNEY AND WOMAN KILLED AS AUTOS CRASH

Two Others Are Injured on Indiana Road.

Miss Esther Hershman, 25 years old, of Crown Point, daughter of County Attorney George Hershman of Lake county, Ind., and Herman Rosenthal, 25, a lawyer employed in Mr. Hershman's office, were killed last night in a head-on collision between two cars in state road No. 53, five miles north of Crown Point. Mr. Hershman is a state Democratic leader.

Rosenthal was the driver of one of the cars, which contained three other persons besides Miss Hershman and himself. The second automobile was driven by Benjamin Lynch of Lowell, Ind. Mrs. Lynch was with him. Miss Hershman was killed instantly. Rosenthal died a few minutes later. The others in his automobile were merely bruised. Mr. and Mrs. Lynch were seriously hurt and were taken to the Methodist hospital in Gary.

Blames Lights for Crash.

Mrs. Charlotte Testard, 34 years old, 922 West 47th street, a divorcee, was recovering last night in the Ingalls Memorial hospital, Harvey, from injuries suffered early yesterday morning when her automobile rolled into a ditch in Brennan avenue, two miles west of Midlothian, and caused the death of her companion, Victor J. Kaminski, 35, village president of Posen.

Mrs. Testard told police that the accident occurred because the headlights on her car suddenly went out and she lost sight of the road.

Toll Reaches 329.

Four deaths yesterday, in addition to that of Kaminski, increased the county motor toll for the year to 329. The victims:

Capt. Frank Smith, 60 years old, a Spanish-American war veteran. Died in the Community hospital, Palatine, from injuries suffered Friday when he was struck by a car near his home just outside Palatine.

Mrs. Martha Koch, 75 years old, 2458 North Springfield avenue. Died in the Garfield Park hospital. She was hurt March 9 when an automobile in which she was riding hit a pole at Maplewood and Fullerton avenues.

Elwood Felkes, 49 years old, a Negro, of 4915 Wabash avenue. Fatally injured yesterday when his automobile collided with a truck at 161st and Halsted streets, Harvey.

Angelo Molony, 20 years old, 2208 South Campbell avenue. Died in the Michael Reese hospital after the automobile in which he was a passenger was struck by another car at 31st street and South Park avenue.

RELIEF SHIPS ARE SENT TO TOWN WRECKEDBYWAVE

OSLO, Norway, April 8.—(AP)—Relief ships were sent today from Aalesund to the little town of Tafjord, where at least fifty persons were killed and a number of others still were missing after yesterday's great fall of rocks, which caused waves from the sea to engulf the town. A ship is the only kind of conveyance able to reach Tafjord.

No further falls of rock were expected, but it was believed that most of the terror stricken survivors will desert the locality which was turned into a death trap by rushing waters. It was learned today that old inhabitants had predicted years ago the cliff would some day fall into the sea, bringing disaster.

The main inlet from the coast in the vicinity of Aalesund is through the Storefjord, meaning "great fjord." Many smaller fjord arms, however, extend north and south leading to Tafjord. The town is the site of a large electric plant.

CITY BUS LINES GIVE REASON FOR DEFYING THE NRA

Hold Board Disagrees on Justice of Rules.

Officials of the Chicago Motor Coach company declared in a statement issued last night that the reason they refused to appear before the Chicago regional labor board to answer charges that the company had violated the NRA was because the members of the board itself disagreed in the fairness of its own rules in labor cases.

The statement, which was signed by John J. Ritchie, president of the motor coach company, was made shortly after Roy C. Jacobsen, executive secretary of the local labor board, announced that the findings of the board against the company would probably be dispatched to Washington, D. C., today.

Workers Back Company.

The board last Thursday found that the company had violated the recovery act. On Friday the members of the company union, the Chicago Motor Coach fraternity, whose membership comprises 90 per cent of the employes of the company, asked officials of the coach concern to withdraw from the NRA and return the fare hikes.

In last night's statement it was pointed out that on March 18 the industrial members of the regional labor board sent a telegram to President Roosevelt, stating that "it is our experience and observation that the national labor board has recently built up a body of rules and regulations operating in the interest of labor unions and the closed shop and tending toward the complete unionization of labor."

"With this obvious difference of opinion among members of the board as to the fairness and justice of the rules and regulations under which it must function," the officials' statement ended, "how can any business and intelligent management be expected to submit to a case of flagrantly trumped up charges by paid professional labor organizers?"

Says Union Organizers.

"For the past year outside unions have been trying to force employes of the company to join their organizations and submit to professional union dictation, notwithstanding the fact that our employes have clearly indicated that they want nothing to do with them. And this in the face of the fact that our employes have a fraternity of their own, operated solely by themselves in which they have been contented and prosperous for [illegible] years, since the day of reorganization."

Mr. Ritchie asserted that as a result of collective bargaining between the company and the fraternity, the 1926 schedule of wages was restored last October.

Such Feminine Interest Makes SALES SUCCESS CERTAIN!

● Pretty nearly everything you can think of is bought either directly by women, or indirectly, because of feminine influence. For that reason, The Detroit Free Press actively and spectacularly cultivates the woman buyer in Detroit, setting up for the advertiser a literal "extension course" in reader interest and pulling power.

No other Detroit newspaper (or for that matter, any other newspaper in America, we believe) is doing quite so much to interest and sincerely serve the women of the community, as The Detroit Free Press. And few newspapers have been so richly rewarded by the steadfast friendship and good will of the housewives and business women of the city.

Within a comparatively short period of time, the development of the Women's Pages of the Free Press, and the activities of its Women's Service Bureau, have grown to a point where they are recognized nationally as outstanding achievements in newspaper activities. They have so challenged the attention of the newspaper world as to elicit inquiries and personal study and inspection by major market newspapers.

This work has resulted in marked increases in circulation . . . in the tremendous encore of more than a half million inquiries from the women of Detroit in 1933 . . . in advertising returns that are eminently satisfactory.

Today the Free Press not only provides the coverage of buying power good advertising needs, but it has the page-punch and the column-confidence among the women purchasing agents of thousands of the best homes in this area, that makes sales success certain, pleasing and highly profitable.

SPENDING BY U. S. OVER 3 BILLIONS UNDER ESTIMATE

But Peace Time Record Is Considered Sure.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., April 8.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt's giant 10¼ billion dollars "recovery budget," which embodied his plans for inflating purchasing power with federal easy money, today appeared destined to give way to a less sweeping program involving government expenditures of only about 7 billion dollars this fiscal year.

Pouring out cash as rapidly as they can, government agencies, at their present rate, will fall 3½ billion dollars short of the expenditures goal which President Roosevelt set for the 1934 fiscal year, reports made public by the treasury department indicate.

Less Demand for Help.

Part of the shrinkage in government expenditures is due to quickening business and a lessening demand for federal easy money help, while another cause for the failure to come up to budget estimates is the lag, which is as yet unbroken, in certain types of spending, notably public works.

Instead of total expenses aggregating 10½ billion dollars the government's outlays, if they continue at the present pace, will aggregate only about 7 billion dollars when the fiscal year closes on June 30, the treasury figures show. Instead of a 7 billion 309 million dollar deficit, as the President predicted, the treasury seems headed for a deficit of only about 3 billion 900 million dollars.

Largest Peace Deficit Seen.

Despite their failure to live up to the President's estimates, government expenditures will set a new peace time record if they reach 7 billion dollars. A deficit of 3 billion 900 million dollars also would be the largest treasury deficit since the war years.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. has virtually conceded the government's inability to pour out into trade channels all of the billions which President Roosevelt called for to lead the fight against the depression. The treasury, Secretary Morgenthau indicates, is now concentrating on a two year rather than a one year spending program, throwing the bulk of the spending over into the new fiscal year which begins July 1.

Daily expenditures by the government in this fiscal year have averaged about 18 million dollars. To have lived up to President Roosevelt's spending program after he announced it early in January would have meant that the government pour out almost 43 million dollars a day.

Figures on Expenditures.

Receipts as well as expenditures seem to be lagging somewhat behind the President's estimates, but the lag in revenues thus far is minor. A comparison of the budget totals set forth by President Roosevelt for the fiscal year with the totals which the year now seems destined to bring forth follows:

	President's estimate.	Probable totals.
Expenditures	$10,569,000,000	$7,000,000,000
Receipts	3,260,000,000	3,100,000,000
Deficits	7,309,000,000	3,900,000,000

President Roosevelt and Secretary Morgenthau, however, may have one joker with which they could upset this whole budget picture. It is the 2 billion 810 million dollars derived by the government from devaluation of the dollar and revaluation of all gold stocks.

Secretary Morgenthau is now carrying this sum on the treasury books in the semi-isolated "trust funds." Resting there it does not count in the treasury's daily budget picture at all. Two billion dollars of it is theoretically for a stabilization fund, but since the whole amount has been left untouched, it might be thrown in at any day on either the expense or revenue side of the ledger, swelling the costs or the receipts.

Expect Summer Pickup.

Another factor which may change this budget picture is the long awaited and predicted summer pick up in spending as the drive to inflate purchase power through the huge 3 billion 300 million dollar public works fund gets into full swing. New Dealers have long been predicting a rush of PWA funds into the pay envelopes and trade channels of the country.

Bomb Hurts Boy and Girl as Spanish Strike Continues

SARAGOSSA, Spain, April 8.—(AP)—A huge bomb exploded here today, injuring a boy and a girl. The general strike continued with taxicabs and street cars not operating, although theaters were open because employes had decided to resume work.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farm

By Bob Becker

Geldings Get Lessons

April 8, 1934.

Life is becoming extremely complicated for Barney and Billy, the two young geldings here on the farm. In the first place, within the week their names have been changed. Barney used to answer to the name of Charley and Billy formerly was called Jimmy.

This name changing business was enough to upset any young gelding trying to learn what farm work meant. But on top of that Charley Bleezer and Herman Guenther started to put these animals through their lessons on how to behave with a horse collar around their necks, how not to buck when the harness is laid on their backs, etc.

Billy put on quite a show when he first was decorated with a horse collar. When it was slipped over his neck he didn't know what it was. And he didn't like it, either. He decided that it might be practical to jump away or through the collar, but all his bucking and jumping did no good, so he gave up that strategy, which was amusing to watch.

The harness slapped on his back was even worse. Billy hunched up his back and attempted to buck the leather contraption into the air and far away. It was a crushing blow to Billy's pride when all the leather stayed right with him and the higher he jumped the harder the harness slapped him.

After these elementary lessons in breaking the colt Guenther brought out old Charley, a sedate old work horse. Charley was hitched up with Billy as a sort of instructor for the latter's first trial in harness. This workout was well worth an admission price because Billy tried to go three ways at once, thinking he could get rid of all the leather on him. When he stopped in his tracks and tried to push over against Charley, the latter just reached over and nipped his youthful harness mate. That put an end to Billy's monkeyshines. Then he put back his ears and started to run. Guenther had an 80 acre field for this gallop and before he drove the horses back to the barn poor old Charley, unused to this racing speed, was nearly all in. Thus ended Billy's first lesson in how to behave in harness. He has several more coming right away.

The boys are still working on fences and cleaning up around the barns while waiting for weather which will permit the first plowing of the year. Another job is the cleaning up of the little headquarters office, where future visitors to the experimental farm will be taken care of. Clarence Thurow, manager of the farm, is having a new floor put in the building. When it is completed visitors can call here for information and see displays of the experimental crops. An announcement will be made just as soon as this building is completed and arrangements for handling visitors have been worked out.

The farm has received 50 pounds of hemp seed from Banks Hudson of Danville, Ky., who is desirous of seeing how a planting will come out at the farm this summer.

PET CHIMPANZEE TO HELP MASTER GIVE A LECTURE

Meshie, five year old chimpanzee, will accompany her master, Harry C. Raven, associate curator of the American Museum of Natural History, tomorrow evening when he will address the Chicago branch of the National Geographic society, and will in turn do some entertaining of her own.

Raven, who arrived in Chicago recently from New York, adopted the baby during an African expedition in 1929. He will speak on the expedition, during which he collected gorillas.

"Meshie, meaning 'little chimp,' is the pet name given to chimpanzees by Cameroun tribes of west Africa," Raven explained. "Although she still has some of her baby teeth, Meshie, weighing 60 pounds, is stronger than the average man. I don't like to consider her a trained chimpanzee. She has just been allowed to develop in a human environment."

Meshie, however, violated all rules of feminine etiquet at a University club luncheon Saturday, when she invaded the sanctum of the men's rest room to wash her hands before sitting down to eat.

A Gull with Broken Wing Seeks Shelter in Evanston

MEAT MARKET IS ROBBED.

Menacing two clerks and the manager with revolvers, two roughly dressed young robbers entered the Leader Meat market, 5830 West Roosevelt road, Saturday night and obtained $7.6 from a cash register.

AUTO LABOR BODY TOILS VAINLY ON 3 STRIKE ISSUES

Holds Informal Parleys in Detroit.

Detroit, Mich., April 8.—(AP)—Faced with two strikes and a definite threat of another next Thursday, members of the National Automobile Labor board held conferences, but no formal session today, in an effort to bring peace in the automotive industry.

No definite report of progress came from Dr. Leo Wolman, chairman of the board.

Employes of the Motor Products corporation, where an estimated 1,000 men struck last week forcing a suspension of work by 4,600 other workers, considered an offer of settlement made by the employers in a closed meeting, but unofficial reports that came from that meeting were not optimistic.

Busy on Nash Dispute.

Dr. Wolman and his fellow board members, Nicholas Kelley, representing the automobile manufacturers, and Richard L. Byrd, representing labor, continued their efforts to settle a strike in the Nash Motors company plants in Kenosha and Racine, and in the affiliated Seaman Body company in Milwaukee.

Matthew J. Smith, general secretary of the Mechanics' Educational Society of America, an organization of tool and die makers, announced that he would meet Wednesday with representatives of 40 Detroit toy manufacturers in an effort to avert a strike that has been voted to start Thursday.

Walkout Put Off.

The tool and die makers, who are not affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, voted yesterday to strike at midnight Thursday if no agreement was reached on demands for a 20 per cent wage increase. About the only cheer for the labor board in this situation lay in the fact that the threatened strike, first scheduled for Monday, had been deferred until Thursday, giving three more days for mediation efforts.

Cleveland Issue Deadlocked.

Washington, D. C., April 8.—(AP)—Efforts of the national labor board to arbitrate the Cleveland worsted mills strike failed today with the company and the United Textile Workers of America hopelessly at odds over a date for an election of employe representatives.

ROB AUTO OF MERCHANDISE.

O. M. Ausell, 6165 Winthrop avenue, a salesman for Carson, Pirie Scott & Co., reported yesterday to Hyde Park police that thieves had broken the window of his automobile Saturday night while it was parked at 55th street and Kenwood avenue and had taken five grips containing merchandise valued at $310.

CHICAGO GROUP GOES TO CAPITAL TO FIGHT WAGNER LABOR BILL

Chicago business leaders yesterday departed for Washington, where they will appear before the senate committee on education and labor to voice objections to the Wagner labor disputes bill. The delegation was headed by George W. Young, vice president of Marshall Field & Co. and president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, who has been appointed spokesman.

His testimony will be supported by Louis A. Dumond, industrial commissioner of the Association of Commerce. Arrangements for appearance of the Chicago protestants to the Wagner bill were made following consultations between Senator David I. Walsh of Massachusetts, chairman of the senate committee, and Chicago business executives led by Mr. Young.

THE INCOME TAX IN THE SENATE.

Democratic leaders of the senate have accepted the suggestion of Senator Couzens, Republican, to add a flat 10 per cent to every one's income tax. The income which was taxed $100 this year will be taxed $110 next year. The tax increase is calculated to produce an additional 50 million dollars of revenue.

The senators are tangled in a web of their own making. They rejected Senator La Follette's proposal to restore the wartime tax schedule because they well knew that the imposition of such taxes could not fail to halt recovery. At the same time they are beginning to recognize, though unwillingly and reluctantly, that the day of reckoning is upon the nation. The squanderings must be financed at the expense of the taxpayers, and if the borrowings are not repaid the bankruptcy of the federal government and the collapse of the nation's financial institutions cannot be avoided.

Congress is not yet prepared to put an end to the squandering. The acceptance of the 10 per cent tax increase indicates a disposition to try to make both ends meet through heavier exactions, but the 50 million dollars of increased revenue will not even begin to pay for the increase in veterans' allowances voted only a few days ago.

There is no means of making both ends meet as long as congress continues to throw money away in billion dollar packages. There is only one remedy for the federal government's fiscal ills and that is a drastic reduction in expenditures. Instead of running for this cyclone cellar while there is still time, congress is trying to compromise with the tornado.

PROGRESSIVE RAILROADING.

Latest reports from the Union Pacific streamlined train which created such a favorable impression when first placed on public exhibition at Chicago indicate that it has not yet completed its advertising tour. There are further advices to the effect that its initial trip on routine schedule may be a long way in the future. A moving picture company has offered to lease the equipment to build a story around it. Several manufacturers have offered to charter the train for goodwill and sales extension. The total revenues offered would nearly, if not completely, cover the cost of construction. As a result it will be returned to Omaha after its present tour of the western states to be offered to the public for excursion purposes.

Perhaps this progressive railroad has developed a new transportation idea for consideration by the railroads. Possibly an American tourist trade that would not be bound by established time tables—experience shows that the public invariably responds to novelties. For the last fifteen years automotive transportation has set the pace—why not emulate them? We can all remember when the automobile manufacturers' slogan, "a car for every family," seemed a somewhat breath-taking objective, but in what few years was it supplanted by announced efforts to establish a "two car standard" for every family! For the railroads—why not a definite program to incite an ambition for the coming generation "to see the capitol of every state in the union." Promote the idea that the most traveled is the best educated and that money spent in visiting the four corners of the country is an investment that will produce dividends. Not "See America First."—see it now!

LENDING TO DEFAULTERS.

The house has passed the Johnson bill forbidding nations which are in default on loans floated in this country to borrow any more money here. Whatever may be said for this bill, it is clear that it imposes one more interference with the traditional right of American citizens to mind their own affairs. No one is obliged to invest his money in anything, and certainly any one who lends money to a nation already in default must know that he is taking a risk. There is no particular reason to believe that the bill, if enacted, will encourage foreign governments to pay what they now owe and some reason to think that it actually may prevent them from paying up. Sometimes a second loan will convert a bad debtor into a good one.

The bill is not without its ironic aspects. The United States government is today one of the world's foremost defaulters. It has knocked 41 cents off every dollar it owed. Meanwhile the French railroads which borrowed money in this country are paying their interest in gold or its equivalent. Should the time come, in war, for example, when the United States greatly needed to borrow in such money centers as London, Paris, and Amsterdam, the precedent of the Johnson bill might prove something of an embarrassment.

WHERE COMPROMISE IS IMPOSSIBLE.

A commentator in Washington called attention recently to the fact that of all the business and industrial groups which have come to Washington the most stubborn, in the view of officialdom, had been the spokesmen for the commodity and security exchanges. The commentator seemed unable to comprehend this phenomenon. In fact, the explanation is simple and obvious.

The ordinary method of politics is compromise. When two interests disagree you split the difference, and if the job is skilfully done every one is pleased that he didn't get a worse beating. But this method cannot be applied to such legislation as the Fletcher-Rayburn bill for the regulation of the stock exchanges because the difference is of a sort which cannot be compromised.

The stock exchanges are free markets. The brain trusters who drafted the regulatory bill do not believe in free markets, or, perhaps more accurately, think they believe in free markets, but really don't. They are willing to let supply and demand make prices until the price so made proves unpleasant for one reason or another, when they propose to intervene through the federal trade commission, the reserve board, or some other political agency. When spokesmen for the exchanges say they cannot do business under such restrictions the authors of the bill plainly indicate they don't believe a word of it.

Nevertheless, the spokesmen for the exchanges are telling the truth. The moment that restrictions are imposed which tend now or in the future to give an undue advantage to either buyers or sellers business will be driven from the public exchanges and will be carried on through private sales. A striking illustration has been provided within recent months in France, where the government has intervened in the wheat markets with the result that the business is no longer carried on openly, but has fallen into the hands of bootleggers. The farmers and the consumers are both victimized, while exorbitant profits are being made by the middlemen.

Stock exchange regulation which promotes and protects the freedom of the market is desirable and enforceable, but when regulation is carried to the point of control the law becomes self-defeating. The controled market dries up and is replaced by catch-as-catch-can buying and selling, erratic price movements, and heavier brokerage charges commensurate with the increased risk of doing business. None of the evils associated with speculative markets are remedied, but a great many of the evils which disappeared decades ago as a result of the existence of the open markets will be revived.

MR. WALLACE QUOTES SCRIPTURE.

Secretary Wallace is obsessed with the notion that he is the spiritual heir of the prophets of Israel. They strove for social justice and he is carrying on their work. The secretary has written a book to show that he is Amos and those who find fault with him are worshipers of Baal.

Maybe so; but it would be interesting to know what Amos would think of a government which destroyed food when men were hungry and raised the price of work shirts when workmen's pocketbooks were nearly empty. It would be instructive to know what he would say, after a trip through our south, in comment on a government which had deliberately planned to deprive hundreds of thousands of the poorest and lowliest of all opportunity of making a living in the cotton fields. What would he say of a policy of despoiling the honest and thrifty for the benefit of the dishonest and shiftless?

While engaged in his Biblical researches Mr. Wallace might profitably spend a few moments on II. Samuel, xii., 1-7.

OUT OF HARM'S WAY.

In her recent review of the volume entitled "The New Dealers," Miss Butcher called attention to the fact that only one of the hundred or more men discussed in the book has a record of active service in France, although with few exceptions all of them were of military age in 1917. The one exception is the President's secretary, Mr. Stephen Early, who saw some service in the line, but spent the greater part of his time in France working for the army newspaper, Stars and Stripes. Some of the others listed in the book wore the uniform, but they wore it in safe places, three thousand miles or more from danger. Perhaps their frantic eagerness to save their country today is to be explained as compensation for their neglect in a darker hour.

Editorial of the Day

[Des Moines Tribune.]

When the President sprang his budget message on the new congress last January it seemed smart from every standpoint for him to estimate the national debt at the end of the current year at the highest possible figure ($23,000,000,000) next June and to forestall his critics by making no serious distinction between the ordinary and extraordinary budgets.

It sort of took the country's breath away for a moment, but the candor, the disposition to put not the best possible face but the worst possible face on the budgetary situation, was tremendously reassuring.

Particularly since the President looked boldly ahead not for six months but for three years, and declared flatly for an actual, complete and final balancing of all the government's outgo by its income at the end of that time.

The action of congress in overriding his veto of the bill boosting federal pay rolls and ex-soldiers' benefits by some $228,000,000 indicates one way in which that boldness may have an unpleasant effect.

Since it is apparent that the government's deficit by the end of this fiscal year is not going to reach the peak estimate of 22 billions, largely because of inability to spend it in so short a time, and since the country has got so used to thinking in terms of billions for this and that, congress is turning spendthrifty.

It is disposed to ignore considerations of the budget, and therefore of the government's credit.

It is inclined to dish out hundreds of millions to organized minorities that threaten retaliation at the polls if the dishing isn't done.

It may prove to be anything but ironbound in opposition to inflationary schemes before the present session is over. The already manifested attitude in the house toward the schemes of silver producers is a hint as to that.

Somehow it ought to be impressed on congress again that this extreme estimate of the June 30 deficit, this $23,000,000,000, is not an estimate that we are in duty bound to live up to, and that there are other fiscal years coming after this one in which it may be found difficult enough to keep even within gunshot of the program of balancing the budget by 1937.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the gnips fall where they may. —Ed.

RIFLE RANGES seem to be growing greatly in public favor. I was shooting at a neat little target yesterday seventy-five feet away, about the extreme distance for an indoor rifle range, and next to me a young woman was popping away with a thirty-two at a fifty foot target and a portly gentleman with quite an imposing bay window in his front was banging away with a twenty-two. This is not the old fashioned "shooting gallery" thing where the cunning little pipes and stars and black disks were so close to you that there wasn't really any use in shooting at them when you could blow hard and knock 'em over.

AT TWENTY-FIVE, fifty, and seventy-five feet you really have to know something about shooting in order to put a hole through the bullseye now and then. And perhaps if the shooters don't get all their shots inside the black circle they learn a lot at the rifle range. They learn, first of all, never to point a gun at another person and say, "I'm going to shoot you." They discover that if they point a gun at somebody else and say that, they always do. They learn that the muzzle of a gun is dangerous. They learn always to keep the darned thing pointed at a spot that even if it does go off (and it always does) nobody will be hurt.

THEY LEARN not to be advised by hunters. They find out that hunters are either very stupid or very careless. Hunters will put loaded guns in an automobile when the game they plan to kill is two or three hundred miles away from them. Hunters will crawl through a hedge and pull their guns after them (the coroner's inquest is usually held the next day), and hunters often mistake a two-legged guide for a four-legged deer. By shooting in the rifle range the shooter learns a lot about the innate cussedness of firearms.

BUT I STILL WONDER whether the lovely lady who stood next to me banging away at that fifty foot target with the thirty-two the other day was training for kidnapers or husband. Thoughts like that make a married man nervous. I missed three bullseyes in succession. And then a man rolled into the rifle range and the lady who was banging away with the thirty-two said: "Hello, darling! Wait till I finish this string and we'll go home. Junior wants you to tell him a bedtime story." After all, God's in his heaven, all's well with the world. I plugged that old bullseye four times straight running.

TWO BY TWO.

Two by two
They walk this way
As others will
Another day.

And of each two
Who pass my door
I know that one
Is loving more.

I know that one
May sometimes sit
With stricken eyes
And laggard wit

And yet be glad
When their hands touch
Of being loved,
However much.

FERRY ADAMS.

AND THE MOST DREADFUL THING about April means that May 1st is just sharp ahead. And on May 1st everybody has to move. Why everybody has to move May 1st nobody knows, but they do. It is probably a primal urge handed down from the time our ancestors lived in caves. In the spring the freshets poured water into the caves and washed our ancestors out, probably the only washing they had for the whole year, too. Anyhow, they moved, and ever since then around the first of May everybody has to pack up and hire drays and move. They probably move into a more desirable flat than they had before, but that means nothing. And it costs a lot of money, drives father from home (and very often he never comes back), breaks up a lot of furniture, and causes a general era of misery.

WE MUST ALL STRUGGLE to overcome this horrible deadly craving. If we cannot give up moving entirely, then let people move from the front of the house to the back. Put the front room in the butler's pantry (nobody has butlers any more, anyhow) and put the kitchen in what used to be the parlor. It will upset things, of course, for a while, but it will satisfy that horrible craving to move on the first of May. Anyhow, it's worth trying. And meantime let there be a constitutional amendment declaring moving May 1st to be a crime and that any one who moves on that date will immediately thereafter move to the nearest federal penitentiary. That ought to stop it. Write to your congressman today!

THE LAST CAVALIER.

As fall forgets the heavy vine
And honey goes to waste,
Many lips have leaned to mine,
But I forget their taste.

Forgotten are the girls I won
And castles held in fee,
The drinking and the dueling done—
But death remembers me.

Upon the flagon and the sword
A kiss of rust is laid.
The king of Time is leering toward

PROGRESSIVE MYOPIA.

NEARSIGHTEDNESS is known to physicians as myopia. In this condition the eyeball is too long and images of objects are focused in front of the retina rather than on it. This condition always causes some degree of inefficiency in some direction even when the best of glasses are worn and in the best possible manner. However, persons with ordinary shortsightedness usually wear glasses and, in addition, they train themselves for life work in which their shortcomings of vision are not much of a handicap.

There is a form of myopia that presents a more difficult problem. It is usually known as progressive myopia, although there are those who call it malignant myopia. This article deals with that.

The eyeballs of babies are always too short except where the stage is set for progressive myopia. Farsightedness in infancy and childhood is the normal condition. The period of most rapid growth of the eyeball, in the after-birth period, is the first six years of life. The ball not only grows rapidly in this period but it changes in shape. At six years of age a child's eyeball should have about the shape that is regarded as normal in after years; the child should be neither nearsighted nor farsighted.

In progressive myopia the eyeball is apt to be too long at birth, for the condition is likely to be both congenital and inherited. The parent is not apt to notice anything out of the ordinary until the child is two years of age. In the second year of life the parent may notice that the child sees distant objects poorly; when looking at a near object, is liable to turn the head and look with one eye only, or to turn the eyes from side to side habitually. An examination with a retinoscope, made by a physician, may reveal the trouble. Such children need to begin wearing glasses before three years of age.

As a rule, nearsightedness escapes detection during at least the first six years of life. Eye tests made on entering the first grade often disclose the trouble. After this age eye trouble gets worse until about age 25, after which it progresses more slowly, though in most cases it never ceases to grow worse yearly.

The period in which the downward progress is most rapid, as a rule, is that between ten and fourteen years of age, the years in which school work is apt to be hardest. In consequence, in the olden days many children with progressive myopia were compelled to drop out of school and a personality inversion and inferiority complex sometimes resulted.

Under present day conditions most children with progressive myopia are permitted to remain in school but they are required to wear glasses that fit and to have them set right on the nose all the time. They are given school seats where the light is just right and they are spared all tasks that throw undue strain on the eyes. In many cases they are taught in special sight conservation classes.

The progressive myopia eyeball is structurally a poor one. Its dense layers are poor in tensile strength and they overstretch easily. The ball is subject to hemorrhages, to detachments of the retina, and to tears in more than one location. But, says Dr. A. L. Brown, if the condition is recognized and proper care is given and proper routine followed, fully 90 per cent of such cases remain unprogressive, retain vision, and lead happy and useful lives.

MAY BE SERIOUS.

Mrs. E. T. writes:

1. Is a blood pressure of 190 and a heart beat of 112 serious? My ankles swell.

2. Every once in a while I get what I call blind staggers. Something like lightning dances in front of my eyes for five to ten minutes and blurs my vision from the side. There is no headache attached to this. What is it and what causes it?

REPLY.

1. It may be.

2. This may be migraine. You should have a physician find the cause of your symptoms.

MODERATELY PROGRESSIVE.

C. T. writes: Is tabes a progressive disease and how does it generally end up?

REPLY.

Locomotor ataxia is a progressive disease within limits. It generally begins with pain in the stomach and legs. This is known as the painful or crisis stage. Progress is rapid in this stage. Then follows the period of disturbance of ability to stand with the eyes closed and of the walking gait. At the onset of this stage progress is rapid. Soon it slows down, and, finally, there appears to be no progress or even some improvement. In the final stage there is usually considerable loss of control over certain functions. The disease is usually long continued. It may last twenty years or more. Death is often the result of some intercurrent disease.

NO CHANCE.

S. S. J. writes: Is there any possibility of cancer setting in by squeezing blackheads?

REPLY.

No.

MAY NEED OPERATION.

Mrs. H. M. B. writes: Some time ago I had an operation for Buerger's disease and my leg turned stiff. Will it straighten out? The shin bone is protruding about one inch below the amputation. Will it heal or not?

REPLY.

Your surgeon's opinion is better than that of an outsider, but my guess is that you will need another operation—not for the disease, but to give you a serviceable leg.

ORAL LEASE.

Chicago, April 2.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My father-in-law and mother-in-law both lived in the flat I now reside in. They are now dead. My wife and I stayed in the flat and the landlord said to pay him $14 a month rent. I do all the janitor work in the building. 1. He won't tell me what he is going to give me for that work. 2. We have no lease. 3. Can a landlord collect rent without a lease? 4. The landlord is using one of my wife's bonds to help him pay some of his bills. 5. Can he do anything to my wife's bonds for the rent I owe him? 6. They come up any time of the day and use our flat. J. L.

1. If he will not definitly fix the amount that is to be credited against the rent for your work you should notify him that you are not willing to continue the work on this basis.

2. An oral lease can be valid if it is to be performed within a year from its date.

3. He can collect without a written lease.

4. You do not state the understanding on which the bond was originally placed in his hands.

5. The rent is a family expense, and on this basis your wife's assets could be subjected to the payment of the rent.

6. In general, a tenant is under no obligation to permit this sort of thing, but since you are in default on your rent you are not in a position to dictate terms. The landlord could put you out on five days' notice for nonpayment of rent.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

PERSONAL PROPERTY TAXES.

Chicago, April 4.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Does the law on personal property taxes give the assessor the right to make assessments against every person whose name appears in the telephone book? A case in point is as follows: A nonresident of Chicago visited here in 1929, renting a room during five months of the year. During that period they had his name entered in the telephone book, using the phone of the roomhouse where he lived. He moved from Chicago in December, going back to Texas. The name remained in the book for two years and assessments were made against the party for 1931 and 1932. 2. Is this legal? C. O. L.

1. No.

2. If the person did not reside here he would not be subject to tax here, and, on the facts stated, it seems probable that no effort will be made to collect the tax.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

CLAIM AGAINST ESTATE.

Chicago, April 2.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—About a year and a half ago my father's will was probated. We have had no settlement to date. There is an administrator and attorney handling same who were appointed by my father. 1. How long, or how much time, are they allowed before settling same? Everything is clear. 2. Can an administrator take money from vault and deposit same in bank? The bank subsequently closed. 3. Is he liable for the amount lost, or does the estate take the loss? He was president of the closed bank. T. J. O.

1. A year is allowed for the filing of claims. Ordinarily the estate should be closed shortly after expiration of such year.

2. Yes.

3. Not on the bare facts stated.

4. This might be something of an indication that he permitted his judgment to be warped. It might be worth your while to have the facts investigated by an attorney.

From Across the Sea

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BASTIA, Corsica.—Important measures for the aerial defense of all strategic points along the Corsican coastline have been pushed forward actively by the French in the past few weeks.

Work has been started on the construction of a large new aviation camp for both land and sea planes at Roscidjano, on the eastern coast eight miles south of Bastia. This camp, which will be fitted out with the most modern mechanical equipment, will have special arrangements to facilitate the speedy arrival and departure of seaplanes. At present work is progressing rapidly on the clearing, leveling, and sodding of a 300 acre landing field.

This camp, when completed, will serve the eastern coast of the iland as the seaplane base at Ajaccio now serves the western coast. Wide scale improvements are at the same time being made at this latter station. Shelters and storehouses are being instaled and equipment to aid both land and sea takeoffs is being added.

Similar activity is going on at the military base below Porto Vecchio, on the extreme southeastern coast. In the harbor at the southernmost point of Corsica construction work is progressing to facilitate the evacuation of the iland or the landing of reinforcements in the case of emergency.

In addition, the other Corsican defenses are being checked up, and all precautions have been taken in order that there may be no danger of lack of provisions.

The authorities state that the significance of the present defense measures in Corsica should not be exaggerated. Nevertheless, they admit that everything possible is being done so that the iland may be prepared in case of emergency.

A REPLY TO MR. JACKSON.

Chicago, April 4.—David H. Jackson's diatribe against the pending Chicago park district act is highly inconsistent, complaining in one paragraph that consolidation is undesirable and in another finding fault because the pending act does not include all the city and school playgrounds as well as the regular park districts. It hardly would call for a reply were it not for the serious errors of statement as to tax rates in the various park districts affected.

In trying to get around the obvious fact that a single large governmental unit can work more efficiently and economically than a series of small bodies doing the job piecemeal in the same area, he states that the south park district, which is the largest in Chicago, "had the highest average tax rate over a period of six years." As a matter of fact the Lincoln park district had the highest park tax rate in the city for each one of the six years cited by Mr. Jackson [1927-'32], and no one should know that better than Mr. Jackson because he formerly was president of the Lincoln park commissioners.

For maintenance purposes alone, south park has always had the lowest rate of the three large districts and Lincoln park the highest. Bond and interest taxes have always been high in the south park district because of the major lake shore development of city-wide benefit which has been financed by the south park territory. Bond and interest taxes in the Lincoln park district have been even higher because similar improvements have been financed on the relatively small taxable area in the towns of Lake View and North Chicago. The total rates extended for all park purposes in making up the 1933 tax bills now payable for the major park districts are: West, 62 cents per $100; south, 99 cents; Lincoln [North Chicago], $1.13; [Lake View], $1.16. Small park rates range from 7 cents for little Edgebrook [which spends less than $500 and supplies no park facilities worthy of the name] to 58 cents for Old Portage; 75 cents for Northwest; 80 cents for Irving Park, and 83 cents for Jefferson Park. Tax rates, however, tell little of the story. The taxes levied per acre for park maintenance, including driveway acreage, for 1933, range from $783 for south park to $3,210 per acre for north shore park district.

Mr. Jackson attempts to make a great mystery of the bond provisions of the pending act. They are no different in essence from those of all of the other large taxing bodies. The interest rate and price of bonds are regulated wholly by the market. The answer to this entire line of objection is that under the pending act not one cent of park bonds can be sold without referendum approval of the voters of the entire city. Just the reverse is now true with the small park commissioners whose cause Mr. Jackson is defending. They can let contracts for improvements without referendum, as the north shore park district commissioners have just done on the eve of this election and regardless of the risk of putting a useless burden on their taxpayers, and they can issue the bonds to pay for them also without referendum. Perhaps this is why the small park commissioners and their lawyers are frantically opposing consolidation.

It is difficult for a research organization to keep track of three large park districts in addition to the five major taxing bodies, and it is practically impossible to keep track of and report to the taxpayers on twenty-two such bodies. We learn of trouble long after it has occurred. In some districts the fact that the officials were elected by the residents of the small districts has proved no check at all.

As a campaign slogan supplied by the Cook County League of Women Voters well puts it: "Other cities manage their park affairs with one commission. Why should Chicago need twenty-two such bodies?" DOUGLAS SUTHERLAND, Executive Secretary, the Civic Federation and Bureau of Public Efficiency.

STREET CARS ON THE LAKE FRONT.

Chicago, April 4.—In today's issue THE TRIBUNE advocates the removal of the street car lines from Chicago avenue to Navy pier, thereby making another hardship on working people who wish to see the lake front. At Jackson park and 63d street it takes considerable time on foot to reach the beach from the car terminus.

Had I my way not only would street cars run to the lake front but I would have an outer drive by trolley. Surely, in the spirit of fair play, the poor man is more entitled to an outer drive than the muscle bound motorist.

By the way, I wish some of our aldermen would stroll around Oak street beach on a hot day and watch the hundreds of women and children literally fighting for a drink of water. At least six more fountains are needed there.

R. MARTIN.

II.

Chicago, April 4.—If real estate tax bills showed separate valuation of land and improvements [as they should], any efficient teller in the county collector's office could quickly and accurately figure the exact amount due from the taxpayer for 1931-'32, and there would be no muddle because of the 15 per cent deduction recently decided upon.

OUR SECRET AMBITION

Present Criticism Today at Code Hearing.

Washington, D. C., April 8.—(AP)—Bituminous coal operators from widely scattered states tonight shaped new attacks on Recovery Administrator Hugh S. Johnson's order reestablishing a seven hour day and new minimum wage rates for the industry.

The criticism will be presented tomorrow at the NRA hearings on revision of the bituminous coal code.

Among the groups demanding changes are:

Northern West Virginia operators, who insist that removal of the 34 cent wage differential they have enjoyed for years over western Pennsylvania is wrecking the industry in their section.

Alabama operators, who already have obtained a temporary court injunction against the new wage schedule.

Demand Greater Differential.

Tennessee operators, also demanding a greater differential.

The Progressive Miners of America, a rival of the United Mine Workers, who are seeking greater recognition and may claim exemption from the shorter day.

Fighting for the maintenance of Johnson's order are the United Mine Workers and several groups of northern operators. They regard its promulgation as one of the greatest victories yet won in the direction of eventual complete elimination of lower wage scales for the south.

Ready for Last Ditch Battle.

Fred A. Krafft, spokesman of the northern West Virginia operators, said today his group was ready for a last ditch battle at the hearing to regain the 24 cent differential.

"The principal motives behind the National Recovery act—increased employment and increased purchasing power for the worker—will be defeated by the elimination of our wage differential," he said.

Fourteen thousand miners in the region, he said, have been made idle since the new wage scale went into effect April 1 and failure to restore the differential without changing freight differentials will cripple the northern West Virginia mines.

CANNON, SECRETARY FACE COURT TODAY IN ELECTION CASE

Washington, D. C., April 8.—(AP)—Against the background of the 1928 presidential campaign, Bishop James Cannon Jr. and his woman secretary face trial tomorrow in Criminal court here on a charge of violating a federal election law.

After a ruling by Justice Peyton Gordon on a preliminary defense motion the Methodist churchman and Miss Ada L. Burroughs, the secretary, must answer to the indictment that they conspired to omit reporting all campaign contributions they received. The maximum penalty is two years' imprisonment or $10,000 fine, or both.

The subject matter of the indictment is more than five years old. The indictment itself was returned two and a half years ago, and stands shorn by the United States Supreme court of eight counts that charged specific violations of the corrupt practices act, under which it was drawn.

The overt act alleged is that report was made of only part of contributions to the anti-Smith movement, totaling $65,200, by Edwin C. Jameson, president of a New York City insurance company.

ROOSEVELT HAS DAY OF REST ON FISHING CRUISE

He Proclaims May 1 as Child Health Day.

West Palm Beach, Fla., April 8. —(AP)—President Roosevelt evidently has decided to end his fishing trip about Thursday and depart for Miami, on that day. Such was the information revealed at the Sun and Surf club in Palm Beach today by James Roosevelt, his son, in talking to friends. He told them "We expect to leave Miami Thursday for the north."

Miami, Fla., April 8.—(AP)—President Roosevelt took today off on his southern fishing cruise to prepare the way for tomorrow's investigation by White House correspondents of his fishing ability.

The yacht Nourmahal still clung to its position during the bright sunny day off Anguila iland. It will weigh anchor in the morning to keep an engagement to meet the correspondents setting out from here early tomorrow.

The President did send back to White House headquarters here today a proclamation fixing May 1 as Child's Health day.

Urges Child Welfare.

"The welfare of the nation," said the proclamation, "it vitally affected by the health of its children and the promotion of the best physical and mental development of the children is an essential part of the social-health program of the nation."

Mr. Roosevelt asked all official and voluntary agencies interested in child welfare "to unite upon that base in the observance of such exercises as will result in a deeper realization by the people of the necessity for the protection and promotion of the health of the nation's children."

Sends Message to Congress.

Mr. Roosevelt dispatched a brief message to congress informing them of his executive order on the civil service retirement administration, which he estimated would bring a saving of approximately $45,000 annually. This is the first message the President has sent to congress since he left Washington on his vacation cruise.

Bandits Menace Priests in Parish House; Get $300

Three gunmen late last night invaded the parish house of the St. Nicholas Ukranian Catholic church at 2238 Rice street, threatened two priests, and got away with $300 in Easter collections. Those threatened were the Rev. Epiphany Theodorovych, pastor, and the Rev. S. Zuracicky, parish priest. The pastor was compelled, on threat of death, to open the office safe which contained the $300.

DECLARE DANISH PRINCE WILL WED INGRID OF SWEDEN

Heir to Throne Wins Gustaf's Favor.

LONDON, April 8. — (AP) — Despite official denials, it was learned today from persons closely associated with Scandinavian royalty that the announcement of the engagement of the Danish Crown Prince Frederick to the beautiful Swedish Princess Ingrid is expected to follow upon the return of King Gustaf to Stockholm from the Riviera.

It was said that the royal couple already are engaged, but are pledged to delay official announcement until the king's return from his long winter vacation. If there should be any slip before the end of this month, when the announcement is expected to be made, it was understood that Crown Prince Frederick is determined to remain a bachelor, like the prince of Wales. Princess Ingrid's name was closely linked with that of the prince of Wales a few years ago, but an engagement did not develop.

Pleases Royal Houses.

A recent meeting of Prince Frederick and Princess Ingrid at Cannes was said to have resulted from a romantic wish of the Danish prince to seal his troth privately with the future queen on the spot where his father and mother first met and became engaged. In Cannes at the same time was Ingrid's brother, the former Prince Sigvard and his German bride for whom he sacrificed all pretentions to royal prerogatives.

Visiting Stockholm some weeks earlier, he spent much time in Princess Ingrid's company. The match would be considered most favorable to both royal families. Political powers in both countries favor the engagement as portending a strengthening of Scandinavian links. It was also seen as creating an important alliance between Denmark and Great Britain, since Ingrid's late mother was a daughter of the duke of Connaught.

DISCOVERS FOSSIL OF REPTILE WITH 3 EYES PLACED ABOVE HEAD

(Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.)

BLOEMFONTEIN, South Africa, April 8.—The fossilized remains of remarkable dicynodon reptiles, including one with three eyes placed perisocpically above the head, have been discovered by Dr. Van Hoepen at Mazelspoort, 14 miles north of Bloemfontein in the zone commonly known as the Karoo beds.

Among the fifteen specimens discovered, some remarkably well preserved, is a dicynodon that Dr. Van Hoepen thinks is the largest yet found. The specimen having three eyes placed a couple of inches above the head was a massive creature with a head more than two feet long and a body more than seven feet long. It stood two and a half feet high on sturdy legs curved inward like a bulldog's.

Dr. Van Hoepen, director of the National Museum of Bloemfontein, stresses the great antiquity of the dicynodon specimens, which bear no resemblance to any living animal.

Roswell, N. M., April 8.—(AP)—Jimmie Haizlip, speed flyer, suffered from appendicitis tonight after he brought Ralph C. High, oil executive of St. Louis, to the bedside of High's son, William, critically ill with pneumonia. Haizlip's condition, physicians said, was not serious. High's son, a student at New Mexico Military Institute, was reported improved today.

Forget narrow partisanship in this great local election. Republicans, Democrats, Progressives, independents, citizens all should join together for the political regeneration of Cook County. The taxing machinery, the election machinery, the County Treasurer's office, the Sheriff, the County Board, the Probate Court, the Court Clerkships and many other offices now up for election placed in the hands of the powerful progressive republican movement of Illinois will constitute a real beginning toward a genuine political regeneration in Chicago.

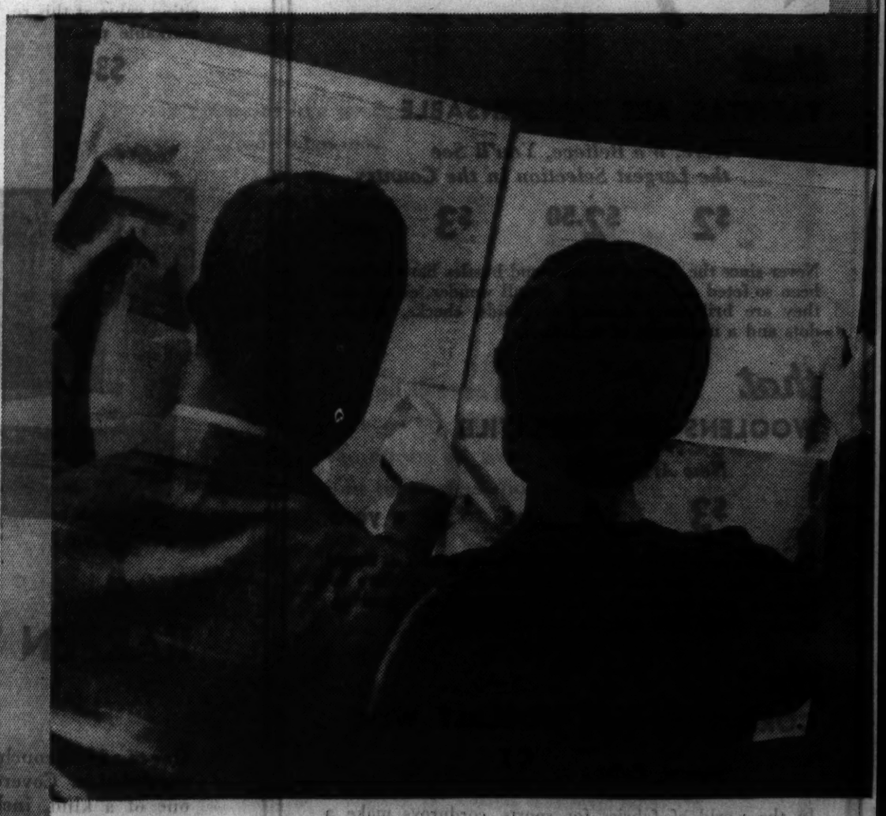
● Since you spend so much of your time at home, why not have the most congenial and convenient apartment your money will buy? Attractive apartments are advertised daily in the Tribune want-ad section. They offer such a variety of values that you can be sure of finding a thoroughly livable apartment at a rent no higher than you pay now. Begin today to read the apartments-to-rent want ad columns in the Tribune.

● You would hardly make a practice of going into a dress store for dress materials if you knew that your selection was limited to a few staple patterns. But do you look for apartments where the variety of offers is so complete that no matter what you have in mind, you can find the apartment you want? If you are going to move soon, why not shop the lists of apartments advertised in the Tribune!



● If you place any value on your time, you will start looking for your next apartment by reading the want ads in the Tribune. In a few minutes you can check up on what is available because apartments advertised in the Tribune are classified by sections of the city and by the number of rooms. You can preview at your convenience the most attractive apartments in the sections of the city you prefer.

That the Public May Know!

The Management is in receipt of the following resolution from the General Committee, representing members of the Chicago Motor Coach Employees Fraternity, which includes all employees of the Chicago Motor Coach Company excepting five temporary employees:

> "In view of the action taken yesterday, April 5, 1934, by the Chicago Labor Board, the General Committee of the Chicago Motor Coach Employees Fraternity suggests to the Management, for serious consideration, the question of its withdrawal from the NRA and the removal of the Blue Eagle."

Organized Labor in trying to seize control of Established Industry, by threats, intimidations and various forms of coercion, has gone far beyond all reason and beyond all limits. It is time to call a halt.

For the past year, outside unions have been trying to force employees of the Chicago Motor Coach Company to join their organizations and submit to professional union dictation, notwithstanding the fact that our employees have clearly indicated that they want nothing to do with them; that our employees have a fraternity of their own, operated solely by themselves, in which they have been happy, contented and prosperous for over ten years, or since the day of its inception.

The purpose of the Employees Fraternity is to provide a means of collective bargaining and a method of co-operation between the Management and the employees which would inure to the benefit of the employees, the Company, and the Public.

The net result of this twelve months' efforts on the part of professional Labor organizers has been the filing with the Chicago Labor Board of affidavits by 27 employees (out of 930) accusing the Trustees of the Chicago Motor Coach Employees Fraternity, as well as certain officials of the Company, with violation of certain clauses of Section 7-A of the National Industrial Recovery Act.

A hearing on these charges was set for Thursday, April 5th, by the Chicago Labor Board.

The Chicago Motor Coach Company was advised of this meeting, and requested to send a representative. The Company felt that the Chicago Labor Board lacked jurisdiction, and concluded that it was in the best interests of the public, of the employees, and of the company, not to be present. UNDER THE LAW, these appearances are optional. But the Company, nevertheless, sent a letter specifically denying the charges.

The Company refused to appear because of the opinion expressed by the representatives of Industry on the Chicago Labor Board, all of whom signed a telegram to the President of the United States dated March 18, 1934, in which they stated among other things that they "also wished to state that it is our experience and observation that the National Labor Board has recently built up a body of rules and regulations operating in the interest of labor unions and the closed shop and tending towards the complete unionization of Industry."

With this obvious difference of opinion amongst the members of the Board itself in respect to their individual attitude towards the rules and regulations of the National Labor Board, under which the Chicago Labor Board functions, how can any honest and intelligent Management, representing an industry charged by State and City Officials with the responsibility of operating a safe and efficient public service and representing the best interests of nearly one thousand employees and the investment of thousands of stockholders, be expected to submit to a case of flagrantly trumped up charges by paid professional labor organizers to a Board of Conciliation and Mediation, and knowing in advance that there is a division of opinion among the members of such Board as to the fairness and justice of the rules and regulations under which it must function.

This statement by nine representatives of Industry on the Labor Board, must be given great weight.

At this so-called hearing, representatives of the Chicago Motor Coach Employees Fraternity appeared with their counsel and fifteen witnesses, and were advised that they would be given a full hearing. This committee was prepared to answer fully any accusations. Later, for some utterly unaccountable reason, Chairman Hutchins, educator of the Chicago University and the head of the Labor Board, denied them this opportunity to be heard. Then followed the ludicrous announcement by Chairman Hutchins that the officers of the Chicago Motor Coach Company not having appeared, the charges against the officers of the Company were admitted, and he therefore declared that the Company was guilty of violating certain portions of Section 7-A of the National Industrial Recovery Act.

The Chicago Motor Coach Company takes the position that the Chicago Labor Board has no jurisdiction or authority over the matter; that there was no obligation on the officers of the Company to appear; and that the so-called "decision" of the Labor Board and its announcement, was unjustifiable, and wholly unwarranted.

The harmonious relations which have existed between the employees and the Management for over ten years has led to the best possible form of collective bargaining—right here in our own organization. These are the ideal conditions which professional labor leaders seek to disrupt and destroy for their own selfish ends.

Only a month ago, at the eleventh regular annual election of the Employees Fraternity, 90 per cent of the employees of the Company, excluding those in a supervisory capacity (who did not vote) voted for representatives of the General Committee of the Employees Fraternity.

AS A RESULT OF COLLECTIVE BARGAINING BETWEEN THE EMPLOYEES FRATERNITY AND THE COMPANY, THE COMPANY LAST OCTOBER RESTORED THE 1929 SCHEDULE OF WAGES ALTHOUGH FOR THE PAST FOUR MONTHS THE REVENUES OF THE COMPANY HAVE BEEN 44 PER CENT BELOW THOSE OF THE CORRESPONDING PERIOD OF 1929.

The Chicago Motor Coach Company proposes to live up to its contract with the Employees Fraternity in spirit and to the very letter, come what may.

The question at issue here is as to whether or not employees of the Chicago Motor Coach Company shall be permitted to have representatives of their own choosing or whether they shall, through intimidation and coercion on the part of paid professional labor organizers and walking delegates, be forced into an outside union not of their own choosing. There is but one answer to this:

The Company is prepared to throw all of its resources behind its men in seeing that in accordance with Section 7-A of the National Industrial Recovery Act they shall be permitted to choose their own representatives regardless of the efforts of paid professional labor organizers and walking delegates to force them into unions other than those desired by the men themselves.

If we are on the way to the complete dictatorship by union officials over both labor and industry, and consequent chaos, it is time for the general public, and, more especially, the workers themselves, to know about it.

The Management of the Chicago Motor Coach Company desires to take advantage of this opportunity to express its thanks and appreciation to its loyal employees for their courteous and efficient service and their confidence in us. Also we wish to express our thanks to the public for its continued patronage and loyal support. This is all worth working for.

MAP MIGRATION OF EARLY INDIANS FROM WEST EAST

Smithsonian Expert Holds They Were Asiatics.

Washington, D. C., April 8.—(AP)—Great Indian migrations of prehistoric times by which savage hordes populated America from the west eastward have been mapped for the first time by the Smithsonian institution.

The maps, made public today, show the routes along which prehistoric tribes marched for generations from west of the Mississippi toward the Atlantic ocean, pioneering in exactly the opposite direction from that taken by the later whites.

The migrations lasted for hundreds and perhaps thousands of years, just how long is uncertain. It is believed that no human beings ever had lived in North America before the Indians began arriving in wave after wave from the Pacific coast, says David I. Bushnell Jr., compiler of the maps.

Believed Asiatic Migration.

The migration trails lead from the northwest and southwest, across the Mississippi and into Canada, New England, the middle Atlantic regions, the midwest, and south. They were the last laps of an age long trek by which scientists believe nomadic Asiatic tribes gradually pushed through Siberia, across Bering strait into Alaska, and down the American west coast. The American Indians were their descendants, it is held.

The maps were reconstructed by Bushnell from ancient Indian remains scattered over eastern United States. They represent the first attempt to plot the migrations as a whole.

They show that what are now the states of Kentucky and Tennessee were the "crossroads" of the prehistoric American world. This area was a junction and perhaps a "melting pot" crossed and recrossed by tribe after tribe, pushing always eastward under the urge probably of other tribes behind and the need for new hunting grounds.

Algonquins from Northwest.

The Algonquin Indians, who were found all along the northeastern Atlantic seaboard and around the great lakes when the white men arrived, came originally from the northwest, says Bushnell. All the other Indian tribes in the east migrated from an ancestral homeland in the southwest.

The Algonquins were trekking south from the great lakes when they were stopped by a wave of Sioux Indians moving in from the southwest. They forced the Algonquins back north. Meanwhile the Iroquois, famous later as the powerful "six nations," pushed northwestward from the Ozarks and split the Algonquin empire.

100 JAPANESE ARMY OFFICERS ENTER PEIPING

PEIPING, China, April 8.—(AP)—More than 100 Japanese military officers, said the Chinese owned Peiping Chronicle today, have arrived at this former capital, bound for the provinces of Chahar, Suiyuan, Shansi, and southern Hopei for the purpose of "getting acquainted" with the chief strategical centers in north China.

The paper said the South Manchuria railway, Japanese owned line in Manchukuo, likewise had sent agents into north China, where they now are actively studying economic conditions, with the object of strengthening Japanese influence, especially in the coastal province of Shantung.

Other Chinese newspapers said Japanese military authorities had requested permission to hold military maneuvers in the demilitarized zone established by treaty following upon the Japanese military campaign in Manchuria. The Chinese spurned the request, the papers added.

POLICE BATTLE FUGITIVE; GIRL ON STREET SHOT

Angeline Tagliaferro, 13 years old, 811 South Paulina street, was shot in the right hand last night by a bullet fired in an exchange of shots between a fugitive and a police squad near her home. She was taken to the county hospital.

The shooting started when Sergt. Joseph Morrison and his detective bureau squad stopped to question two men sitting in an automobile in front of 819 South Paulina street. One of the pair fled and exchanged shots with Morrison. One of the bullets fired hit the Tagliaferro girl. The man escaped.

The second man was arrested. He identified himself as Fiori Buccieri, 27 years old, 810 South Paulina street, and his companion as Joseph Morrone, 25. Buccieri said he did not know Morrone was armed.

Hector Turnbull, Movie Producer, Is Dead in East

New Hope, Pa., April 8.—(AP)—Hector Turnbull, one of the pioneer producers in the motion picture industry, died at his home today of a heart attack which followed an illness of several years. He was 49. Turnbull's wife, who was Blanche Lasky, sister of Jesse L. Lasky, the producer, died three years ago in California.

Patrick Smyth, Evanston Resident 40 Years, Dies

Patrick Smyth, 63 years old, for 40 years a resident of Evanston, died yesterday in his home at 1400 Wesley avenue in the suburb. He had been an employé of the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois for 23 years.

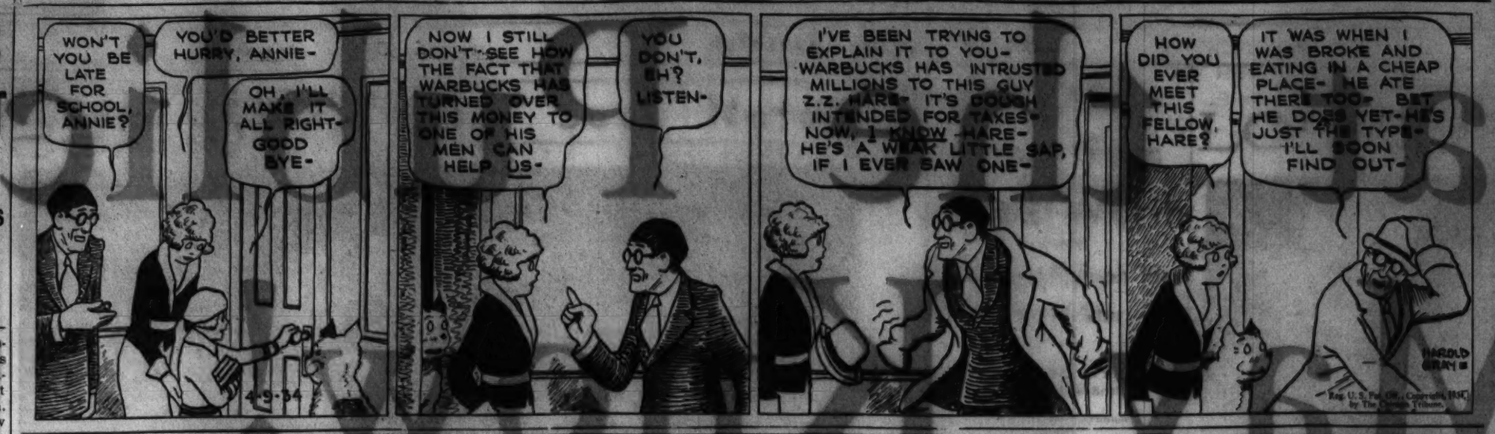
LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Should Auld Acquaintance——?



FAIR, BEER KEPT TOURIST MONEY IN U. S. LAST YEAR

Washington, D. C., April 8.—[Special.]—The 1933 World's Fair in Chicago helped keep in the United States approximately 148 million dollars which would ordinarily have been spent abroad or in Canada and Mexico by American tourists last year.

The Chicago Exposition was also the outstanding reason for an increase in the number of foreigners who visited the United States in 1933 and who spent many more millions.

Legalization of beer and the depreciated dollar also helped to make the United States more attractive than other countries for tourist travel last year.

These conclusions were reached today in a report issued by the department of commerce which is based upon a survey of expenditures abroad by tourists.

Tourists spent 298 million dollars abroad in 1933, according to the report, in comparison with 446 million dollars expended in the previous year, a drop of 33 per cent.

JAMES KERNEY, TRENTON EDITOR, DIES IN EAST

Baltimore, Md., April 8.—(AP)—James Kerney, 61, Trenton, N. J., publisher and friend of the late Woodrow Wilson, died of heart disease today at the Johns Hopkins hospital after a week there.

Mr. Kerney had spent the winter in Miami and Palm Beach, Fla., in an effort to regain his health. He was author of the book, "The Political Education of Woodrow Wilson."

During the world war, Mr. Kerney spent eight months in France as director of official American information. He was decorated by France with the cross of the Legion of Honor.

In 1929 President Hoover made him a member of a commission to adjust differences between the United States and the republic of Haiti. He was appointed a member of the Court of Errors and Appeals, New Jersey's highest tribunal, in 1931, resigning last year. He was publisher of the Trenton Times newspapers.

Chicagoans received a real taste of spring yesterday as balmy weather brought householders out into their yards and into the parks, and motorists to the highways. The forecast is for continued mild temperatures today, but it will be cooler tonight, with a probability of showers.

The Homewood county highway police reported the heaviest automobile traffic of the year. The full traffic force of the station was on duty at busy intersections to keep the cars moving along smoothly. Similar conditions were reported by other police, but no serious congestions were reported.

Mrs. Lena Wigton, Widow of Insurance Man, Dies

Mrs. Lena Wigton, widow of Ernest T. Wigton, Chicago insurance man, died early yesterday morning in her home at 314 North Main street, Wheaton. She was the niece of William Edenborn, Louisiana lumber and railroad magnate, who died in 1926, leaving a fortune estimated at $100,000,000. She was 60 years old. Mrs. Wigton is survived by a daughter, Patricia, and a son by a former marriage, Lewis McCartney. Funeral services will be held at 4:30 o'clock today in St. Paul's English Lutheran church, Wheaton.

Jasper Douthit Jr. Dies; Buried at Shelbyville

Shelbyville, Ill., April 8.—[Special.]—Jasper Douthit Jr., named for his grandfather who was the pioneer Unitarian minister in the middle west, died Friday night in the veterans' hospital at Saranac Lake, N. Y. His body was brought here today for burial. Douthit enlisted at Peoria and after war service spent several years at the Edward Hines hospital before going to Saranac. A brother, Davis Douthit, is employed on the cable desk of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

La Porte, Ind., April 8.—[Special.]—Herbert W. Fox, 60, president of the First National Bank and Trust company and director of the La Porte Woolen mills, died of heart failure last night in Santa Barbara, Cal. He and Mrs. Fox went there a week ago for his health. He was born here June 13, 1873, graduated from the local high school when 16, and from University of Michigan when 19. His father, Samuel Fox, founded textile mills here. Three years ago he and Mrs. Fox donated an 18 hole golf course to La Porte. Mrs. Fox was Julia Eppinger of San Francisco, Cal. He is survived by three brothers, Robert, Walter, and Norman, all of La Porte. Dr. Solomon Freehof of Chicago will officiate at the funeral here Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Dorothy Monahan, 37, Musician and Painter, Dies

New York, April 8.—[Special.]—Mrs. Dorothy Monahan, 37, noted musician and portrait painter, died suddenly at her apartment in West 11th street here this morning of heart disease. Mrs. Monahan was born in Wallace, Idaho, and came to New York in 1922. For years, besides her distinguished work in portrait painting and music, she has been the main sponsor of independent art shows here and in Chicago. She is survived by her husband, James Monahan, and Helen and Dorothy Weer of Chicago, children born of her first marriage.

"ASK THE MAN WHO OWNS ONE"

'WHY PICK ON US?' REPLY OF STENO. TO PROF. ROGERS

New York, April 8.—(AP)—Two girls, stenographer and society debutante, regard it as a feature both nice and discreet—this admission by Prof. Robert E. Rogers that his famous recipe for success wasn't so good.

In Rochester, N. Y., yesterday, Prof. Rogers said he was "all wrong" five years ago when he issued this bit of advice for up-and-coming young men: "Marry the boss' daughter, and don't bother with the stenographer if you expect to succeed."

Today Miss Mildred Reilly, New York stenographer, somewhat of a philosophical stenographer, had this comment:

"It is pretty nice of the professor to back-track. It sounds as if he is emancipating the working girl."

She detected what she considered a slight fallacy in the professor's statement that the young man should have married the stenographer because "she has a job and the boss' daughter is broke."

"It's very fine of him," she said. "I hope these business gigolos—rather an appropriate term, don't you think?—heed the professor's advice. Society doesn't want them anyway."

FRANK C. MARS, MANUFACTURER OF CANDY, DIES

Frank C. Mars, 50 years old, well known candy manufacturer, died yesterday in the Johns Hopkins hospital in Baltimore, Md., where he had been a patient for ten days. His death was attributed to a heart attack and a kidney ailment. Mr. Mars lived at 930 Ashland avenue, River Forest.

Mr. Mars had been in the confectionery business for 31 years. He established a wholesale firm at Tacoma, Wash., supplying candies to a chain of 5 and 10 cent stores on the west coast. In 1920 he established a company in Minneapolis. Five years ago he moved the company to Chicago. Mr. Mars was a pioneer in developing the sale of standardized candy bars through national advertising.

Funeral services for Mr. Mars will be held Friday at his southern estate, the Milky Way farm, near Pulaski, Tenn. Surviving Mr. Mars are his widow, Ethel; a daughter, Mrs. William H. Furst of Chicago; a son by a former marriage, Forrest E. Mars of London, England, and a sister, Mrs. Henry Nelson of Glendale, Cal.

Slayer, 9 Years a Fugitive, Is Brought Back for Trial

George Simon, 42 years old, was returned to Chicago from New York yesterday by Sergt. John Boland, to face a charge of murder. The victim, Peter Parise, was shot to death during a brawl in a restaurant at Madison and Sangamon streets in January, 1925. The slaying was marked unsolved, but two weeks ago Simon, who had been sought for nine years, unexpectedly surrendered to New York police after confessing the crime at a religious mission house.

Ira Biffle, Flying Tutor, to Be Buried Tomorrow

Funeral services for Ira Biffle, one of the oldest aviation tutors in the United States, who taught Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and a number of other prominent flyers, will be held at 3 o'clock tomorrow from a chapel at 316 West 63d street. A delegation of flyers will be sent to the funeral by David Behnecke, president of the Air Line Pilots' association. Biffle is survived by his widow, Alice.

PUT FUR STORAGE INDUSTRY UNDER I. C. C. RULE TODAY

After a six months' survey of the fur storage business in the state, the Illinois commerce commission today will bring the industry under its supervision for the protection of the public and to eliminate irresponsible operators. Regulations have been adopted that require operators to make application to the commission for licenses and to protect patrons from loss.

"Under the new rules, which go into effect today, it will be impossible for irresponsible persons to remain in the fur storage business," B. F. Lindheimer, chairman of the commission, said. "The laxity of supervision over fur dealers in the past has resulted in a lack of public confidence. The Chicago Furriers' association is in sympathy with our efforts to protect the public."

Reports on the commission's survey showed that some of the fur storage houses had carried no insurance, and that losses from fire and theft had fallen on their customers. Printed copies of the new regulations will be available at the commission's offices today.

Tavern Club Fire Fails to Disturb 40 Diners

Forty diners remained at their tables undisturbed in the Tavern club, 333 North Michigan avenue, last night when fire broke out in a kitchen grease chute. Firemen extinguished the blaze with hand pumps. Ernest Kuhn, club manager, estimated the damage at $25. Among those in the club at the time were W. C. Boyden, president of the club; Thorne Donnelley of the printing company; Commander Eugene McDonald of the Zenith Radio corporation, and Howard Whitehouse and Orville Taylor, financiers.

BY JUDITH CASS.

A WEDDING that took place Saturday in Baltimore is of interest to Chicagoans because it means that there soon will be another lovely bride settling on Chicago's near north side. It is that of Miss Virginia Vander Horst, daughter of the Elias Vander Horsts of Baltimore, and John Harleston Read of Evanston, formerly of North Carolina. The ceremony was performed at 4 o'clock in the Eccleston chapel of the Emanuel church and a reception followed at the home of the bride's parents on Park avenue.

Mrs. Read made her debut three or four years ago and is a member of the Baltimore Junior league. Mr. Read, who has been living in Chicago since his graduation from Princeton in 1928, and his bride will be at home at the Whitehall after a wedding trip through the south. Earl Goodwine, with whom Mr. Reed has been sharing an apartment in Evanston, went east to be best man.

When Mr. Read came to Chicago, he took an apartment on Delaware place with three Princeton classmates, Joseph C. Rennard of New York, Walter C. Carroll Jr., and James Bateman Jr., of Philadelphia. Mr. Carroll was married in 1933 to Miss Miriam Mohler, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John R. Mohler of Washington, D. C., in St. James's church here, and he and Mrs. Carroll are living on Bellevue place. Mr. Rennard's engagement to Miss Betty Bartlett of Milwaukee was announced Dec. 30 by her parents, the Ferdinand A. Bartletts, and their wedding will take place in June in Milwaukee.

Another bride who will be apartment hunting on the near north side as soon as she and her husband return from a wedding trip to Mexico is Mrs. Floyd P. Hunt, the former Mrs. Ruth Staley Mueller of Decatur, Ill., daughter of the Augustus E. Staleys of that city. Mr. Hunt, a son of the Robert I. Hunts, also of Decatur, and Mrs. Mueller were married March 31 in the apartment on Pearson street that Mr. Hunt and Eugene Swigart have been sharing. Mr. Swigart was best man. Among the few wedding guests was William Hunt, the bridegroom's brother. Mr. and Mrs. Hunt had hoped to go to Florida with the Perkins Bulls, but they missed the boat. The parents of both Mr. and Mrs. Hunt are in Miami.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Wilson Clokey of Hinsdale are announcing this morning the engagement of their daughter, Mary Wilson, to Edwin Ruthven Moore, son of the late Edwin Ruthven Moore and the late Mrs. Archibald Percy Ogden of Evanston. Miss Clokey was graduated from Hannah More academy in Reisterstown, Md., and is attending Northwestern university. Mr. Moore attended the Chicago Latin School for Boys, was graduated from the Deane school in Santa Barbara, Cal., and is now a senior at Dartmouth. The wedding will take place in June after Mr. Moore's graduation.

Frances Chamberlain to Wed Harwood Warriner.

This morning Mr. and Mrs. William Chamberlain, whose home is at 80 Indian Hill road in Winnetka are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Frances, to Harwood Warriner of Chicago, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Warriner of Cedar Rapids, Ia. Miss Chamberlain studied at Emma Willard school in Troy, N. Y., and Mr. Warriner was graduated from Cornell university. No date has been set for the wedding.

Mrs. Thomas Tingey Craven, wife of Rear Admiral Craven, will be back in Chicago this week after many years' absence. She is arriving tomorrow to spend at least three or four days with her sister-in-law and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. William R. Hulbert of 3150 Sheridan road.

The Cravens have been living in Vallejo, Cal., and the few times they've been back to their summer home in Jamestown, R. I., they've hurried through Chicago from one station to another. This time Mrs. Craven is going on east to be with her children until the fleet reaches New York. In June Admiral Craven becomes a vice admiral, rising from the rank of rear admiral to which he was elevated in 1928.

Dinners to Precede Symphony's Party.

Among those who are giving dinner parties before the Chicago Symphony Orchestra party tonight in Orchestra hall are Mrs. Frederick T. Haskell, who is entertaining for the conductor, Henri van Bugghan; Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson Jr., and the Cyrus Bentleys. Among those who have obtained boxes to witness "The Orchestra at Play" are the Cyrus H. McCormicks, the Daniel H. Burnhams, Harold F. McCormick, Mrs. Arthur M. Barnhart, Mrs. John A. Spoor, Mrs. James Simpson and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. John McLaren Simpson, Charles H. Morse, Mrs. Chauncey Keep, Mrs. Walter A. Strong, Albert A. Sprague, Arthur Cable, Mrs. Francis Neilson, Joseph D. McNulty, Mrs. James H. Douglas, Ralph H. Norton, Arthur Meeker, Henry Bartholomay, Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel F. Selz, and the junior Edward L. Ryersons.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Cudahy will arrive in Washington, D. C., this morning from Palm Beach and will attend the annual spring conference of the National Red Cross. Twenty Chicagoans are in the capital to represent the local chapter at the national conference. Others are Mr. and Mrs. James B. Forgan, who have been motoring through the east with their daughters, who are on their spring

Mr. Stock Hears Sour Note

Front Views and Profiles

PAGET CADY ran into Hank on La Salle street the other day—Hank who used to sell bonds in the old days at the same financial house. Mr. Cady reports the conversation that ensued:

Stand-bys—Symphony—Horowitz—Racket.

"Same old people." (No milk here, might as well ask right out.)

"Who's that, Hank?"

"Dad and mother."

ONE of our favorite symphonies is the Gliere symphony "Ilia Mourometz" played by the Chicago Symphony orchestra Friday afternoon, and we felt a thrill of civic pride when, during the intermission, we heard Mrs. Walter (Unforgivable and unanswerable.) Brewster tell of an incident that occurred when she and Mr. Brewster attended a Philadelphia Symphony concert last winter. The Gliere symphony was being played for the first time by Stokowski, and the Philadelphia audience was excited afterward. Mr. Brewster commented that she thought the piece had always been a favorite.

"What? You've heard it before?" her friends chorused. They apparently thought it was something Stokowski had just discovered, whereas Mr. Stock has been giving it to Chicago Symphony audiences for many seasons.

LATER that same afternoon at a small and charming tea after the concert, Vladimir Horowitz, pale and handsome and distinguished-looking, was chatting of music with Thornton Wilder and Carleton Smith, and our hostess and he also paid compliment to Mr. Stock. Horowitz commented that he had played the Tschaikowsky concerto in an entirely different manner Friday afternoon from that at the Thursday evening concert, and expressed his pleasure at the fashion in which Mr. Stock had kept the orchestra with him all the time. The great pianist said he had been unable to play the concerto similarly at both concerts. He had difficulty with the Tschaikowsky concerto, he implied, not because it is difficult technically, but because it is difficult for him mentally.

THE latest piece of infantile ingenuity is reported by a girl named Angela Stake. She says that her sister, who lives in Washington, D. C., wanted to see the Easter egg rolling festivities on the White House lawn. Though she has no child, she attended by paying a dime to one of a group of youngsters hiring themselves out to adults who wanted to see the show and had no children of their own as guarantors of admittance.

Stage and Radio Stars Give Benefit Tomorrow

Stars of the radio, screen, and stage will combine their talents in an entertainment at the Civic Opera house tomorrow night in a charity ball, the proceeds of which will be donated to the sick relief funds of the Stage Hands' union. Among the headliners scheduled to appear are Milton Berle, Paul Ash, George Dewey Washington, Little Jackie Heller, and the Duncan sisters. The charity ball is an annual affair.

Good Morning!

"The Constant Nymph," adapted from Margaret Kennedy's book, is one of those almost incredibly atmospheric cinemas that drift down on us occasionally with something of the lightness, perfume, and delicacy of a cloud of apple blossoms. A film of exquisite delicacy—vaguely disturbing, thrilling, saddening. . . .

The acting—all of it—is some of the most perfect that I have ever seen.

If you are not completely carried away by Victoria Hopper's rarely intuitive portrayal of flowerlike, sensitive, sincere Tessa Sanger, I shall be surprised.

An English girl in her 'teens, Miss Hopper was "discovered" playing in a West End amateur play by an English music critic. This is her first screen part.

She is the "constant nymph." From her childhood she has adored Lewis Dodd, a young musician who frequents her father's home in the Tyrol.

Sanger, a great composer, has had five daughters by various wives. One day, after a long, lonely session of drinking, he commits suicide. His widow, a lush cockney blonde, takes her own spoiled darling and departs. One girl marries. The elder—goes away somewhere. The other two are sent to school. Their guardians are an uncle and his daughter, a lovely young English society woman. And it is this girl whom Lewis Dodd marries. . . .!

Heartbreak for Tessa. . . .

She and her sister, unable—after their life of wild mountain freedom—to brook the discipline of the school, bolt, and come to make their home with the overjoyed Lewis and the unwilling Mrs. Dodd. . . .

Brian Aherne as Dodd is fascinating. This is the sort of part he understands. There are no off notes in his depiction of the highly keyed, temperamental young composer so worshiped by the Sanger girls. . . .

The story starts in the Austrian Tyrol, carries its characters to London, where Dodd's symphony is produced, and ends, well—the fadeout is a lovely bit of photography and imagery. Scenery, photographed in the Tyrol, is glorious!

I was much impressed by the stressing of essentials and the complete absence of any conceivable sort of display. The result of this admirable reticence in production is a compelling simplicity that gets at the heart, delights the eyes, and charms your sense of fitness.

Music lovers will be overjoyed by the playing and glimpses of the London Symphony orchestra.

I recommend "The Constant Nymph" as a photoplay of worth and interest.

Will Rogers Given Leading Role in Eugene O'Neill Play

Hollywood, Cal., April 8.—(AP)—Will Rogers is to return to the stage in the leading rôle of Eugene O'Neill's "Ah, Wilderness." The humorist and screen actor announced today he will appear at a Hollywood theater, beginning about May 1. The appearance, marking Rogers' first dramatic rôle on the stage, will take place between the filming of pictures.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

If you want the highest quality in a lipstick and a cream rouge and are willing to pay for it [we warn you that these are above the average in price but well worth it], tag along with us while we do some shopping.

There are five lipstick shades, all of them good. The sun tanned sisters and the olive skinned girls who dramatize their mouths will be enthusiastic over one in particular, a tropical berry shade whose lush, soft redness is impossible to put into words. These are some of the plumpest little sticks that ever went to market; although they're more expensive than the usual sized stick, they'll actually last much longer.

The texture of these is something to sing about; they're soft and rich as a cream, but they spread on smoothly in a thin, colorful coating that gives the least "painted" effect. The color stays on, unchanged, for several hours and the fragrance is the best we've yet found in a lip rouge. This matter of the odor of lipstick is something we're fussy about and when we say this is the nicest scent we've yet discovered we're saying a great deal, because we've experimented most critically with dozens of them.

The cream rouges of this same Paris house are elegant, too. Here there are four shades from which to choose and in them you'll find the same beauty of color and texture that distinguishes the lipstick. Both, by the way, are made and sealed in France, which accounts partly for their higher cost. This establishment, famous for its perfumes, claims to have made the first lip rouge in stick form some forty years ago. All we can say is that they did a grand job, and continue to do it, judging by their fat little sticks found in our Chicago shops.

Dwight Davis' Daughter to Wed British Diplomat

Washington, D. C., April 8.—[Special.]—Dwight F. Davis, former secretary of war, former governor general of the Philippines, and donor of the Davis cup, announced today the engagement of his daughter, Alice, to Roger M. Makins, second secretary of the British embassy. Because of the recently announced transfer of Mr. Makins to the foreign office in London, plans originally made for their marriage in Washington have been changed and the wedding will take place on April 30 at the country place of Col. Davis near Tallahassee, Fla., and after a brief honeymoon the young couple will leve for London.

Helen Hedges Brilliant in Strauss Solo.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Through the orchestral performance of Brahms' First Symphony and the solo performance by Helen Hedges of Zerbinetta's aria from Strauss' "Ariadne auf Naxos," the season of the Woman's Symphony orchestra came to a triumphant close at the Congress hotel yesterday afternoon. This, as never before, was a concert to confirm the faith of its promoters in the permanency of the organization.

That the Zerbinetta aria is not sung more frequently could be understood after hearing Miss Hedges sing it. It makes almost unbelievable demands on the voice, with passages that run to the top compass of the highest soprano, others so deep that they would not be scorned by a contralto. Miss Hedges dealt not only faithfully but brilliantly with it, and created a notable success.

Ebba Sundstrom's conducting of the Brahms Symphony showed that she has an intelligent and learned knowledge of this great composition. Outlines were clear, tempos were vital, scholarship and sympathy were manifest throughout.

Ted Shawn and his ensemble of men dancers came to the Blackstone theater yesterday afternoon to give a demonstration of the dance in its livelier, not to say more athletic, aspects. It was an uncommonly well executed example of man's share in the dance where vigorous movements and strength come before romance and grace. There were play and labor dances ranging from a Japanese rickshaw dance to "Turkey in the Straw" as danced by an American cowboy, a group of religious dances, Indians in several phases, and an occasional variant such as "John Brown Sees the Glory," a dance-pantomime performed by Shawn alone.

Luigi Ruffino, operatic tenor, assisted by Mildred Gerber, operatic coloratura soprano, appeared yesterday at the Studebaker theater in a program in great part operatic in character. Mr. Ruffino sang many well favored tenor arias and some others not so well known, but all done in excellent voice and polished operatic style and tradition. That Miss Gerber should have made her first number the mad scene from "Lucia di Lammermoor" shows that she fears little in the way of technical difficulties, that she should have sung it with so much poise, ease, and vocal glitter indicates both excellent training and the promise of a brilliant future.

The Chicago Symphony orchestra is appearing tonight in a program which it calls "The Orchestra at Play." Here will be one of the most famous organizations in the world in a light hearted program, in some cases doing witty parodies of well known compositions, in others introducing unfamiliar instruments into familiar orchestrations, with some of the members appearing in the disguise of costume and makeup. Frederick Stock and Eric DeLamarter will share the baton between them, and Karleton Hackett will be master of ceremonies.

A Vicious Circle

SYNOPSIS.

Dorinda Quarles is found stabbed to death following a dinner party in her Paris apartment. Dorinda, untrammeled by scruples or breeding, had served a drug to her guests. Helen Roderick, who was a friend of Dorinda's deceased mother, was staying with Dorinda. She didn't attend the dinner, but awakened early in the morning and discovered the crime and the guests lying about in deep sleep. She is able to arouse her friend, Tommy Rowatter, a journalist. Tommy's dinner partner was Dinah Blake, an American artist, whose engagement to Christopher Loughton, in the American embassy, was, according to rumor, broken on account of Dorinda. Dinah is not among the sleeping guests. Tommy arouses the others and sends for the police, then calls to break the news to Dorinda's stepfather, Basil Jethro, celebrated Oxford scholar, who was her guardian and trustee and who had kept since given up trying to curb his charge. Dinah can't be found. Tommy conducts a search for her and for facts to help clear her of suspicion. She paid a call on the Hubert Loughtons shortly past midnight, after leaving Dorinda's party. Dinah returns two days later to the apartment which she shares with her cousin, Hallie Pemberton. She had been sleeping in the studio of absent friends. Her memory is a blank. Tommy Rostetter happens to call before the police learn of Dinah's return and persuades Dinah to pretend she is estranged to him, so that jealousy of Dorinda may not be considered incriminating. Basil Jethro had lost his key to Dorinda's apartment in the court of the building the evening of the crime.

INSTALMENT XXV.

A STRANGE EXPERIENCE.

The latchkey offered possibilities. Did the police, wondered Tommy, know about it? Eager to find out, he paid his bill and within a quarter of an hour was imparting his information to the level eyed chef de commissaire.

"Monsieur, we were told of this incident at once, by the gentleman himself. M. Jethro wished the matter to be thoroughly investigated, but we have fair reason to assume the key was not touched during the night."

The bubble of his conceit pricked, Tommy clumped down the stairs to the street. He might have known Jethro would not neglect a duty like that, even though to himself it appeared unimportant. And yet Tommy could not feel satisfied over this key business. He wavered a moment, then drove resolutely over the bridge to the island to delve more deeply into the matter.

The concierge blinked at him a little dubiously, but was willing enough to fetch his torch and stand below while Tommy ran up two flights of stairs to drop his own latchkey over the balustrade. The key fell with a tinkle, bounded several yards, and came to rest in full view near the fountain. Three times the experiment was repeated, and on each occasion the man in the court retrieved it within two seconds.

"Just as I thought," muttered Tommy. "No place for the thing to get hidden in." He glanced sharply at his assistant's gold rimmed spectacles. "Are those the glasses you wore on Friday night?" he asked.

"Yes, monsieur, they are my only pair."

"Then why do you suppose you couldn't see the key then?"

"Well, monsieur—I didn't hear it fall, of course. That may have had something to do with it. But really I can't account for it, as I said to my wife."

He couldn't find it because it wasn't there, reflected Tommy, but all he said was: "See here, just when did you make the search?"

"At the time monsieur spoke to me about it—soon after eight."

If true this seemed to veto the possibility of the key having been used prior to the first search, but the concierge might be lying.

Brisk steps sounded on the stairs behind. Tommy turned and in the dim light discerned his old friend, the inspector, come from the flat above. In spite of some coldness on the officer's part Tommy followed him into the street.

"There's something I'd like to speak about," said Tommy. "Has that drug been analyzed yet?"

"Yes, monsieur, we have the report. The test shows a compound of two ingredients, both of eastern origin—hashish and datura."

"Bad?" he asked.

"It begins to look," replied the inspector enigmatically, "as though this case were likely to have far reaching consequences. Drug trafficking in high circles as well as low—a wholesale roundup."

"Beginning with M. Mowbray?"

"Something like that, perhaps," and with a satisfied air the speaker made off into the night.

Tommy hastened home, fired by the inspector's ominous tone to read up on the subject of oriental narcotics, but his intention was balked. Entering his small flat, he found the lights ablaze, and indignantly anticipating a police raid flung open the sitting room door to behold a strange sight.

"Holy Moses!" he cried in disgust. "What are you doing here?"

In the saddle bagged armchairs two young sunburned, very English striplings were lounging, with their legs outstretched to a fire, and newspapers spread in front of them. The one addressed, snub nosed and rusty haired, raised a pair of blue eyes remarkably like Tommy's own, and setting down a generous whisky and soda rose with genial cordiality.

"Well, well!" he said in a hospitable manner. "I said you'd be turning up before long. Didn't I, Filly?"

It was in fact Tommy's nephew, Rankin Rostetter, a bare brained youth who at an utter waste of parental money was idling his way through a university. Tommy could recall few occasions when he had been glad to see Rank. This time he was outraged.

"I'm damned!" he exclaimed rudely. "Why the hell aren't you back at Oxford?"

"Only a day or so late," declared his visitor pleasantly. "Doctor's certif to prove I've had pink eye. Fact is, we're ambling towards Calais now."

"Don't let me keep you."

"Not at all, not at all. We shan't push on much further tonight—and I couldn't dream of passing through Paris without condoling with you and so on over this rotten mess you've got into. Devoured every word of the accounts, and felt it my duty to get the truth straight from the horse's mouth. Is this doping a new thing of yours, or——?"

"I don't care to discuss it," growled the uncle stiffly.

"No?" in a soothing tone. "Well, well, I quite understand. All the same, meet Bilfilan."

Rank waved a royal hand towards the companion who lurked dimdently behind him. This was a sallow, meagerly proportioned young man, a nervous secretiveness in his preternaturally large eyes, and slinky black hair trained long at the sides.

"Bilfilan," said Rank, "is just going to cut along to the garage you patronize to see if our magneto's okay. You won't mind, will you, if I just jot these little repairs down to your account? I can settle up when I return you that last fiver I borrowed at the beginning of vac. Or was it six quid?"

"No, no; he can wait for me," replied Rank easily, watching the slimy one, toe dry mouthed for speech, slide towards the door. "The car won't be ready. In fact," as the door closed, "I sent him away because I wanted to jaw a bit about the murder. I must say what thrills me to the core is to find our chief exponent of mathematical monism, the great Jethro, allied with said victim. That relationship's been kept remarkably quiet. Not a murmur of it up our way."

"What about it?"

"O, nothing—though it would seem a bit of a coincidence because the lad who's just left us had a strange experience a short time ago.

"Seems that last Easter hols, when he was spending a week in this city on the cash his aunt had given him to visit Chartres cathedral, he went the rounds with one of those cut-throats who pilot you through the Maze of Vice. You know, five hundred francs to squint through a shutter. Well, at one of these places, he strayed off to do a bit of prospecting on his own. He climbed some stairs, walked in a door that wasn't properly closed, and saw—whom do you think?"

"What, Basil Jethro?" cried Tommy, feeling that Rank's air of mystery was the final straw. "Utter drivel."

"Quite," agreed his nephew unperturbedly. "I told you I didn't altogether credit the yarn. Yet at the time I mention Bilfilan was solemnly positive about it. Said he couldn't have been mistaken."

CONQUERING CONTRACT

By P. HAL SIMS

Mr. Sims is universally acclaimed the greatest living contract and auction player. He was captain of the renowned "Four Horsemen" team of four, now disbanded, and has won twenty-four national championships since 1924. These articles are based on the Sims system, which includes the one-over-one principle which the Sims group of players was the first to employ and develop.

THE JUMP RAISE.

So far, we have considered the jump raise only in connection with the major suits, where it takes you immediately to one trick short of game, and is a force for game, while flirting innocuously with the possible slam development.

Jump Raise in a Minor Suit.

The jump raise in a minor suit, though two tricks short of game in that suit, is nevertheless within less than a trick of game in no-trump. It is, in fact, within a takeout for the same number of tricks. It must be considered a force on the opening bidder under exactly the same conditions as if made in a major suit—the opener may not pass it unless he has opened on a psychic or near psychic.

When Responder's Hopes Are Only for Game.

The bidding subsequent to the jump raise is somewhat different as compared with the major suit procedure. We have decided to bid for game, but in the suit contract that will necessitate taking eleven tricks. Consequently there is much greater inducement to play the hand in three no-trump, and one must strive to remain within that range until or unless it is clear that the hand as a whole is unsuitable for no-trump, and that the best chances for game are in a contract for five odd in the suit.

Both in giving and in responding to the jump raise in a minor suit, regard three no-trump as the preferable alternative, and allow each other wide scope for flexible bidding in feeling out the no-trump protection. Slip in a secondary bid in a weak off suit if doubly stopped. Only when there is clearly an open gap which neither of you can span should you abandon a contract for nine tricks for one permitting the loss of only two tricks, in which moreover there is far less hope of being helped by errors in the defensive play of your opponents.

Nevertheless, since you are giving a game forcing response, you must be willing to go on to the contract of five odd in the minor suit if a contract for three no-trump is found to be hopeless. There is no stopping at four if you have given the jump raise—the bidding is destined to end up in either three no-trump or five in the suit. Only rarely will you discover a four-four fit in a major suit bid secondarily.

Consequently, to make this response you need at least two clear primary tricks with some secondary value in addition, and an uneven distribution to make the hand attractive for suit play in a high contract.

Sp. A J x	Sp. A 10 x x
Hs. x x	Hs. x
Di. Q x x x	Di. K x x x
Cl. K Q x x	Cl. K Q x x

These are minimum typical hands justifying three diamonds over a one diamond opening bid. When diamonds are bid, it is very satisfactory to have the clubs well stopped and also one of the majors; then, if your partner can bid the other major, you can bid three no-trump with perfect serenity. Should the partner reply with three spades in the above instances, bid four spades for him. He can hardly lose more than a heart and a club. If he bids four diamonds, bid five and there should be at least a good play or finesse for it. If he bids three no-trump, you must trust him to stop the hearts and pass that bid. Should he [improbably] bid clubs, that will mark him with an extreme two suiter and slam appears likely. Raise the clubs for him, and if he has the ace of hearts he can bid six in the shorter of his two suits. Why the shorter?

vacation; Mrs. Charles Garfield King, and Mrs. Patrick A. Valentine.

Mrs. James N. Rawleigh and Mrs. Charles C. Dawes left yesterday to motor to Savannah, Ga., to spend ten days with the former's mother, Mrs. William M. Burton, who is in a hospital there as a result of a fracture of a hip suffered on Easter Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Burton were motoring home to New York from Florida and stopped in Savanah for luncheon, but a slippery floor in the hotel made it necessary for her to prolong her stay.

Howard F. Gillette is returning this morning from a brief visit at French Lick Springs.

From White Sulphur Springs comes word of the golfers who are gathering there to compete in the annual Mason and Dixon golf championship tournament which starts today. John B. Ryerson of Cooperstown, N. Y., formerly of Chicago, medalist player last year and holder of two legs on the challenge cup, will play in the first sixteen.

The Chicago alumnae of the Ogontz school are holding a bridge party and tea this afternoon at the Briggs house. The alumnae give several parties during the year to raise funds for charity. At the present time they are contributing to the Children's Memorial hospital. Among those interested in the affair are Mrs. Charles Wesley Dixon, Mrs. Robert H. Harvey, Mrs. Andrew B. MacCaughey, Mrs. Homer L. Dixon, and Miss Phyllis Walsh.

Society Folk Moving and Preparing to Move.

True to the tradition that spring is the time of year in which to change residence, many of the fashionables have been moving and settling, or will start doing so soon. The junior Carroll H. Sudlers are settled in their new Lake Forest house, and Mrs. Carter Morgan has been in her new apartment on East Pearson street for three weeks. Her father, Harry Lee Williams, who has been in Honolulu for the last two months, returned just in time to help her put on the finishing touches. He will remain in town until he and Mrs. Morgan leave June 1 for his summer place in Michigan.

The Mason Trowbridges and their family, Miss Harriet and Miss Adaline Trowbridge, Mason Jr., and George F. Trowbridge, have moved to New York where they are settling permanently. One of their relatives-in-law, Mrs. Arnold D. K. Mason of Evanston, will probably be seeing them when she goes east this summer to spend July and August in Boston with her parents, the Everett J. Harringtons.

The William P. Henneberrys are waiting until May 1 to move into the Maples in Wheaton, a home they have owned for more than four decades. Last year they did a bit of renovating to the house and this year they plan to make a few additions and changes to the gardens.

The Robert Adamses have moved from their Astor street apartment to 936 Lake Shore drive, where they will remain until school is out before going to Lake Forest to occupy the Edwin Welch house, which they rented last summer, too. The Bowman C. Lingles also moved this spring, although their address has not changed. They removed their belongings from an apartment in the Ambassador East up a few flights to the penthouse.

Neighbors to be in Lake Forest are the junior George Jaegers [Ellen Douglas of Cedar Rapids] and the junior William B. McIlvaines. Last year the Jaegers purchased some land from Frank Bartholomay west of Lake Forest on Ridge road and built a lovely new house on it. They will be moving into the house at the end of a fortnight, and intend to occupy it the year around. The McIlvaines acquired one of Frank Bartholomay's houses on property adjoining that of the Jaegers, not far north from the Robert P. Lamont estate, and they will move into it the last week in this month.

Mr. and Mrs. Colin Campbell have taken a house in Lake Forest for the summer. They are moving Thursday.

The William D. Coxes are fully settled now at 1529 Astor street in the house that belonged formerly to the late Miss Jane E. Cox, Mr. Cox's aunt.

The Bryan S. Reids have taken the James B. Forgan home in Lake Forest for the summer and will be moving into it around June 15 when their children will be out of school and their eldest daughter, Mary, will be at home from Miss Weaver's school in Munich. Mrs. Forgan and one of her daughters hope to go to Europe for the summer, and Mr. Forgan and the other of the Forgans' two attractive girls will remain in Lake Forest. The junior Edward A. Fargos are moving to Lake Forest also. They have taken a house on Rosemary road and will move into from their Winnetka home around May 1.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

Some one tells the story of the Victorian grandmother who had to put a record on the phonograph and dance and dance before her young grandchild would eat. Can't you see it?

How these young tyrants know their onions! At the tender age of one year or less they have a perfect system for getting what they want. No one teaches it to them. It's quite unconscious.

They have implanted in them by nature certain strong desires. Let their grownups be soft enough or unwise enough, and those desires will have an unwholesome gratification. It's really funny—at first. But only at first.

"Our little boy—fifteen months—has always disliked being fed solids. From the day the doctor first ordered cereals and vegetables it has been a struggle three times a day to feed him. My husband took over the job of feeding and succeeded by continual capers and monkey shines in keeping the baby laughing and taking his mind off the fact that he is being fed.

"We are continually at odds on the question—I maintain the child should accept feeding as a matter of course and not demand a three ring circus as accompaniment. I have neither the time nor the spirit to do the sort of clowning and entertainment that seems to be the only things that will stop the baby's fretting and whining at meal times.

"This has lasted for over six months, and my patience is exhausted. Can you tell me what I can do?

"The doctors say the boy's tonsils are bad and must come out—but not until he is two years old. In deference to his poor tonsils I have tried feeding food of varying degrees of solidness to pure mush but always with the same results unless the customary distractions are present."

Academy of Sciences to Hear Program on Origin of the Earth

The Chicago Academy of Sciences will hold its 77th annual meeting at 8 o'clock tonight in the assembly hall of the academy building, Lincoln park at Center street, it was announced by Dr. Nathan Davis III., secretary. Three scientists from Northwestern university will discuss "The Origin of the Earth." They are: Dr. Oliver J. Lee, director of the Dearborn observatory; Dr. Charles H. Behre Jr., chairman of the department of geology, and Dr. John R. Ball, associate professor of geology and invertebrate paleontology.

BEG YOUR PARDON

THE TRIBUNE regrets the appearance in its columns yesterday of an announcement of the engagement of Jane Kaufman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Sylvan Kaufman, 245 East Park avenue, Highland Park, Ill., to Theodore W. Shaffner, 5000 East End avenue. Mr. Kaufman states that this is untrue, and Mr. Shaffner likewise denies sending the announcement to this newspaper. Mr. Kaufman expressed the belief that the erroneous information was supplied by a practical joker.

The entertainment featuring a "Pageant of Brides" at the Berry Memorial Methodist church, Lawrence avenue and Leavitt street, will be held Thursday night, April 12, not Wednesday night, as announced in yesterday's Metropolitan section.

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Derk Lenters of 5837 Augusta boulevard announced the engagement of their daughter, Jean, to Thomas P. O'Brien at a tea in the Graemere hotel yesterday afternoon. The wedding will take place May 26.

BY MARY MEADE.

Mush is our song for today—ways and ways of making mush. Terrible name, we do admit. But so is "squash," when you come to think about it.

Generically speaking, we can call any finely ground, cooked cereal a mush. Corn meal, ground wheat, ground hominy, and cracked wheat all make most acceptable mushes if prepared with skill by a knowing cook.

But while this mush itself, served with sugar and cream, sugar and butter, or just with a bowl of jam, deserves some of our best thoughts lest it burn, be lumpy, turn pasty, or what-not, the spot where lies the real fun in mush cookery is in the pleasures of "the morning after." Then out of the kitchen comes the great platter piled high with steaming, golden crisp, and fragrant fried mush slices, all hot to be served up with maple sirup, brown sugar sirup, butter and sugar, jam, or even spicy apple sauce.

Of all of which, I believe, the cracked wheat number is the best fun to make and the most satisfying to eat. We cook this one in evaporated milk, which seems to give a smoothness and an odd little flavor which are all to the good. Here is the way of it:

FRIED CRACKED WHEAT MUSH.

1 cup water
1 cup cracked wheat
½ teaspoon salt

Combine the water and milk and scald in the top of a double boiler. Add the salt, then sift in the cereal, stirring constantly. Cook slowly over direct heat until the cereal is thick, about three to ten minutes, stirring now and then. Then cover and cook over boiling water for about half an hour or until done. Pour the mush into a deep, buttered pan or into buttered, straight-sided drinking glasses or baking powder tins. Cover to keep a crust from forming and cool over night. As breakfast arrives shake out the roll or slab of mush from the mold and slice it thinly. Dip the pieces in flour (or not, as you prefer), then sauté (pan fry) them in butter or bacon fat. When done the slices should have crisp, golden brown crusts and should taste just as tempting as they look and smell. Apple sauce, sugar, or sirup are some of the possible also-rans.

This cracked wheat mush, by the way, takes on an added body and goodness if some days it has an egg beaten up and added before we turn it into its mold to set.

And, while we're on the subject, I've found that if the mush is made only for frying—not first for serving as cereal—then it's made even more likable by the addition of one tablespoon of flour for each cup of cereal, stirring it in before the cooking.

But don't figure on fried mush merely as a breakfast dish. Sunday evening supper with plump, fried sausage cakes, plates of fried mush, and apple sauce or thick brown sugar sirup is an event to hunger for a week before and dream about seven days thereafter.

Another good thing to know about in the realm of mushes is:

LIVER SCRAPPLE.

Prepare a corn meal mush by mixing one cup of corn meal, one teaspoon of salt, and one cup of cold water together. Have ready three cups of water boiling in the top of the double boiler over direct heat. Gradually stir in the meal mixture, using a long handled wooden spoon. Place over boiling water and cook slowly for three hours. When it is nearly done cook one-quarter pound of liver in a skillet containing a little fat. Then grind it through the meat chopper and add to the mush. Cook for fifteen minutes longer, then season with salt and pepper and turn into a buttered mold. When set turn out the mush, slice, dredge with flour, and brown in fat.

Angelo Lippich Celebrates Quarter Century on Stage with Musical Show

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

Angelo Lippich, for many years a comedian in German-speaking musical stock companies, celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of his debut in the Princess theater last night. An effective performance of the standard musical comedy, "Im Weissen Roessl," was given to mark the occasion, and a capacity audience assembled to prove to the hero of the jubilee that his quarter century before the footlights had not been spent in vain.

Among the players who helped Lippich frolic through his celebration were Helene Holstein as the hostess of the White Horse inn, Curt Benisch as the most comical guest, Luella Feiertag as the ingénue, and Willy Schubert as the romantic young fellow. The authors of "Im Weissen Roessl," Blumenthal and Kadelburg, have been frequently represented on the American stage by adaptations of their works.

The American Theater society, which is bringing "Richard of Bordeaux," with Dennis King as star, to the Erlanger theater April 16, announces that it will give its subscribers "Mary of Scotland," with Helen Hayes, and "Ah, Wilderness," with George M. Cohan, next fall. These bookings are intended to complete the schedule of plays that was promised for the current season. Subscribers who are not satisfied with this arrangement will receive refunds.

Mme. Maria Jeritza will begin an engagement at the Grand Opera house tonight as star of "Annina," a new operetta by Rudolf Friml. Allan Jones, recently star of "The Student Prince," will have the tenor rôle.

Expert Bewails Faulty Idea of College Degree

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Speaking of how certain modern educational trends are disqualifying young people for the homely pursuits which most of them will have to assume, Dr. Thurman B. Rice, professor of bacteriology and public health, Indiana university, in a current health periodical argues: "There is not the least doubt that many a young man has been ruined by a mistaken idea of the privileges which a college diploma is supposed to confer on him."

The idea that so many parents entertain of wanting their sons to get an education "so they won't have to work as hard as we have worked" is, in Dr. Rice's opinion, a most unworthy purpose. An education, the doctor contends, should enable a man or woman to do more work and better work, but it should not require of him one less drop of sweat, and Dr. Rice means 'sweat' in the broad sense.

"Sweat," says our authority, "which used to be the foundation of society, has become a social handicap, and the avoidance of the odor of it is the first aim of those who seek social favor.

"Domestic hands," Dr. Rice accuses the female half, "are looked upon as a disgrace. It is doubtful whether there is any other mishap which has crippled so many women as has the manicure." By which Dr. Rice means woman's aversion to household duties for fear of spoiling the hands.

Dr. Rice has no quarrel with education because it has improved personal appearance and has smoothed the rough edges of the raw material which has come to it, but education, he insists, is primarily utilitarian in purpose, and must prepare the student for a practical career of making a living. Otherwise, it is not worth what it costs.

Being educated out of the inclination to work is against the current system, is the charge not only of Dr. Rice, but that also of practical men who are employing young people.

"It is my opinion," says Dr. Rice, "that the young man or woman who wants an education as badly as an education deserves to be wanted, who understands something of what it means, who loves it as he or she loves the breath of life, who is willing to wade through any difficulty to get it, will get it and will know what to do with it."

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., April 8.—[Special.]—The secretary of agriculture and Mrs. Wallace have been joined by Mr. Wallace's sister, Mrs. Charles Bruggmann, wife of the secretary of the Swiss legation at Prague, whom she married when Dr. Bruggman was secretary of the Swiss legation here. She will make a visit here and in her old home in Iowa.

The great event of last night in Washington society was the masked fancy dress ball at the Italian embassy, given by the three bachelor secretaries, Barthomeo Migone, Giuseppe Tommasi and Andreas Ferrero. Many dinner parties preceded the ball. A buffet supper was served at the ball from midnight and the guests unmasked at 2:30. Breakfast was served before the party ended. Mrs. Dall, daughter of the President, was in the company.

Mr. Justice and Mrs. Willis Van Devanter were the guests of honor at luncheon today of assistant secretary of state and Mrs. Wilbur J. Carr. Covers were laid for eighteen.

Office Workers Should Prevent Faulty Posture

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Are you a swivel chair worker? Do you look like a swivel chair worker? Or, do you know how you can tell a swivel chair worker who looks like a swivel chair worker? All workers don't look that way, but an experienced eye can tell, by the way the back muscles do or do not hold one up straight, whether you've got the swivel chair sign on you or not.

You don't get the look the first year you occupy an office chair, but you keep on sitting the faulty way and, before you know it, you've got it.

It doesn't take many years of sitting wrongly to make those back muscles so flabby that they're not strong enough to hold the back up straight. And what is true of the back muscles is equally true of the muscles of the trunk and abdomen. You never find well trained back muscles in company with flabby trunk and abdomen muscles, or vice versa.

You young workers can save yourselves a lot of future trouble and, incidentally, a great deal of dress chic, by holding yourself in your chair as you work so that you never will get the "swivel" look. I don't know just how interested you are in the health angle of correct sitting posture, but if you are a daughter of Eve at all I know that you are deeply interested in having your clothes qualify you for well dressed circles. I repeat what I have said, many times before, that it doesn't matter a tinker's damn how much money you put into your coats and frocks, hats and accessories, if you don't give them something elegant to carry them off. You never heard of a "best dressed" woman whose carriage wasn't most smart. Women can buy their clothes of the most famous French or American designer, pay fabulous prices, but if they haven't got the posture IT, the clothes do not matter one whit.

If you catch early the tendency to slump over your work, you can retrain those back muscles easily. The longer you indulge the lazy habit in these muscles the harder it is going to be to correct them. For business success I urge you to watch the back. If it is straight, as it should be, you can get up out of your chair more quickly and move more smartly, an impression that does not fall on fallow ground around a business place. Tomorrow I'll tell you how to get those back muscles strengthened and the back straightened.

Chicago Dental School Alumni to Dine Tonight

Dr. John R. Watt, who was graduated from the dental school of Loyola university in 1896, and the classes of '89, '99, and '09 will be special guests at the banquet given by the Chicago Dental college alumni tonight at the Blackstone hotel. It will be the 52d annual banquet. Dr. Watt and Dr. John McArthur will be the principal speakers.

Suits of Quilted Taffeta Score Style Success

BY RHEA SEEGER.

A navy blue quilted suit sounds a bit too cozy for warm weather, but when you see that it is made of taffeta your fears depart. It is just as wearable and just as cool as a sheer wool, besides being the smartest gasp in spring suit wear. The same thing in black taffeta becomes an especial favorite for sunny spring afternoon and romantic dinner engagements.

Blouses to wear with these taffetas or any of the many new suits are literally filling the best shops. You see fascinating new ideas every shopping trip. The blousemakers have quite outdone themselves, for never in the history of fashion have so many appealing new models been available.

Crisp white eyelet embroidery fashions a stunning new blouse with a face framing collar of wide cut-out design, short sleeves and a narrow belt. It is a duplicate of the effective original Loretta Young wears in the movie "The House of Rothschild" and after the first peek you will want it for keeps.

Because of the fashion revival of sheer white lingerie blouses, the tailored, or simple lace trimmed all white costume slips and even foundation garments have also returned. These white things will tub cheerfully without showing the strain of water, soap, and iron. There are some well made white underlayers in step-in or one-piece styles with gleaming white satin shoulder straps that can be renewed at any time of need. The satin of the foundation is washable. Slim, cleverly cut costume slips are made in much the same unadorned manner. So if you are one of the many who have enthusiastically welcomed this white flurry of blouses, the proper white underlayers are now ready for your every need.

5,000 Music Teachers' Biennial Conference to Start Here Today

Five thousand music teachers from throughout the United States will convene at the Stevens hotel today for the fourth biennial conference. Daily sessions will be held throughout Friday. William J. Bogan, superintendent of the Chicago schools, will be the official guest of honor. The conferences will be held at the Stevens and at the Auditorium hotels.

A preliminary meeting of the music education council was held yesterday. During the afternoon students of Chicago's elementary schools presented a concert and last night Mrs. Frances E. Clark, founder of the conference, gave a talk. She told of the beginning of the organization 27 years ago and of its value to the cultural life of the communities which it serves.

Mr. Bogan will deliver the address of welcome this morning. His topic will be "Music as a Fundamental in General Education." Dr. Walter H. Butterfield of Providence, R. I., will speak, as will Lorado Taft, the sculptor, who will talk on the "Problems of Leisure."

Next Friday the orchestra of Lane Technical High school, under the direction of Oscar Anderson, will take part in a music festival by a teachers' choir of 500, augmented by 1,000 voices from the audience.

Among today's concert features of the conference will be a program by the Harrison Technical High school band at 11 o'clock and one by the woodwind ensemble of the University of Wisconsin, both in the ballroom of the Stevens hotel. Tonight's concert at the Auditorium will be by Chicago high school organizations, including the Marshall orchestra conducted by Merle Isaac, the Roosevelt symponic choir and chorus, an all-Chicago girls' chorus, and the Schurz choristers.

Fox River Club to Meet.

The monthly meeting of the Service club of Fox River Sanatorium will be held at 12:30 today in a restaurant at 308 South Michigan avenue.

Baby Chick.

BY NANCY CABOT.

DETROIT WHIPS HAWKS, 5-2; PROLONGS SERIES

12,000 See Chicago Even Series.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The fireballing Lon Warneke and the mauling Charles [Tiger] Klein yesterday fixed a vise that enabled the Cubs to give Washington's champion Senators a painful pinch in the final of a two game pre-season series at Wrigley field. With about 12,000 clamoring for something better than was revealed on Saturday, Warneke delivered some excellent pitching and Klein a few samples of choice hitting. This was sufficient to flatten the American league titleholders, 5 to 2, for an even break in the two days of exhibiting.

Klein made the afternoon pleasant for himself and others, excluding the Senators, by getting to base in each of four appearances at the plate. First he singled to no avail. Then he doubled to assist in some run getting. Next he walked to make another run contribution. And finally he banged a homer into the right field seats in the eighth just after Tommy Thomas, a White Sox discard, had shown himself big hearted enough to give up a base on balls. Prior to Thomas' appearance the Cubs had done fairly well for six innings with old General Alvin Crowder.

Likely to Pitch Opener.

Warneke's success with the Senator batters was just about enough to assure him the honor of conducting the league opener next week at Cincinnati. He gave up seven hits, but the first five were scattered through as many innings. One of these was turned into a run because it happened to be a triple with none out. The only inning in which hits were paired against him was the seventh. This inning also produced a run. He wasn't hit safely in the last two innings. Another commendable feature of Warneke's effort was six strikeouts. Three of these were recorded in the sixth.

For the first time this spring Capt. Woody English was back at his old third base work bench for a full game. He played because Augie Galan, the San Francisco rookie and prospective regular, incurred a leg injury on Saturday. The Senators, who slide hard and with spikes high, gave the youngster quite a workout. English made use of his opportunity by singling twice. He lost an extra base drive through sheer robbery by an infielder.

Early Innings Tame.

Until the Senators opened the scoring in the fourth, the activity of the various hitters was strictly limited. Each side produced two hits in the first three innings.

The big item in Washington's run in the fourth was a triple to right center by Manager Cronin. Warneke lost his aim and plunked Schulte on the right arm with a pitched ball. The blow was severe enough to induce the Belvidere, Ill., notable to retire for repairs, Harris taking over the job. Kuhel bounced into a forceout of Harris at second, and this gave Cronin a chance to score.

English Starts Cub Action.

English led off in the fourth with a drive that handcuffed Cronin. The manager recovered and made a quick throw to first, but the ball went into the dugout, letting the Cub captain go to second. Billy Herman hoisted a high fly into right center, but Harris wasn't in the right place, so it dropped for a double, English stopping at third. Cuyler's fly to center scored English. Then Klein ran into a big bargain. His fly to short center fell for a two bagger, Billy Herman scoring.

Serious threats came from two directions in the fifth, but nothing happened to alter the Cubs' 2 to 1 lead. In the Senators' half Stone doubled with two out. The bags were filled on passes to Manush and Cronin. Warneke then fanned Harris.

Jurges led off in the Cubs' half with a double to left and Hartnett walked. This seemed a fine opportunity until Warneke bounced into a double play

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

El Paso, Tex., April 8.—When Al Simmons hits the White Sox go places. This little axiom was demonstrated in a great big way today. Al knocked a homer, a triple, and double and drew a pass and the Sox gave the Pittsburgh Pirates a wicked licking, 11 to 3, in the ninth game of the series. A capacity crowd of 7,500 saw Simmons and his mates put on their big power show.

The spectacle from the Chicago viewpoint was pleasing in its pitching phase as well as in the offensive. Whit Wyatt pitched six innings and allowed four hits, three of which came in the second inning after the side should have been retired but wasn't because of a painful fumble by Luke Appling. Joe Heving pitched the last three innings and also allowed four hits and the only earned run negotiated by the National leaguers.

After Al, a Bull Fight.

The Sox still trail, 5 to 4, in the spring series with the Pirates.

The two teams are confronted with five one day stands to take the Sox into Chicago next Saturday morning. In the game in Albuquerque tomorrow, Sam Jones will be pitted against Ralph Birkofer.

After each side had been retired in order in the first inning the Pirates grabbed off two unearned runs in the first half of the second inning. With one out, Appling fumbled Vaughan's easy grounder after it had bounced right into his glove. Suhr was called out on strikes, then Vaughan stole second, whence he scored on Lavagetto's single to center. Grace doubled over Bordagaray's head, scoring Lavagetto. Smith singled to center, but Grace was out at the plate, Uhalt to Ruel.

Sox Get 'Em All Back.

The Sox scored one run and had the bases full in their half of the second when the Pirates snuffed out the enterprise with a double play. Simmons doubled off the fence in left center and Appling walked. The runners moved up on Dykes' sacrifice and when Kress caromed a single off Lavagetto's face Simmons scored and Appling took third. Kress stole second and Ruel walked, filling the bases. Wyatt then hit into the double play, Vaughan to Lavagetto to Suhr.

A tense moment in the Blackhawks' failure last night. Lionel Conacher (behind net) started a rush on which he hoped to tie the score for the Hawks in the third period. He got down around the goal, but had to pass out to Hawk Forwards Paul Thompson (extreme left), Mush March, No. 5, and Lolo Couture, No. 7. Aurie, Detroit forward and star in the triumph which gave the Wings their first game of the series, is maneuvering in to help Goalie Wilf Cude, poised in the cage. If this foray had succeeded, the Hawks might have won the game and the Stanley cup. As it is they have to make another attempt tomorrow night. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Dawson Gets 223 to Win Midwest Golf

French Lick, Ind., April 8.—[Special.]—George Dawson of Glen Oak today won the annual midwest medal play tournament at French Lick Springs Golf club for the second straight year. George finished his third trip around the course with a 76, four strokes over par, for a 54 hole total of 223.

Dawson was two strokes ahead of Jack Westland of Sunset Ridge, who finished second. Wilford Wehrle of Racine, the early leader, was third with 227. Wehrle took an 81 on his final round.

When Dawson, Wehrle, and Ernest Schildberg Jr. of the North Shore Golf club started in the afternoon, Wehrle had 146 and the other two were tied at 147.

Westland Out in Front.

Jack Westland had played in the morning and finished with 225, Lehman was in with 228, and Chick Evans had missed four short putts to count 75 and total 231. Thus the three contenders knew what they had to beat.

They were away to a poor start, Schildberg and Dawson getting 6's and Wehrle a 7. For eight holes they remained nearly even, Schildberg having 34, Dawson 35, and Wehrle 36. Then came the break as at the 335 yard ninth hole Dawson's second shot landed five feet from the pin, and he holed out for a birdie 3. The two youngsters failed to reach the green with their seconds, Schildberg taking a 6 and Wehrle a 5.

Dawson lost a shot to Wehrle at the 10th hole, but from that point on the issue was never in doubt, as George shot the remaining eight holes in par. Wehrle played gamely, but took 40, and Schildberg blew several shots, taking 46. His 86 total put him well down the list.

Award Class A Prizes.

Winners of low net prizes in class A were V. Grimm of Lincolnshire, A. H. Kimball of Kildeer, and John D. Ames of Glen View.

H. L. Wenner, Elgin				250

Laurie Aurie, leading scorer of the Detroit team, who led the fight against the Hawks last night with two goals, gets his first one and the Wings' second in the first period, putting the league champions ahead. Gardiner was out of the net when the disc whizzed past him, coming to rest in the corner of the cage.

George Ball Takes Indoor Tennis Title

George Ball, Northwestern university freshman, won the 1934 men's singles crown in the western indoor tennis tournament at the 108th Engineers' armory, West 34th street and Wentworth avenue, yesterday when he defeated Eugene Quinn, Chicago, in a four set match, 6-4, 1-6, 6-3, and 6-4. Ball succeeds Bill Parkhill, 1933 champion, whom he eliminated in the semi-finals Saturday.

The women's title was won by Louise Hofmeister, Chicago, when she upset Catherine Wolf, 6-1, 9-7. In the men's doubles division, the team of George O'Connell and Quinn defeated Frank O'Connell and Dave Krieger. The Quinn-O'Connell team won the title in 1933.

Ball, who comes from El Paso, Tex., encountered little difficulty in winning from the Chicagoan. Only in the second set was he troubled by Quinn's drives and services. In the other sets, the Northwestern player, who had been seeded fifth in the draw, employed a well placed chop stroke and a tantalizing service to excellent advantage, winning with comparative ease.

In the third set Quinn staged a temporary rally when, with the score 5-1 against him, he took two games. Ball turned back this threat with a series of perfect placements and service aces to win at 6-3. He pulled away to an early lead of 4-0 in the final set.

GROVE BELIEVES HE HAS CURE FOR HIS AILING ARM

Birmingham, Ala., April 8.—(AP)—Manager Stanley Harris of the Boston Red Sox said today that apparently the source of trouble with Robert Moses Grove's $100,000 pitching arm had been located in infected teeth.

Grove's teeth were x-rayed this morning and three of them were found to be abscessed. A dentist extracted two uppers and a third must be removed later.

"I believe that will clear up the trouble," said Harris.

A Bit of Spring and Golfers Flock to Links

Thousands of golfers in Chicago and its suburbs took advantage of the spring weather yesterday to play their first golf of the season. Crowds were out on practically every private course in the district and the Chicago Daily Fee association reported that 4,000 played at the nine public courses which opened yesterday.

LAYDEN SERVES MEMORIAL MASS FOR K. K. ROCKNE

Notre Dame, Ind., April 8.—[Special.]—Members of the Notre Dame club of the St. Joseph valley attended a memorial mass and communion breakfast in memory of the late Knute Rockne this morning.

The mass was said by the Rev. P. H. Dolan at the shrine of St. Olaf in Dillon residence hall. Elmer F. Layden, director of athletics, served the mass. Father Dolan and Layden spoke at the breakfast in the university dining halls.

WINGS GET 3 GOALS IN THIRD PERIOD RALLY

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The Stanley cup and the world's championship, which the Blackhawks so hastily claimed was Chicago's for the first time in the town's hocky career, has not found a resting place—yet.

A revived Detroit Red Wing team, which came to the Chicago Stadium loser and apparently outclassed in the first two games of the championship series, saw to that last night by whipping the Hawks, 5 to 2, in the presence of 18,000 fans.

The Wings saved the proof of their resurrection for the third period when they blasted three goals past Chuck Gardiner, after the Hawks had tied the score at 2 to 2 in the second period. The Hawks amazed the Wings and the house by scoring the first goal of the evening in 28 seconds of the first period. Paul Thompson got it on assists from Mush March and Doc Romnes. The crowd settled back and waited for its team to go on from there with a sample of the hocky it had played in Detroit.

A Wee Bit Short.

It was there, but not quite enough of it. At least there wasn't enough to daunt the courageous Wings, who played desperately. Not even the fact that 24 year old Wilf Cude, the Welshman who minds the Detroit cage, suffered a broken nose in the second period, detained the Wings from hanging on to their last hope of victory. Cude, incidentally, played a great game, particularly after his accident, making 42 stops.

Not the least of the Detroit heroes was Laurie Aurie, the Wings' leading scorer during the regular season, who came to life for the first time in the series and scored two goals. The first one put his club ahead, 2 to 1, Gordon Pettinger having tied the score at 1 to 1 a few minutes previously. Johnny Gottselig, who played one of his best games of the series, tied it again at 2 to 2 in the second period with the aid of a fine pass from Donnie McCadyen.

Doug Young then scored unassisted to put the Wings ahead with less than eight minutes of the final period remaining. Cooney Weiland, who holds the world's record for individual scoring, then collaborated with Aurie and Capt. Herb Lewis for the Wings' fourth goal. Aurie followed by beating Gardiner again with seven seconds of the game remaining.

Play Tomorrow Night.

The fourth game of the series will be played at the Stadium tomorrow night, and the same lines which gathered outside the Stadium box offices after the Maroon game a week ago were back last night, assuring another capacity house for tomorrow.

Another one of the shuffling stratagems for which Manager Adams has become known was obvious from the opening face off, when Goodfellow, who had played center, his natural position, throughout the two games at Detroit, started at defense with Young. This cunning meant nothing to the Hawks, who proceeded to score the first goal with such amazing rapidity that the customers hardly knew what happened. The Romnes-March-Thompson line was responsible for the achievement within the brief space of 28 seconds.

Romnes stole the starting face off from Wieland and led a couple of profitless dashes against Cude. He regained the puck on the third rush of the game, flipped it to March, who nursed it until Thompson had circled the Detroit defense. Mush then fired it through Goodfellow's legs and Thompson had only Cude to beat from about five feet out.

For several minutes, thereafter, it appeared that the Wings were demoralized and every Hawk line which appeared made the Detroit defense appear helpless. The Wings then suddenly reversed their tactics from a defensive game to a wide open, raring style for which they are noted, a transformation which produced two goals.

WIATER SEEKS 13TH VICTORY AS A PRO TONIGHT

Kracken will be making his first Chicago appearance since 1931 when he met King Levinsky at Sparta stadium. He returned to his home shortly afterward and until a layoff, six months ago, he campaigned successfully around Seattle. He is a tall fellow who weighs 200 pounds, 10 more than Wiater.

Fred Kohler vs. Al Williams [wrestling].

Joey Kleko and Frank Keevil, local junior welterweights, are paired in the six round main event of Johnny Coulon's show tonight at Midway arena, 6115 Cottage Grove avenue. Joe Serletic and George Trapp, welterweights, box five rounds. Jack Kranz, Gary, Ind., heavyweight, will be after his eighth victory in as many pro starts against Jack Robinson. Other matches:

Paddy Waltier vs. Joe Esposito [4], 141.
Hassen Ahmed vs. Mike Mantisch [wrestling].

George Haberski and Sammy Wallace, 130 pounders, have been rematched at Rainbo Fronton, Friday. . . . Lou Vine meets Al Schiarato on the same program. . . . Frank Sigillo, Cicero 135 pounder, has started training for a feature contest April 20 at Cicero stadium. . . . Harry Weiss, athletic director at Franklin park, is making arrangements to present boxing shows at Sparta stadium starting in June.

Young Stuhley, Kewanee, Ill., middleweight, earned a scrap with Karl Ogren at White City Friday by defeating Solly Dukelsky on the south side last week. Inasmuch as Dukelsky had whipped Ogren and the latter had stopped Stuhley in previous engagements, Promoter Mique Malloy plans to match Dukelsky with Friday's winner for a bout April 20.

Aurora Pays $25,500 Due State Today

Robert S. Eddy, president of the Fox Valley Jocky club, today will pay to the Illinois racing commission the $25,500 due as the final installment of the license fee for its twelfth annual spring meeting. Aurora will open the Illinois season May 1.

Under the new amendments to the Illinois racing law, tracks are required to pay 5 per cent of their total license fee when applying for dates, 10 per cent more when racing dates are assigned, and the remaining 85 per cent at least twenty days before the opening of a meeting.

Aurora's license fee, like that of Lincoln Fields, is $1,500 daily—a total of $30,000 for the 20-day meeting.

Will Study License Details.

Another purpose of Eddy's visit to the offices of the commission will be to go over with Chairman Peter B. Carey, the details of the license applications which shortly will begin to pour in at the racetrack. Aurora is serving as the pioneer is handing out the license blanks required by the commission, and most of the licensing for the entire Illinois season will have to be done before the meeting at the Fox Valley course begins.

Horses have been arriving at Aurora steadily during the last week, coming in with the close of the meeting at Miami and Hot Springs. With numerous stables that wintered their horses in the north likewise on hand, the colony at the track now numbers several hundred throughbreds. The read unloading activity will not begin, however, until the meeting now being conducted at the Arlington Downs track in Texas closes a fortnight hence. Hundreds of horses from this meeting, to judge from the aplications for stable room which are being received by Secretary Dick Leigh, will be campaigned at Aurora.

Foundations In for Board.

Work on improvements at the track is going forward steadily. The foundations are in for the 120-foot oddsboard, and by the end of the week the huge structure should be nearing completion. The speeding up of the racing strip itself, including such improvements as the banking of the turns and the installation of a new drainage system, are likewise progressing under the direction of track superintendent Placide Frigeri.

PAWTUCKET TIES SOCCER PLAYOFF; BEATS STIX, 3-2

Providence, R. I., April 8.—(AP)—The Pawtucket Rangers evened the national soccer championship playoff series today by defeating Stix, Baer & Fuller of St. Louis, defending champions, 3 to 2. A third game to decide the series will be played in St. Louis next Sunday.

McIntyre netted for the Rangers in 16 minutes of the first period after smart dribbling on a pass from Martinelli. Jimmy Roe of the St. Louisians dribbled from midfield and punched the ball ahead of the Pawtucket backs. Nilsen was through alone to beat Goalie Conroy and tie the score, which remained knotted until half time.

Gonsalves capped a movement by Roe and Nilsen with a sizzling liner which sent the champions into the lead after six minutes of the second period. McIntyre then steered the ball past Goalie McGowan to deadlock the score at 2 all.

Auld and Florie eluded the Stix on the play leading to the winning goal, and after Florie had spotted the ball to McAuley near the uprights, the Rangers' inside left smacked it just inside the timbers to score the deciding goal eight minutes from the finish.

Brazil Defaults to United States in Cup Finals

New York, April 8.—(AP)—Brazil will not send a team to the United States to challenge the winner of the North American zone for the right to compete in the European interzone Davis cup final, the United States Lawn Tennis association's Davis cup committee announced today.

Brazil's decision to forfeit its place in the All-American interzone final was announced simultaneous with the confirmation of the Wilmington Country club as the site for the matches between United States and Canada, and the selection of the Baltimore Country club courts for the matches between the winner of the Canadian-American series and Mexico.

Financial reasons were believed to have prompted Brazil's withdrawal. Brazil and Peru challenged in the South American zone. Later Peru defaulted to Brazil.

The matches between United States and Canada will be played over a three day period commencing May 24.

High Goal Polo Teams Will Clash for Title

Finals in the 7 to 12 goal class and a semi-final in the less than 7 goal bracket will bring the western indoor polo tournament toward its climax Wednesday night at the 124th Field Artillery armory, 52d street and Cottage Grove avenue.

Two teams of north shore army officers will appear in the double header, the Fort Sheridan trio facing the 122d Field Artillery in the evening's opening game for low goal honors, and the Sixth Corps Area, led by Capt. A. [Doc] Wilkinson playing the Cleveland Riding club for the 7 to 12 goal title.

Lieut. Art Zimmerman and Carl Johnson of the 122d Field Artillery will enter the duel with Fort Sheridan without the services of their teammate, Lieut. Cliff Harrison, who is out for the season with a broken leg following a mixup last Wednesday night with John Bowers' low goal Chicago Riding club trio. Who will replace Lieut. Harrison has not been announced, although fans are picking Lieut. Don Rice, who substituted for him after his accident.

The Fort Sheridan camp is counting heavily upon the return of Capt. C. B. Cole for a victory over the artillery team. Capt. Cole, who was injured during the season, has rounded into the form that made him top scorer in the 1933 Metropolitan league campaign, when on several occasions he rolled up 8 goal totals in single games. Lieuts. R. C. [Red] Cooper and E. C. Greiner, the other two mainstays on the team from Fort Sheridan, will probably ride into battle with Capt. Cole.

Defeated only once this season, Sixth Corps Area appears a hard trio to beat in the championship encounter Wednesday.

Recovering from a severe injury two months ago, when he sustained a dislocated shoulder and broken collar bone, Herb Lorber, 5 goal star, has been taking light workouts with the hope of being able to compete in the senior and open national matches later in the month.

THAT is what drivers say of the New Ford V-8 Truck. They know what it can do because they have driven it on all kinds of roads. Taken it up hills with a full load. Watched how it comes through when the going gets tough.

"It has the stuff to do more than it's supposed to do," they'll tell you. "Extra power to tackle the hard jobs. Extra strength to take a beating day after day. You know you're driving a real truck when you drive this Ford V-8."

Take the experience of drivers—check up actual cost records—put the New Ford V-8 Truck through every test you know and you'll find that it is the truck for your business.

It proved what it could do in 1933 and we've put still greater ruggedness, reliability and efficiency into it for 1934. This New Ford V-8 Truck is the sturdiest truck that Ford has ever built—and the most economical. Dynamometer tests show that the Ford V-8 engine delivers a greater output of horsepower per gallon of fuel than any Ford truck engine ever built.

Here are some of the important features of the New Ford V-8 Truck. New full floating rear axle. New copper lead connecting-rod bearings. New truck-type cylinder heads, with newly designed combustion chambers. New dual carburetion. New waterline thermostats. New distinctive appearance. Reliable clutch. Safe, effective brakes.

We invite you to see this New Ford V-8 Truck at the showrooms of the nearest Ford dealer and let him show you how and why it can save you money on every hauling and delivery job.

DESTRUCTION OF HEDGEROWS IRKS NATURE LOVERS

Ohio Condemns Burning Practice.

BY BOB BECKER.

During the last month conservationists and outdoor fans have been filing complaints against the indiscriminate burning and destruction of fence rows and hedgerows in the country. Along with the individual complaints has come a broadside issued by the state of Ohio condemning the burning. It urges outdoor fans and farmers not to touch a match to every marsh covered with dead grass, fences and hedgerows.

The Ohio conservation department points out that agricultural authorities have shown repeatedly that burning does not destroy weed seeds and bring grass up quicker. On the contrary, fire destroys plant roots and weakens the stand of grass, thus defeating the purpose of the landowner.

Squads Kill Roadside Trees.

Between the execution of roadside trees and shrubs as carried out by CWA squads working on our highways and the burning fence row epidemic, it soon will be necessary to promote a shrub and tree planting campaign in the country. If not, we can stay in Chicago and look at elm and catalpa trees in our parks.

The "manicure the highway" operations of the CWA gangs have killed thousands of sumac, wild crab and other useful and decorative plants which formerly lined our roads. In some instances indignant citizens have risen in their wrath and forced a stop to the cutting down of shrubs and trees. In most cases, however, the axes and shovels have made a clean sweep of the highway shoulders and ditches.

Double Loss to Highway.

We have a hunch that this careful grooming is going to inflict a double loss along the highway. The natural growth has been lost and, when heavy rains come, we believe erosion is going to do some damage to all that smooth, carefully groomed earth with no sod or shrubbery to hold it.

Members of the Friends of Our Native Landscape, of which Jens Jensen is president, have been protesting against the ruthless destruction of native shrubs and trees along the highways. C. B. Andrews, secretary of the organization, says that "after years during which cutting, burning and destruction has been practiced along our roads, the result has been to encourage obnoxious weeds, such as thistles and ragweed, which replace the former growth and necessitate more maintenance cost."

Mr. Andrews protests against the use of foreign shrubs in whatever plantings are made along our highways. He urges native plants, climatically fitted to our country, be used instead of "unnatural hodge podges of foreign introductions."

PHILS BEAT A'S, 8-1, IN 1ST LEGAL SUNDAY CONTEST

Opening of City Series Attracts 22,000.

Philadelphia, Pa., April 8.—(AP)—Making their home town debut, the revamped Phillies trimmed the made-over Athletics, 8 to 1, today in the first of the annual five game spring series for the city championship.

The game was Philadelphia's first legalized Sunday baseball since Sabbath sport was authorized by the voters last November. About 22,000 fans turned out.

Haslin Gets 4 Hits.

The Athletics put three Oklahoma league hurlers on parade. Vernon Kennedy in three innings was tagged for three runs; Al Benton allowed one single in two innings and struck out three Phils in a row; Harry Matuzak gave up four runs in three innings. Tim McKeithan worked one inning and yielded one run.

Moore Pitches 5 Innings.

Moore pitched well for five innings for the Phils, although the Athletics got their one run while he was hurling. Davis yielded three hits in finishing the game.

DETROIT, 5; MONTREAL, 4.

Lakeland, Fla., April 8.—(AP)—It took the Detroit Tigers 12 innings to turn back the Montreal Royals today, Pitcher Elden Auker winning his own game, 5 to 4, with a home run.

The International league team was leading by one run with two Tigers out in the last half of the ninth when Marvin Owen hit a home run to tie the score. In the twelfth, Auker, who relieved Frasier after the fifth, said as he left the bench to bat: "This thing has gone far enough. I'm going to blast one over the fence and end it." He did.

DODGERS, 13; BROWNS, 10.

Jacksonville, Fla., April 8.—(AP)—Brooklyn Dodgers won today from the St. Louis Browns, 13 to 10, before a large crowd that turned out to give an ovation to the Dodgers' catcher, Al Lopez, a local boy.

The Dodgers jumped into an early lead, scoring three runs in each the third and fourth innings. They steadily increased their advantage until they led the Browns, 13 to 3, in the ninth.

St. Louis (A.)	110	000	017—10 14 2

BRAVES BEAT BALTIMORE.

Baltimore, Md., April 8.—(AP)—The Boston Braves defeated the Baltimore Orioles, 16 to 6, here today.

NASHVILLE, 6; YANKEES, 5.

Nashville, Tenn., April 8.—(AP)—For the second time in as many days, Charley Dressen's Nashville Volunteers of the Southern association defeated the New York Yankees today, 6 to 5.

Nashville hit Russ Van Atta for five runs before a man was retired in the first inning, Dutch Prather's homer with two on featuring the uprising. What proved to be the winning run came in the sixth when Jay Partridge drove out another homer off Van Atta.

Doubles by Crosetti and Ruth and singles by Rolfe and Van Atta, coupled with a pass to Hoag, gave the Yankees four runs in the fourth inning. Their last run came in the seventh on a walk, a force out and Crosetti's double. Score:

GIANTS, 18; CHICKS, 1.

Memphis, Tenn., April 8.—(AP)—The New York Giants regained championship form today, and with Carl Hubbell going the full route, defeated the Southern association Memphis Chicks, 18 to 1. The Giants scored all their runs before the Chicks were able to get a runner across home plate.

MOON MULLINS—THE UNDERCOVER MAN

19 consecutive games with his third successive double of the El Paso visit, scoring Uhalt with the tying run. Simmons walked. Then, with the count three balls and two strikes on Appling, the runners were under way with Smith's next pitch. Grace apparently thought the pitch was a strike and started to hrow to third to get Bonura. When he heard Umpire Pfirman call a ball Grace tried to stop the throw, but the ball slipped out of his hand and rolled to the stands, Bonura scoring, Simmons taking third and Appling second. Dykes grounded to Vaughan and Simmons was out at the plate, Vaughan to Grace, Appling reaching third. Kress was safe on Traynor's high throw, Appling scoring. Ruel flied to Lindstrom, ending the inning.

Simmons Finds Range.

Simmons opened the Sox' fifth with the Chicagoan's second homer of the current tour, a great smack over the far distant center field fence, above the spot where he hit his double in the second inning.

Lindstrom was safe on Appling's fumble to start the sixth, though it appeared to many that Luke had recovered in time to make the putout. The game was delayed while the Sox voiced a concerted but futile protest to Umpire Tobin. P. Waner then walked, but Traynor hit into a double play, Wyatt to Appling to Bonura. Vaughan lined to Uhalt.

Ruel walked to start the Sox' big sixth and Swanson batting for Wyatt, also drew a pass. Uhalt sacrificed, Smith to Lavagetto, and on Bordagaray's fly to P. Waner, Ruel scored and Swanson took third. Bonura was hit by a pitched ball and took second on a passed ball. Simmons then added a triple to his collection with the longest smack of the day, a shot to left. Swanson and Bonura scored on Al's effort. Appling popped to Lavagetto.

What a Ball Club!

Heving went in to pitch the seventh. After he had fanned Suhr and Dykes had thrown out Lavagetto, Grace and Padden delivered successive singles. The inning ended with L. Waner's bounce to Bonura. The Sox then gave Harris a merry welcome. Dykes singled to center, Kress grounded to Harris. Harris attempting a force play, threw the ball into center field, Dykes reaching third and Kress first. Ruel singled to left, scoring Dykes and putting Kress on third. Then Heving singled to right, Kress scoring and Ruel stopping at second. Uhalt beat out a bunt, filling the bases. Bordagaray popped to Young, but Bonura sent a long fly to L. Waner, Ruel scoring. Simmons filed to Roettger.

Jensen opened the eighth with a double to center and got home on a couple of infield outs for the third Pirate score. The Sox eighth was uneventful except for Kress' single, which made it an even dozen hits for Chicago.

CLEVELAND MEN LEAD IN ELKS' BOWLING MEET

Cleveland, O., April 8.—(AP)—Cleveland bowlers held theiead in both team and doubles divisions of the Elks' national tournament here tonight as their guests from the middle west, east, and south chalked up scores in the two weeks' old contest. The tournament ends April 15.

U. S. ARMY POLO SQUAD DEFEATS MEXICANS, 12-4

MEXICO CITY, April 8. — (AP) — An American army polo team defeated a Mexican army team, 12 to 4, today in an exciting game, in which Capt. L. K. Truscott, No. 3 on the invading team, escaped serious injury in a spectacular spill.

Riding for the ball in the first chukker, Truscott was thrown heavily when his horse fell in the midst of a group of mounted players. The horse broke its neck and died. Although badly shaken, Capt. Truscott continued to play through the second chukker, when he was relieved by Lieut. C. N. McFarland.

Maj. C. C. Smith, playing No. 2 for the Americans, led the scoring with six goals. In the fifth chukker he scored four times in quick succession and then drove a ball between the American goal posts to give the Mexicans one of their four goals.

CHICAGO QUINTET BEATS M. B. C. TO WIN POLISH TITLE

The Cavaliers of Chicago defeated the M. B. C. team of Buffalo, N. Y., 23 to 21, to win the national Polish Roman Catholic union basketball championship at Holy Trinity High school last night.

M. B. C. rallied in the last two minutes to count four successive field goals, bringing the score to 21 to 19. A setup shot under the basket with thirty seconds of play remaining gave Bronski the opportunity to score the winning points, as S. Zawierucha made a basket to end the scoring.

CARLSON BOWLS 725 TO LEAD IN CLASSIC LEAGUE

Scores in the Classic Bowling league were unusually low last night, Adolph Carlson's 725 series being top. Schwoegler was next with 710. Team totals showed only 8 one thousand games out of 24.

The Baby Ruths kept a firm grip on first place, winning two, as did their nearest competitors, the Old Manhattans.

Jimmy McClure Wins Table Tennis Crown

Cleveland, O., April 8.—(AP)—Jimmy McClure of Indianapolis tonight defeated Billy Condy of Chicago in the finals of the table tennis tournament here, 21-19, 21-11, and 21-17. Ruth Aarons of New York defeated Jay Purves of Des Plaines, Ill., in the final women's singles event. J. R. Leininger of Chicago won the veteran's crown.

Cubs Defeat Senators, 5-2; Even Series

Klein Scores in Sixth.

The Cubs didn't start the sixth as if they had any intentions of scoring, but they wound up with one run, making their advantage 3 to 1. Billy Herman fanned and Cuyler flied to center. Klein walked, possibly because Crowder was a bit afraid of him. Babe Herman sliced a single into left. Grimm singled to center and Klein hurried home. Jurges grounded to Cronin to end the inning.

The Senators scored one in the seventh and might have had more if Warneke, for the moment, hadn't been a better fielder than pitcher. Myer led off with a walk and Stone followed with a fly to Klein. Manush banged one of his typical singles to right, Myer going to third. Cronin rolled into a forceout and Myer scored on the play. Harris revived the action by singling to left. Kuhel then slammed a whistler straight back at Warneke and the lanky Arkansan, instead of ducking and letting it continue into center for a hit, grabbed the ball for a putout at first.

Wham! That's Mr. Klein.

Thomas' first inning of work in the seventh was good enough for ordinary purposes, but in the next Mr. Klein was heard from and the shot reverberated clear to Baltimore, where the Thomas homestead is located. Thomas speared a line drive off Billy Herman's bat to open the eighth and then walked Cuyler. Klein lingered around the plate only long enough to collect one strike and one ball. Then he let go with the low drive that sailed into the right field seats for the last two runs of the afternoon.

The Cubs yesterday sent Don Conrads, the 21 year old Kewanee southpaw, back to his home town. He was taken to the spring camp with the idea of giving him to the Los Angeles club, but the Angels didn't take to the idea.

As a warmup for the so-called preview games among themselves four days this week, the Cubs will assemble at Wrigley field this morning for a thorough workout of hitters and pitchers, especially the latter.

STOEFEN WINS OVER ALLISON IN HOUSTON TENNIS

Houston, Tex., April 8.—(AP)—Lester Stoefen, 23 year old tennis player from Los Angeles, strengthened his bid for a singles position on the United States Davis cup team by overwhelming Wilmer Allison of Austin, 6-2, 6-2, 6-2, in the finals of the River Oaks tournament today.

Miss Jane Sharp of Los Angeles made it a banner day for California players by beating Miss Eugenie Sampson of Chicago, 6-2, 6-3, in the women's finals. Miss Sharp had eliminated Mrs. Mary Greef Harris of Kansas City, fifth ranking player in the United States two years ago, in the semi-finals and she and Mrs. Harris had captured the doubles championship.

Stoefen teamed with Bryan [Bitsy] Grant of Atlanta to beat Allison and George Lott of Chicago, 6-3, 6-4, 2-6, 6-2, in the doubles final. Allison and the Chicagoan had been top seeded.

Makowski Takes Lead in K. of C. Bowling Meet

Milwaukee, Wis., April 8.—(AP)—J. Makowski of the Englewood council, Chicago, today bowled 670 pins to take the lead in the singles event of the Knights of Columbus national bowling tournament. Makowski displaced E. Baumhart, also of Chicago, who had been leading with 657. The five man team lead is held by De Soto No. 1 of Chicago with 2,916.

N. U. Co-Ed Added to Skate Card at Stadium Sunday

Miss Berger, a senior at Northwestern university and president of the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority, last winter qualified for the United States national figure skating finals.

Speed skating also will have its part of the program. Among the entrants is Leo Freisinger, winner of every important title race he participated in this season. Leo broke five records in winning the national intermediate championship at Minneapolis Jan. 20. Others who will participate are Eddie Stundl, world indoor 500 meter record holder; Eddie Schroeder, Helen Bina, and Elizabeth Dubois.

The committee of prominent Scandinavians who will be Miss Sonja Henie's patrons during her stay in Chicago are as follows:

Oscar B. Mathisen, John Sonsteby, chief judge of the municipal court; Judge Alfred O. Erickson, Anton O. Satrang, Victor O. Karlsen, Arne E. Williamson, L. H. Lund, Reider Rye Haugan, Martin Arnesen, Henry Tolzien, Arnie Sorlie, Erwin Larsen, Thor Westby, N. Ellingson.

Mrs. G. Mathisen, Jens F. Paasche, Frank M. Kalleaux, president of the Amateur Skating union; Mr. Forsberg, Finnish consul; Andrew Ellingsen, Norwegian American A. All National Champs Enter A. A. U. Swim

Swimming stars from all parts of the country will compete in the women's senior national A. A. U. meet at the Lake Shore Athletic club this week. The meet opens Wednesday and continus until Saturday.

Several invitational events for the outstanding men swimmers will be held in conjunction with the meet. Jack Medica, University of Wasnington star, will attempt to set records for events from 440 to 1,000 yards.

Champs Are Entered.

Defending champions in all events are entered in the women's meet. In the free style events Lenore Kight of Homestead, Pa., rules as the favorite in each event she has entered. Miss Kight's principal opposition will come from Emma Shemaitis and Marian Dose of the home club; Helen Lee Smith of Indianapolis; Hazel Brooks, Doris Buckley, and Olive McKean of Seattle; Betty Bachelor of Toronto, and June Burr of Miami.

Eleanor Holm Jarret of New York has been swimming close to record time in preparation for the back stroke competition and is the pre-meet favorite in these events. Katherine Rawls of Miami Beach, Fla., will divide her efforts between diving, the back stroke, and the individual medley events.

Big Relay Field.

The fastest competition in years is predicted in the relay events with teams entered from the Lake Shore A. C., Washington A. C. of Seattle, Women's Swimming association of New York, the Carnegie Library club of Homestead, Pa., the Indianapolis A. C., and the Jewish People's institute.

Wings Defeat Hawks, 5-2, to Extend Series

ner, scoring in six minutes and seven seconds. He had gone down with Carson and Starr and after they had indulged in a bit of closeup passing he flicked the puck by Gardiner, drawing the latter out of his cage.

This seemed to be all the Wings needed in the way of inspiration for they returned even more savagely and at 8:40 Aurie sent the disc by Gardiner again, with Buswell, who was playing an exceptional game for Detroit, being credited with an assist.

The tempo of the first five minutes of the second period was entirely different from that in the first session, both teams playing a more cautious game.

The Romnes-March-Thompson line gave the house its first opportunity to roar, Thompson twice passing to Romnes in front of the Detroit cage. Both occasions were fruitless. Pettinger, Carson, and Starr answered this by annoying Gardiner, but they also were unsuccessful.

The Hawks were presented with another opportunity in the 13th minute, when Conacher, taking the puck on a solo rush along the left side of the rink, was tripped by Graham, who was promptly sent to the penalty box.

Cude's Nose Broken.

While Graham was still doing time, the Wings lost Cude, whose head struck the goal post during a mad battle in front of the cage, in which Gottselig, Couture, and McFadyen lined the puck at him from every angle. The young Detroit goalie was stretched out on the ice for nearly two minutes before he was carried below for medical attention, and the game was suspended for 10 minutes, with five minutes of the period remaining.

When the two teams skated onto the ice again it was revealed that Cude had suffered a broken nose, the second schnozzle fracture of the series, Cooney Wieland having sustained one in the first game at Detroit.

The house became a bedlam at 18 minutes and 7 seconds, when McFadyen and Couture maneuvered the puck about and Gottselig finally drove it into the left side of the Detroit cage.

The third period opened with Gottselig and Starr in the bastile for a term of one minute and 24 seconds.

Gardiner and the Chicago defense were pressed to the utmost to stop the Wings when Abel was sent off for checking Welland into the right boards.

Gardiner Is Fooled.

When Abel was finally released, the Wings resumed their front line play and Young, skating just across the blue line, let one fly. Gardiner apparently was not expecting such an effort, for he was standing up when the puck flew by him for the third Detroit goal in 13 minutes and 50 seconds.

While the Hawks were keeping one eye on the clock and the other on the puck, the Wings were forgetting the time and reaping their fourth goal. Welland scored it on passes from Aurie and Lewis in 13 minutes and 20 seconds. With one minute to play, Graham was penalized for charging and the Hawks went to the business of attempting to score two goals in 60 seconds. With seven seconds left to go, Aurie lined his second goal of the evening past Gardiner, who came out halfway to the blue line in an attempt to stop the Detroit forward. The time was 19:53.

DETROIT BOWLER TAKES LEAD IN A.B.C. ALL-EVENTS

Wally Reppenhagen Piles Up 1,972 Total.

Peoria, Ill., April 8.—[Special.]—Wally Reppenhagen of Detroit, who scored 634 with the Stroh Bohemians as they took first place in the five man event of the American Bowling congress tourney last night, followed with a doubles total of 703 and a 636 singles score to wrest the all events lead from Clyde Wells of Columbus late today with a 1,972 total. Reppenhagen scored games of 187, 224, 223 in the team event; 234, 233, 235 in the doubles; 213, 244, 179 in the singles.

Wildoy, Baum Are Tenth.

Joe Wildoy and Sidney Baum, New York, totaled 1,274 for tenth, while Gurnsey Abraham and Alfred Vandewalle, South Bend, Ind., scored 1,273, third high on the afternoon card.

Today's bombardment produced several big totals. Two games of 279 and one of 278 were registered on the fourth shift in the doubles event. Joe Falcare, undefeated match champion, rolled eight consecutive strikes in starting his second game in the doubles, but left the number 10 pin on a solid hit in the ninth and then struck out for 279. Sidney Baum, New York, hit the same figure and Joe Porters, another New Yorker, counted 278.

Treasury Financing and Easy Money Factors.

New York, April 8.—(AP)—The bond market responded rather buoyantly last week to the treasury's new conversion offering and one average for 60 domestic corporate loans jumped to another high for the last two years or more.

Details of the April 15 refunding plan appeared to be highly pleasing to the financial district. The inflationary element was wholly absent in the government's proposal to exchange new 12 year 3¼ per cent bonds for some $1,000,000,000 of called Liberty fourth 4¼s and more than $244,000,000 of treasury notes. No cash subscriptions were involved.

Best Levels of Year.

The majority of listed government bonds immediately advanced to their best levels of the year or longer, with the called liberty series selling at 101.15. As the week ended reports from Washington were that holders of the series which are to be retired the middle of this month apparently were receiving the exchange offer with satisfaction.

As there are still about $4,362,000,000 of the fourth 4¼s outstanding, there were some expectations in banking quarters that the authorities might, in the event of the success of the new conversion offer, decide to retire other series. If further Liberties are to be called on Oct. 15, notice must be given on April 15. Holders of the called bonds, of course, will be paid in cash if they do not want the lower yield issue.

Easy Money Factor.

Renewed interest in the loan market was also attributed to easy money conditions and to hopes that the securities act of 1933 will be modified. The idle money situation was further stressed on Friday by dealers in bankers acceptances who announced the abandonment of efforts to preserve a uniform scale of quoted bid and asked rates for this form of credit. Pressure of excess reserves in New York, dealers said, made it impossible to sustain the former scale of acceptance yields. It was reported that yield rates quoted ranged from one-eighth to one-quarter per cent, cutting under the official rates, and establishing the lowest figures in the history of acceptance dealings.

McGraw Electric March Sales Far Above Year Ago

Sales of McGraw Electric company for March were 309 per cent of sales in March, 1933, Max McGraw, president, announced yesterday. Preliminary estimates indicate that net earnings for the 12 months ended March 31, 1934, will approximate $1 a share, Mr. McGraw said. For the year ended Dec. 31, 1933, the company earned 44 cents a share, compared with a net loss of $269,124 in the year ended Dec. 31, 1932.

Baldwin Locomotive Works.

Investors' Guide: I would appreciate very much any information you may have regarding Baldwin Locomotive Works.—W. H. J.

Answer: Although this second largest locomotive manufacturer is primarily dependent on the sale of locomotives for its profits, it has accomplished considerable diversification of output during recent years. Most of its subsidiary business is heavy castings. It also produces Diesel engines, refrigerative equipment and hydraulic turbines.

In the absence of purchases by railroads, however, these lines have not been able to provide sufficient business to enable the company to avoid heavy losses. Railroad purchases were practically at a standstill during 1933 and 1932. The opening months of 1934, however, brought a ray of hope with the government's announcement of its willingness to lend money to railroads to be used to purchase equipment. In view of the fact that probably most of the locomotives in use today are not nearly as efficient as new equipment, potential demand appears large.

With bookings in the first two months of 1934 more than four times as great as in 1933 and shipments about 50 per cent above January and February, 1933, unfilled orders on Feb. 28, 1934, reached their highest level, $6,688,000, since March 31, 1932. The four year record of earnings follows:

1933	$ 8,250,000	$3,858,000	$5.22
1932	10,597,000	4,078,000	6.50
1931	20,436,000	4,123,000	6.55

*Profit.

On Dec. 31, 1933, current assets totaled $14,711,000, about 12 times current liabilities. In March, 1933, the company was successful in refunding $12,000,000 of matured notes, for new 6 per cent notes, issued in a total amount of $14,000,000, to mature March 1, 1938. The new notes have stock purchase warants attached. The indenture behind them provides that nothing can be paid on the company's stock until the new issue should be retired.

There are outstanding, 200,000 shares of 7 per cent cumulative $100 par preferred and 1,054,800 shares of no par common. Nothing has been paid on the preferred since July 1, 1931.

The preferred is speculative. The common is purely speculative.

General Electric.

Investors' Guide: Please give me your opinion of General Electric 5½ per cent bonds due 1942.—A. W. E.

Answer: General Electric 5½ per cent bonds due 1942 are a conservative investment.

HUGE SURPLUS CAUSE OF LOW WHEAT PRICES

Carryover of Billion Bushels Seen.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

An estimate made at the international wheat conference at Rome last week on world carryover of that grain presented in dramatic manner the fundamental cause for distressingly low prices in all of the leading exporting countries.

The report indicated a carryover as of Aug. 1 this year of 1,100,000,000 bushels, or practically the same as the supply on hand last year, when, according to the Leland Stanford university, the holding was the largest on record.

Fairly accurate reports on the United States, Canada, Argentina, and Australia are available every year, as well as on supplies on ocean passage and quantities held at leading English and continental European ports. As the department of agriculture estimates the supply in these positions may be 600,000,000 bushels at the end of the current crop year, the unaccounted for balance of the 1,100,000,000 bushels must be largely in European countries.

Beneficial Rains Received.

Highly beneficial rains fell over the main winter and spring wheat area last week, but are not likely to be reflected in the government report as of April 1 which will be issued Tuesday. In parts of Kansas and Oklahoma sufficient moisture was received to carry the wheat crop for several weeks. An urgent need of moisture is expected to be reported again in the spring wheat region because of a lack of subsoil reserve.

Wheat closed Saturday with May at 86⅝ cents, July at 86½ cents, and September at 87⅜ cents, or net losses for the week of ⅛ to ⅜ cent. Range of prices follows:

	May.	July.	Sept.

Corn Market Dull.

Liquidation continued in May corn with a decline in prices to the lowest level since Nov. 1, 1933, and within 3½ cents of the bottom figure of the season, which was made last October.

May corn closed ¼ cent lower for the week while the distant futures were ⅛ to ⅜ cent higher, with July at 51¼ cents and September at 53⅜ cents. Range of prices follows:

Oats Crop Being Seeded.

More favorable weather resulted in oats seeding resumption over a fairly large area, and rapid progress is expected to be made unless general rains occur. Early planted grain is coming up to a good stand in the southwest. Liquidation by holders of May oats is impending, but the close Saturday was the same as the previous week, with May at 32¾ cents; July and September at 33⅜ cents. Range of prices follows:

Shorts in rye futures were made uneasy by efforts of holders who were said to have asked the government to make investigation of the rye imported from Poland. There are 5,000,000 bushels held at Albany awaiting decision of the treasury department as to whether this rye was bought at sufficiently low prices to prevent Poland from dumping its surplus. The investigation is also on in Poland, and an adverse decision might make it uncomfortable for importers. At the close rye futures were 2¼ to 2¾ cents net higher for the week, with May at 61½ cents and July at 63 cents.

Barley was not wanted to any extent and closed ½ to 1¾ cents lower on a basis of 42¾ cents for May.

ARGENTINA MAY BE GIVEN LARGER WHEAT QUOTA

ROME, April 8.—(AP)—The United States, Australia, and Canada, it was learned reliably tonight, have recognized Argentina's special difficulties under the London wheat export agreement and are willing to grant her a larger quota for 1934-'35 than had previously been set.

At the call of the Argentine delegation, representatives of all four countries met tonight at the hotel of Tomas A. Le Breton, the Argentine delegate to the meeting of the international wheat advisory commission.

Canadian and Australian delegates discussed the Argentine situation this afternoon among themselves. It was learned that these two exporters will adopt the same attitude as the United States—namely: that Argentina should be given a more generous quota on the grounds: first, that she signed the London agreement when the crop was poor, and second, that since then she has developed a surplus of 45,000,000 bushels. A further ground is that Argentina's acreage increase has not been so extraordinary as that of other countries such as Canada and Australia.

Large Issue Filed Under Security Act

Washington, D. C., April 8.—(AP)—The largest issue of securities yet filed under the "truth in securities" act was announced today by the trade commission.

The commission reported a group of registrations totaling $70,000,000, the largest group hitherto announced, and including an issue of $48,100,000, the largest single issue ever filed.

The announcement of the registration came only a day after the Chamber of Commerce of the United States had renewed its criticism of the act as a major factor in hindering a business recovery now well under way. The chamber, in its fortnightly review, said the act, "hastily" passed, had "dried up capital markets."

Information Checked.

Registration of the $70,000,000 does not mean that all these issues will be offered to the public, since the registration statements are carefully checked by the commission to see that they include pertinent information before being allowed to become effective. Up to April 1 between $500,000,000 and $600,000,000 in securities had become effective, while many millions more were kept off the market due to inadequate registrations.

The $48,100,000 issue was filed by Incorporated Investors, an investment trust of Boston, for Incorporated Investors' Voting Trust, which is headed by William Tudor Gardiner, former Republican governor of Maine, chairman of the board. The proposed issue includes voting trust certificates representing 2,500,000 shares of capital stock.

Three Power Companies.

Three power companies were among the registrations announced today. They are Dominion Gas and Electric company., a holding company for several subsidiaries in the western provinces of Canada; Bowater's Canadian Paper corporation, Montreal, a reorganized group having electric and water power operations in addition to its paper production, and Central States Power and Light corporation, Chicago.

Central States, a subsidiary of Utilities Power and Light corporation, a holding company headed by Harley L. Clarke, expects to issue $6,000,000 of 5 per cent unsecured debentures, the proceeds to be exchanged for the surrender for cancelation by Utilities Power and Light of a demand note owned and held by the issuer.

HALSEY-STUART OFFERS 5 MILLION IOWA ROAD BONDS

An unusual offering of municipal bonds is being made by Halsey, Stuart & Co. in its current release of twelve different issues of Iowa county primary road refunding bonds aggregating $5,084,000. The bonds are a part of the refinancing program recently authorized by the general assembly of Iowa.

The bonds are direct and general obligations of the respective issuing counties, and, in addition, the state primary road fund is annually budgeted so that allotments from it are made each year to the several counties and used to pay the annual principal and interest requirements of the bonds. Offering is being made at prices, according to maturities, to yield 1 to 3.40 per cent.

Included in the offering are the following: $901,000 Polk county 3¼s, $433,000 Clinton county 3½s, $560,000 Blackhawk county 3½s, $130,000 Harrison county 3¾s, $452,000 Kossuth county 3¾s, $375,000 Greene county 3s, $278,000 Jasper county 3½s, $200,000 Mahaska county 3¾s, $240,000 Page county 3¾s, $295,000 Wapello county 3¾s, $363,000 Pottawattomie county 3¾s, $857,000 Woodbury county 3¾s.

PECORA UNABLE TO BE COUNSEL IN UTILITY PROBE

Albany, N. Y., April 8.—(AP)—Informed in a telephone conversation tonight with Ferdinand Pecora that other duties would not permit him to accept appointment as counsel for the senate in its investigation of relations between State Senator Warren T. Thayer and a utilities company, Senator William T. Byrne, chairman of the judiciary committee, said tonight negotiations were under way for another counsel.

"We are now endeavoring to procure another counsel," said Senator Byrne, "and we ought to know the result of our negotiations in a few hours."

Senator Byrne said he was under obligation not to reveal his name. Pecora told Senator Byrne that he regretted he could not act as the committee's counsel because of his stock investigating activities in Washington, which, he said, would not be completed for five or six weeks.

269 MILLIONS PAID FOR LIVE STOCK IN FIRST THREE MONTHS

Waterloo, Ia., April 8.—[Special.]—Farmers were paid about $269,000,000 for their live stock in the first quarter of this year, or 30 per cent more than the total of $206,000,000 for the like quarter of last year, John W. Rath, chairman of the board of the Institute of American Meat Packers, declared here today.

The gain is aside from the benefits that may accrue to farmers cooperating in the hog-corn reduction plan, Mr. Rath said. Statistics for March of this year are in part estimates, he explained. Not only was the price per hundredweight for live stock of all kinds higher in 1934 than in 1933 but farmers also marketed larger numbers.

Packers paid $112,000,000 for their cattle in January, February, and March, 1934, compared with $77,000,000 in the same period last year; $14,000,000 for calves, against $10,000,000; $112,000,000 for hogs, against $98,000,000, and $31,000,000 for sheep, against $22,000,000.

AWARD STEEL CONTRACTS IN HEAVY VOLUME

Contracting for steel rose to an expectedly high volume last week in anticipation of price increases of $2 to $8 a ton effective this week, according to the magazine Steel. Tonnage contracted for the second quarter exceeds by 25 per cent that booked in the first quarter and is heavier than that of any second quarter since the depression started, it is estimated.

Although users have been anxious to get all of their quotas for April and specifications have followed new contracting with unusual promptitude the rate of steel works output fell one point last week to 48 per cent of capacity, but may recover this week.

Local Mill Rate Steady.

Local mills held their operations at 43½ per cent, those at Pittsburgh and Birmingham at 36 and 52, respectively. In New England output rose 13 points to 82, in Youngstown one to 55, in eastern Pennsylvania one-half to 35. There was a decline of 12 to 88 at Detroit, 7 to 62 at Wheeling, 5 to 67 at Cleveland, and 2 to 50 at Buffalo.

"While it is difficult to appraise at this time the volume of consumption from the tonnage engaged, sellers have been restraining speculative buying at their expense, with the result they are convinced that business actually reflects a much stronger demand."

Steel price advances, effective this week, include sheets and strip, $5 to $8 a ton; billets and slabs, $3; sheet bars, $4; plates, shapes, bars, $3; plain wire, $3; wire products, $5 to $6, skelp, $2. On the basis of these revisions the journal's composite for finished steel will be $2.30 higher at $54.93, practically the same as in March, 1930.

Pipe Price Boost Seen.

In addition, an increase on pipe is probable. Tin plate has not been raised in price. It has not been decided yet what to do bout the official compromise quotation of $36.37½ on rails, which expires April 15.

Scrap, which has been bought heavily by producers anticipating their needs, has risen, and the new composite is 4 cents higher at $12.21. The price of pig iron has been increased $1 a ton in important markets. Connellsville coke has been boisted 35 cents a ton.

Retail demand for automobiles is still on the upgrade, according to the magazine, and with production scheduled for further expansion in April, manufacturers are contracting for more than 500,000 tons of finished steel.

Railroads are not only releasing material for equipment for which contracts were recently awarded but are also covering their needs for second quarter. The Chicago Great Western is inquiring for 500 steel box cars, and the Lackawanna is ready to place 500 freight cars and 20 locomotives.

SUBSCRIPTIONS TO U. S. 1½ BILLION ISSUE ARE CALLED GRATIFYING

Washington, D. C., April 8.—(AP)—A $550,000,000 response in four days to the government's new billion and a quarter dollar bond issue was announced today by the treasury. Secretary Morgenthau termed subscriptions "gratifying" in giving notice to holders of maturing securities that their opportunity to make an exchange with the government would terminate "within the next few days."

Cash offers are not being received. Only holders of a billion in Fourth Liberty bonds called for April 15 and $244,234,600 in certificates due May 2 may exchange them for the new 10-12 year issue of 3½ per cent bonds.

"While applications for exchange have been coming in with gratifying promptness," Morgenthau said, "it is possible that some holders of the securities eligible for exchange, particularly holders of the called Fourth Liberties, may not realize fully the advantages of making the exchange.

"It is probable also that some holders of the Fourth Liberties have not noticed that their bonds have been called for redemption on April 15 and that payment of interest on them will cease on that date. It is important to them that they should not overlook the advantages of conversion."

Spanish Imports Show Increase in February

Madrid, April 8.—(AP)—Spain imported approximately $15,000,000 worth of goods in February, as compared with $9,500,000 worth in the same month last year, official statistics revealed today. The country exported $10,000,000 in goods, as against $12,000,000 in February, 1933.

FATHER COUGHLIN FAVORS RAYBURN EXCHANGE BILL

Detroit, Mich., April 8.—(AP)—The Rev. Father Charles E. Coughlin, in an address today, described the Fletcher-Rayburn stock market control bill, now before congress, as an attempt to clean out "the augean stables of Wall street" and to limit the activities of "dressed up gangsters."

He announced that next Sunday the bill and other financial phases of the Roosevelt program would be discussed by Prof. Raymond Moley, formerly one of President Roosevelt's monetary advisers; Ferdinand Pecora, chief counsel for the senate banking committee in a number of sensational investigations, and himself. That broadcast will conclude his series for the season, Father Coughlin announced.

Urging enactment of the Fletcher-Rayburn bill, he said that while "most of the brokers are honest" and "Wall street performs a necessary function," it is "sick and wants to cure itself." For that reason, he said, "its shoulders must be slashed with the whip of public castigation."

Board of Trade 86 Years Old; Celebrate Wednesday

The Chicago Board of Trade will observe its 86th birthday next Wednesday noon in the Palmer house. Members of the Chicago Association of Commerce will join with the board in the celebration. Peter B. Carey, president of the grain group, is scheduled to speak on "Lights and Shadows in the Business Mirror."

CHICAGO'S EXPANDED TRADE MAINTAINED, SAYS WEEKLY SURVEY

Local business last week showed none of the subsidence expected after the expansion for Easter, the Chicago Association of Commerce reports.

Retailers said that their turnover on the whole continued at the rate of last month. Taking advantage of the unusually good spring weather and the school holidays, purchasers of clothing, household furnishings, garden equipment and other seasonal lines crowded State street and other retailing districts. Residential repairs made a good market for lumber and paint.

Some phases of wholesale activity improved with the early arrival of some merchants for the spring market week program sponsored by the association. Wholesalers appear unanimous in expecting butter business this year than last, or even than 1931.

Some of the city's larger factories have reported wage increases, according to the association.

Issue Reserve License to Chelsea, Mich., Bank

The Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago has issued a license, at the direction of the secretary of the treasury, to the Chelsea State bank, Chelsea, Mich., a state member bank, which is a consolidation of the Farmers and Merchants bank with the Kempf Commercial and Savings bank, both formerly licensed member banks.

Trade Enters New Quarter with Upturns

New York, April 8.—(AP)—Industry and commerce have moved through the first week of the year's second quarter with volumes still expanding.

Increased purchasing power derived from extensive wage boosts and spurring of the urge to buy by rising prices have inspired high hopes of continuance of commercial gains at least well into this second three-month period of the year, despite the normal tendency toward recession in the weeks leading up to mid-summer.

The automobile industry continued to lead the procession. According to Cram's reports, production last week rose to 89,772 units, an increase of 9,809 over the previous week, and nearly two and a half times the volume for the like week of last year, making it the biggest week since July of 1930.

Retail Trade Maintained.

Retail trade generally continues to hold its gains, despite the expectation of some letdown after Easter, according to Dun & Bradstreet. Wearing apparel continues to move in gratifying volume, and the demand for house wares, hardware, and spring merchandise generally is active. Wholesalers who have recently been experiencing some seasonal curtailment of buying reported a substantial broadening of business in the last few days.

Among the more basic business barometers, freight car loadings, have held up well. The volume for the week ended March 31 was reported at 608,443 cars, off only 19 cars from the previous week, up more than 22 per cent from the like week of last year and nearly 12 per cent from the like period of two years ago.

Loading Index Rises.

Changes from the previous week disclosed a moderate movement of coal. Moody's seasonally adjusted index of carloadings was advanced .2 of one point to 63.8 per cent of the 1923 average, whereas a recession in loadings is expected for the last week of March.

Electric power consumption continues to make the best showing of these statistical barometers. For the last week of March the total was 1,685,650,000 kilowatt hours, a contra-seasonal gain of 7,261,000 over the previous week, which boosted Moody's seasonally adjusted power consumption index by .8 of one point to 108.1 per cent of the 1923 average.

Montevideo to Continue Loan Payment in Pesos

The Guaranty Trust company, paying agent for City of Montevideo series A internal 6 per cent gold bonds due Nov. 1, 1959, announces it has received word that coupons on the bonds will continue to be paid in pesos. The issue, representing a boulevard loan, was outstanding to the amount of $4,816,000 par value on Dec. 31 last.

FEELING IN WALL STREET BULLISH, BROKERS AGREE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 8.—The recovery spirit continues to dominate the share market, although speculation is still held in check by the threat of stringent security exchange regulation and other legislative uncertainties. The "creeping advance" which got under way on March 27 carried through without a break to last Friday night, boosting the combined averages slightly over 6 points, about one-third of the gain being run up last week.

Week-end profit taking shaded the showing a bit in yesterday's dealings, but there was no evidence of liquidation in any quarter and various trading favorites of the move managed to further their recovery fractionally.

Sentiment Is Bullish.

Brokers generally agree that sentiment of the "street" is bullish and if the tinkering lawmakers at Washington, Albany and elsewhere would only give their tired brains a little rest the belief is that the market would hitch on to the forward movement of business and make up for some of the time it has lost since the middle of February when the Fletcher-Rayburn control bill first began to loom as a menace.

The trade recovery, on the face of late returns, has been outrunning the usual seasonal proportions to some extent, but the market has been too preoccupied with its politico-legal troubles to take much stock in figures on earnings increases, upturns in steel and motor output and the continued progress of retail business without the post-Easter lull so widely predicted.

Look for Upturn to Hold.

Some observers profess to see highly encouraging promise of sustained advance of importance in this very action of the market. Prolonged periods of just such activity, they point out, have often been the prelude to a broad recovery movement such as the one touched off last April by the country's abandonment of the gold standard, for instance.

Chart followers say the present market is pretty much counterpart of that of the late winter of last year.

Another encouraging feature is the long advance made by the list without a setback. The eight day move, checked by yesterday's minor setback, was the longest string of successive gains made since the midsummer of 1932.

QUALIFIED PEACE REIGNS IN BRITISH COAL DISTRICTS

Exporting War Ends; Aim at New Fields.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 8.—Peace, like a dove with some tail feathers missing, has abruptly descended on the British coal industry, putting a stop to the war between coal exporting fields which has raged the last two years.

Under threat of drastic government legislation, the central council of colliery owners reached an agreement last week, the ultimate effect of which will be to intensify British coal competition abroad.

During the last two years the four coal exporting districts of South Wales, Durham, Northumberland and Scotland have been dumping excess production on the domestic market by means of coastwise trafic. Both South Wales and Northumberland grabbed big contracts supplying London, thus infuriating Leicestershire and Worcestershire and the climax came when Scottish coal was sent around the coast and dumped in South Wales.

Aim at Foreign Business.

Under the agreement, the coal exporting districts promise to once more turn their attention to foreign markets and surrender a large part, though not all, of the domestic business which they captured. This means redoubled effort to get into the big Canadian market in competition with American coal.

The big banks and the discount market are anything but pleased with the treasury's new $750,000,000 3 per cent funding loan, for it deprives the bill market of that amount of treasury bills. The Midland bank's monthly letter, published the day the new loan was announced, strongly protested against the suggestion that the treasury was planning to fund a large part of its floating debt. The bank argued that the floating debt was functioning as a useful secondary reserve for the entire banking system and had not reached onerous proportions.

Premium Not Likely.

Thus there was a disposition in the city (financial district) to question not only the tactical wisdom of this unexpectedly generous issue, but its actual success as well. Although the loan was fully subscribed in two and a half hours, dealers in the gilt edged market reached the opinion from internal evidence that the subscription from government departments were probably twice those of private and institutional investors.

If so, there will presumably be skiful selling of the new loan over the next few weeks and the chances of reaching a premium are postponed thought the terms are sufficiently generous to insure its standing ultimately well above its issue price of 98. In the meantime it has weakened appreciably other government issues.

LETTERS

How About Al Capone?

Milwaukee, Wis., April 3.—The idea of P. Hosias McSnapberry of Little Big Horn, Wis., that Samuel Insull should become a member of the "brain trust" is fine but why not go further? Now that the discovery aspect of the recovery act is about over let's not be shocked into conservative politics. It is true the Republican party has great ability in its ranks, and in jail, but here is the big opportunity for 1936.

Have Mr. Insull head the Republicans in 1936. He could draft a ticket and platform charged with "interest." He could pursuade John Dillinger to stop playing around and settle down to a life of serious activity. Think what a secretary of the treasury he would make?

While Mr. Insull is so near India, the land of mystics and legerdemain, he could select a good postmaster general who would be able to handle mail contracts with one hand while tossing rabbits with the other.

Mr. McSnaperry thinks it is possible Mr. Insull would be of service to the RFC in some of his complicated intercorporation financial transactions. He cites the buying by the government of bank stock and giving no cash in return but its own debentures. Mr. Insull might give the RFC three walnut shells and little white bean. Of course this must be supervised to keep from "hood wiggin" the public.

Now as to the stock control bill. If these cannot be killed outright let's have them equipped with false teeth. I say this because I have a scheme to make money.

I am securing patents on a nonclosable bank. There are no front doors, simply a cold stone front with a large receptacle similar to that used for night deposits. The customer deposits his money and its gone right away. No waiting, thereby obviating thousands of hours of useless anticipation. There will be a small door on the alley so that officials and furniture can be moved out in a hurry.

W. O. WELCH.

He's Still News.

Chicago, Ill., April 3.—I'll second the motion of Mr. McSnapberry. Furthermore I am on the outlook for a newspaper which omits Insull as first page news. He is getting in my hair.

C. W. STRAWBRIDGE.

Does It Work?

Durban, South Africa, March 2.—Notwithstanding the warning note your paper issues about the risk of currency manipulation, the bogey of inflation stupidity and the nonsensical swindles of printed paper money never has an official attempt been made to issue money exchange under state control which is taxed annually by placing stamps on the face of the note. A 5 per cent annual tax would necessitate each generation becoming responsible for its own monetary troubles.

Once issued such currency would become "infinite money" and would immediately alleviate taxation in all other directions. By being forced into perpetual circulation it will, under the system, overcome unemployment, depression and poverty, culminating in the Utopia of which the world has talked for many centuries.

BANK DEPOSITS RISE AS RESULT OF U. S. FINANCING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 8.—The expansion of bank deposits which is being created by the large scale government financing was revealed in the statements of conditions of banks and trust companies for the end of the first quarter which have just been published.

A rise of 12 per cent in deposits and 8 per cent in total resources, compared with the close of last year, was shown in the reports of 51 banks in the metropolitan area of New York which have thus far become available. These enormous gains are probably the largest on record for any comparable period. They are completely at variance with the normal trend in bank deposits. Ordinarily banking figures for the first quarter show a shrinkage compared with the previous year-end and are about the smallest totals for the year.

All Banks Participate.

In the present case large gains were shown by virtually every bank, the few exceptions being chiefly institutions which, for one reason or another, did not add to their holdings of government securities during the quarter. Even these banks shared to a small extent in the general advance.

While the return flow of capital to this country from abroad in the form of gold imports since the revaluation of the dollar on Feb. 1 and the retirement of currency from hoarding since the establishment of federal insurance of deposits at the beginning of the year have contributed to the expansion of bank deposits, government financing, the figures indicate, is chiefly responsible.

The 51 banks and trust companies showed total deposits of $7,443,357,000 in their March reports, compared with $6,662,029,000 Dec. 31 last, a rise of $781,328,000. Their resources amounted in March to $9,297,051,000, compared with $8,597,414,000 at the end of last year, a gain of $699,651,000. Of these institutions 29 in Manhattan reported $7,382,651,000 of deposits against $6,604,319,000 and $9,220,106,000 in resources against $8,522,608,000.

Deposits Rise 10.8 Per Cent.

The influence of government financing in swelling bank deposits is illustrated by the figures for ten of the leading banks and trust companies in New York City. These institutions showed a rise of $655,427,000 in deposits, or 10.8 per cent, a gain of $857,913,000 in resources, or 8.5 per cent, and a gain of $463,742,000, or 26.8 per cent in their holdings of United States government securities.

The ratio of their investments in government securities to their gross deposits increased in the first quarter from 28.4 per cent on Dec. 31 last to 32.6 per cent in March. One of these institutions, the Bankers' Trust company, which showed a rise of $152,003,337 in gross deposits to a high record for the thirty-one years of its existence at $2,763,759,131, reported its holdings of government securities had advanced $162,023,259 in the period, or about $10,000,000 more than the rise in deposits shown. Breaking down its deposits for the first time into government deposits and private deposits, the bank showed that its holdings of government deposits had accounted for $111,879,331 of the gain and private deposits for only $40,154,046.

U. S. Deposits Large Portion.

These figures show that 73.6 per cent of the rise in deposits of the Bankers' Trust was in government deposits. But government borrowing results in expanding bank deposits even when the funds are spent immediately and not, as has recently been the case, left on deposit with the banks.

Under the system of "book" subscriptions to new treasury offerings of securities, banks do not pay out cash for the government securities that they buy, but simply credit the treasury on their books with a deposit equal to the amount of new securities for which they subscribe. In this way the banks "create" a deposit. So long as the funds are left on deposit the effect on total bank deposits is obvious.

WRIGLEY GIVES DETAILS OF JOB ASSURANCE PLAN

Employes Get Contracts for Definite Time.

Detailed information on how the "employment assurance" plan of the William Wrigley Jr. company, which was introduced recently for the benefit of its employés, was made public yesterday. The plan, which has been approved by the stockholders, embraces all steady employés who have been with the company six months or more and who get $6,000 a year and less.

The company proposes to give to each such employé a contract of employment covering a definite period and remaining in operation from year to year unless canceled, with ten days' advance notice, by either the employé or the company.

Under the contract the employé renders his services at an agreed upon compensation rate known as the "employment base rate." If conditions of business require the company, during the period, to lay off the employé, he will be assured of unemployment compensation for a period extending from sixteen to twenty-eight weeks, depending on the length of service, and at a rate based on the weekly or hourly earnings of the employé, whichever the case may be.

Amount of Compensation.

In the case of weekly earnings contracts, unemployment compensation will be 80 per cent of the employment base rate if the latter is $24 per week or less; 60 per cent, for so much of the employment base rate as is in excess of $24 and not more than $48 per week; 40 per cent for so much of the employment base rate as is in excess of $48 and not more than $72 per week; and 20 per cent for so much of the employment base rate as is in excess of $72 per week.

For example, if the employé is receiving $20 a week at the time of layoff, he will be assured by the company of $16 a week for a certain period, depending on length of service. If the employé is receiving $40 a week at the time of layoff, he will be assured of $28.80 a week for a certain period [$19.20, or 80 per cent of $24, plus $9.60, or 60 per cent of $16].

As to the period of compensation, if the employé has been with the company less than two years, he is entitled to 16 weeks of compensation in the event of layoff; if more than two years and less than five, 20 weeks; if more than five and less than ten, 24 weeks; if more than ten, 28 weeks.

Hourly Contracts.

Similarly, in the case of hourly earnings contracts, unemployment compensation will be 80 per cent of the employment base rate if the hourly rate is 66 cents or less; 60 per cent, for so much of the hourly rate as is in excess of 66 cents, and not more than $1.32; and 40 per cent, for so much of the hourly rate as is in excess of $1.32.

If the employé has been with the company less than two years, the period during which he will receive compensation will be 560 hours, which at the present work classification of 35 hours would be equivalent to 16 weeks of continuous layoff; if more than two years and less than five, 700 hours, or 20 weeks; if more than five and less than ten, 840 hours, or 24 weeks; and if more than ten, 980 hours, or 28 weeks.

Both the weekly and the hourly earnings contracts declare specifically that the employé will not receive unemployment pay for periods of sickness or accident, or if during the layoff period he gets any public or private relief, or if he receives any pay for work elsewhere.

CONGRESSMAN GIVES TERMS OF NEW BILL TO AID DEPOSITORS

Washington, D. C., April 8.—(AP)—The terms of a new bill to provide relief for depositors in closed banks to be offered as a substitute for the McLeod bill were made public tonight by Representative Brown [Dem., Mich.].

Brown, a member of the house banking and currency committee, said he would ask that relief be afforded to state banks that are nonmembers of the Federal Reserve system and also include depositors who have signed waivers to their claims in order to effect reorganization and reopening of insolvent institutions. The Michigan representative said the measure, now in preparation, would be ready for introduction this week.

He said he believed it would "provide relief on a sound basis to depositors throughout the country, including depositors in banks which are not members of the Federal Reserve system."

Brown said his proposal would provide that "a proper government agency shall:

"First, purchase of all depositors in all banks of the country their claims against such institutions or their receivers, conservators, liquidating trustees, or other similar officials at face value up to $2,500—taking an assignment of the proportionate interest of the depositor in the available assets of such institutions.

"Second, loan to any depositor desiring it 75 per cent of the balance of his claim up to $10,000, or any part thereof.

"Third, loan him 5 per cent of any remaining balance of his claim.

DO YOU WANT WORK AT ONCE?

If you become one of our workers, you get everything you make, because you are dealing with a big established international business that makes its own products and markets them through its own organization exclusively, leading world-wide in its branch of the electric unit field.

You would come into this business as other men have come—without prior experience. You might be a $100.00 a month man, or a $150.00 a month man, or a $500.00 a month man. Nobody would hold you out of your just place, and you would get full commission payments about as fast as you can use men of moderate earning power as well as men of tremendous earning power, and neither interferes with the other. Often the men who started small learn how to increase their incomes under our expert guidance. It is our interest to bring you the maximum success you will attract through your own efforts.

Men of character living on the West Side or in any Western Suburb, who are accepted, can be trained in this business close to their own localities, yet there is not invest any money or buy any goods, or make any deposit. Character, health, neatness, and courtesy count above all else. You will be given a personal interview if you will call between 10:00 a. m. and 5:00 p. m., Monday, April 9, Room 329 at 9 S. Kedzie-av.

FIVE GOOD MEN!

The big world-wide company back of me has authorized me to select, train and assist five good men. I have succeeded in the past few months in putting several men, inexperienced in this business, into good comm. earnings almost from the first day they came into this business. I was born and reared in Kansas, coming to this country just a few years ago. But after several trials of positions, many of which paid me well, I finally got into this corporation, leading throughout the country in electric unit manufacture and distribution, and am independent and without worry. No man will be accepted unless we give him a fair deal, and he must treat me the same and be a real worker. There is money here more and more as you gain experience in this business. I want North and Northwest Side men only—men of good character! If you wish to talk with me about this offer, be here not a minute later than two o'clock Monday afternoon. Room 215 at 1046 Wilson-av. Ask for Mr. Glade.

COMMONWEALTH EDISON COMPANY

has openings in appliance sales work for neat appearing men with satisfactory references. Commission basis. Training and close co-operation given. Opportunity for advancement. See Mr. Schutze, Room 1085, 125 S. Clark-st., 9 to 11 a. m. only.

OUR SPRING EXPANSION program is exceeding all expectations. An opportunity for a few neat appearing men, 25 years of age or over, to represent the largest retail Home Furnishings House in the middle west. We are laying a foundation for future purchasing among our numerous customers and are paying our representatives advance commission in full on a basis of average sales experience; also allowing drafts drawing account privilege if necessary while getting started. An intensely interesting and dignified program for those capable of conducting enthusiastic conversation. Can earn between $40 and $50 per week consistently. No night calls. Apply from 10:30 to 11:30 a. m. only.
